Extreme Heat Brings Death And Famine To Midwest

CATTLE DIE AS PEOPLE SEEK WATER

FACE WATER FAMINE

Retail Prices Mount Over May 1 Figures; No Rain Falls in Several Weeks

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Death, famine and new afflictions for millions of farmers rolled eastward across the United States and southern Canada today in the shimmering air of a record heat wave.

At least 70 deaths were traced to heat. Thousands were prostrated. Cattle died almost unheeded in western fields as farmers sought water for their families. Crops burned in a dozen states. Winds became so hot human skin cracked and blistered at its touch.

Thermometer columns boiled over the 100-degree mark—in several places almost to 120 degrees—from Utah almost to the Atlantic coast, and from Medicine Hat to Port Arthur.

Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, speaking at Emporia, declared the nation is confronted with "a great disaster." Emporia had not seen the mercury below 100 degrees for 32 days. It was 118 yesterday. No rain had fallen for weeks.

Thousands of farmers and even large cities fought almost frantically for drinking water.

Five thousand residents of Falls City, Neb., were said to be in actual danger of a water famine. The city water plant was unable today to pump water from the lowering Nemaha river. A temperature of 114 degrees sent thousands to beer taverns.

Creston, Ia., planned to enlarge daily shipments of 46 carloads of water by rail from Council Bluffs. In Chicago and in Kansas City, city authorities pleaded for water conservation. Chicago pumped more than a billion gallons from Lake Michigan yesterday without being able to maintain normal pressure in the mains.

The maximum temperature here of 88 degrees was misleading in its measurement of human misery. A humidity of 88 per cent of saturation and an absolute lack of breeze sent an estimated 90,000 persons to the beaches.

Seventeen persons died here in the last 24 hours of sunstroke, heat prostration and heart disease aggravated by the temperature.

Thermometer readings from other points in the afflicted zone were fantastic.

High Temperatures

At Joliet, Ill., penitentiary inmates were relieved of work when the temperature reached 115. Pierre, S. D., reported 113; O'Neill, Neb., 111; Burlington, Ia., 111; St. Louis, 110; Kansas City and Cincinnati, 108; Springfield, Ill., 108; Indianapolis, 102; Jackson, Mich., 101; Detroit, 96; Shreveport, 96.

Weather bureau forecasters said that New York, Philadelphia and Boston would feel the moving wave late today.

MAYOR BOOED
Portland's youthful mayor, Jos. K. Carson, was roundly booed when he introduced General Johnson at a mass meeting earlier this week.

EARTHQUAKE IN PANAMA TODAY RUINS HOUSES

Early Reports Indicate No One Injured; Property Damage is Heavy

PORT ARMUELLES, Panama, July 21.—(Via Tropical Radio to United Press)—A violent earthquake occurred here at 2:55 a. m. (PST) today, causing extensive property damage.

Early reports indicated no one was seriously hurt.

About 10 houses were ruined partly.

The United Fruit company's dock was destroyed practically.

Three banana conveyors which transfer the fruit from the dock to ships, were wrecked.

Port Armuelles, on the Pacific side of Panama, has about 1,000 inhabitants, mostly employees of the United Fruit company.

It is the company's principal port in that section for the shipment of bananas northward from the Chiriqui plantations.

A locomotive hauling a long train of banana cars plunged into the sea today during a renewed and intense earth shock. Many casualties were reported.

The government was sending aid.

Wharf of the United Fruit company, the company's club house, and fifteen company houses were destroyed.

A water tank on the National Railway line was thrown across the track, blocking traffic.

Renewed earth shocks, of extreme violence, shook houses into ruins in the gold-mining town of David today, and brought requests for government aid.

The government-owned wharf used by the United Fruit company at Puerto Armuelles was totally destroyed, and one United Fruit company building collapsed, with the reported death of several persons.

Creel Given Backing Of Gen. Johnson

NRA Leader Endorses Democratic Candidate for Governor in Talk

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief of staff, prepared to return to San Francisco today accompanied by George Creel, candidate for governor, after a brief round of activities in the Southland marked by condemnations of martial law and general strikes, and an administration blessing on Creel.

Johnson's benediction on Creel apparently was aimed directly at the latter's race with Upton Sinclair for the Democratic nomination.

Before a crowd of some 6,000 persons who had waited nearly two hours in Hollywood Bowl for Gen. Johnson to fly from San Francisco and deliver a message that had been advertised as one of national importance, Gen. Johnson said:

"They tell me that George Creel is a candidate for governor of California. As you all know he represents the N.R.A. in this state. I have known him since the World war, when we both served on President Wilson's staff. He was in charge of public relations. He is a faithful and efficient public servant. He has proved himself under the weight of great national responsibility. You all know that it is far better to take a proven fact than a political experiment. He has every good wish that I can ask."

Political Import

These utterances labeled the trip of the Blue Eagle generalissimo as something of a political mission in the minds of his listeners and particularly among supporters of other Democratic office seekers.

Furthermore the National Recovery administrator's comment on Creel assumed all the more importance politically because it immediately followed in his address the praise given Hiram Johnson, senior California senator, and the

ACTING GOVERNOR OF NORTH DAKOTA REMOVES APPOINTEES OF LANGER; SOLONS MAY ACT

BISMARCK, N. D., July 21.—(UP)—Acting Governor Ole H. Olson struck again today at William H. Langer, suspended governor whose seat he took, by removing Langer's principal appointees from office.

Olson signed orders for removal of Langer's two key men, State Regulatory Director Stephen Terhorst, Minot farmer, and Highway Commissioner Frank A. Vogel.

He appointed Sidney Papke, Dakota's ousted governor was bent today on impeachment of his successor and chief enemy, Langer was ousted because he is under sentence for a felony.

From his room in the Patterson hotel Langer directed an effort to muster a quorum for a rump legislative session late today.

Almost directly below him the hotel management established "barracks" for a small army of supporters—penniless farmers who left their dust-blown and sweltering fields to protest in person against a supreme court ruling.

Vogel, however, declared he would not turn over the highway department's affairs to Salisbury without "some sort of checkup so I can have a clean bill."

Information Is Released By Prisoner

Convict in Atlanta Turns Over "True Story" Today to Warden

JOLIET, Ill., July 21.—(UP)—A convict in state prison turned over to Warden Frank B. Whipple today what he said was the "true story" of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

He named Frank Nash, slain in the Kansas City union station massacre a year ago, and Al Capone, now in Atlanta prison, as the men behind the plot.

The convict, John Pawelczyk, said the kidnapping was planned to free Capone, then in jail at Chicago, following denial of his appeal from an income tax conviction.

At the time of the kidnapping, Capone offered to aid authorities in finding the child and said he had friends who could trace the kidnappers.

The information has been turned over to federal authorities, it was learned.

Pawelczyk said he met Nash while both were in Leavenworth prison. At that time, according to the story, he and Nash communicated by means of a code which later appeared on a note left at the Lindbergh home.

Pawelczyk named as the actual kidnappers Nash, one Boh Sandvich and a woman friend of the latter named only as "Tessie."

Sandvich, he said, killed the Lindbergh child with a blow over the head after a tire had blown out on their car and they had become panic stricken.

According to the convict's story, Capone conceived the plot in a desperate attempt to win his freedom. If that were true, detectives pointed out, the comparatively low ransom demand of $50,000 which puzzled authorities might be explained.

Pawelczyk, sentenced in Chicago, is serving a one to 16 year term for manslaughter.

ACCUSED
Al Capone, serving a term in Federal prison at Atlanta, today was named by a convict as the master mind in the kidnapping of Baby Lindbergh.

FREIGHT MOVES NORMALLY IN SAN FRANCISCO

Teamsters Return to Work Unconditionally; Troops Will Be Recalled

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Withdrawal of troops from the San Francisco bay area was begun today after teamsters returned to work, and there were definite indications that all strikes now in progress would be ended soon.

Between 2500 and 3000 of the 4200 troops on strike duty will be withdrawn in the first movement.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Freight moved normally on the San Francisco waterfront today for the first time since May 9, when the Pacific Coast maritime strike began.

One hundred union teamsters drove their great, lumbering trucks over the cobblestones of the Embarcadero to the piers and began hauling away an accumulation of cargo tied up for 75 days.

The teamsters had voted last night to return to work unconditionally. Their vote was a staggering blow to the maritime strike for its effectiveness largely was based upon the refusal of teamsters to haul freight handled by non-union men.

Meantime the longshoremen, their strongest allies gone, were scheduled to vote today on the acceptance of arbitration of their grievances.

Arbitration has been urged upon them by the general strike committee which directed the four-day general strike, by the president's mediation board, by the mayor and by numerous public and quasi-public bodies.

Chief Demands

Their chief demands are union recognition and union control of hiring halls.

Militant leaders, including Harry Bridges, chief of the maritime strikers here, strongly oppose arbitration.

But there was a strong sentiment in the rank and file today for acceptance and there were free predictions that the longshoremen and probably the nine unions of marine workers allied with them in their strike, would be back at work the first of the week.

By 9:30 a. m. there was greater activity on the waterfront than has been seen in months. Everyone

FORTY NINE INJURED AND FOUR DYING

Union Pickets Number 10,000 Gather Prepared to Battle as Troops Mass

TRUCKS ARE HELD UP

Taxicab Service is Halted and Unions Prevent Milk Being Delivered

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—Minneapolis was a powderhouse today, ready to explode momentarily into bloody street war.

Fearing new riots in the blood-spattered city market section, Gov. Floyd B. Olson today threatened to place Minneapolis under martial law.

Forty-nine men were in hospitals, four in dying conditions, as 3000 national guardsmen marched into the city with light artillery, machine guns and truckloads of gas grenades.

An estimated 10,000 union pickets massed at their headquarters and belligerently roamed the streets, daring police and employers of 6000 striking truck drivers to run a gauntlet of guns.

In all groups workers swore vengeance on "the bloody, murdering police" who yesterday shot down 47 pickets in an effort to move a truckload of groceries.

Policemen Slugged

Screaming men fell to the pavement and were trampled in a brief but terrific battle. Two policemen were slugged into unconsciousness and kicked by furious men as they lay prostrate.

Shotguns sprayed the street with buckshot and 200 national guardsmen rushed the mob with bayonets.

Only the bayonets and massed ranks of the soldiers halted the fight and rescued 100 policemen from 500 pickets who charged them through a rain of buckshot.

Efforts of federal mediators, Gov. Floyd B. Olson and city authorities to end the five-day-old strike were abandoned temporarily.

Union leaders exhorted followers to vengeance and called upon 20,000 additional union members to join them in "licking the police." They refused even to meet with peace-makers.

"This is War" "This is war," shouted Grant

ARREST FILIPINOS ON MORALS CHARGE

INGLEWOOD, Cal., July 21.—(UP)—Seven Filipinos were under arrest here today on the charges of Florence May Curtis, 14-year-old daughter of a Hawthorne candy manufacturer, that they conspired to lodge her in a Ti Juana brothel. An eighth Filipino was under arrest in San Diego.

The girl told police she was persuaded to leave her home last Sunday and was taken to Ocean-side, where she was forced to submit to the assaults of a group of Filipinos. Later, she said, she was taken across the border to Ti Juana.

Officers last night raided a Filipino colony here and arrested Arsena De La Cruz, Roberto Asuncion, Juan Asuncion, Eladio Asuncion and Felix Felipe. In another raid early this morning, they seized Sylvester Alcoy and Roberto Domingo. An eighth, Paul F. Miguel, is being held at San Diego on charges of criminal assault.

HUNDREDS SEEK TO SAVE DOG IN SEWER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 21.—(UP)—A whimpering police puppy surpassed the heat, strikes and the new deal today in the interest of thousands of Springfield residents.

A score of city firemen and more than 400 volunteer advisers—most of them small boys—collaborated in attempts to rescue the pup from a sewer.

The dog's plight was discovered late yesterday by a boy who heard his whines.

Humane society agents, after futile efforts to dislodge the pup from a 12-inch pipe in which he was lodged, called on city authorities. Firemen did no better.

A 12-year old boy begged to crawl into the pipe, but was forcibly prevented because of fear that sewer gas might overcome him.

U. S. WILL RESUME TALKS WITH RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—Negotiations for debt agreement between the United States and the Soviet government will be resumed early next week, the state department announced today.

The announcement was made following a call by Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky at the state department.

Negotiations to be conducted here will be in the form of preliminary conversations looking to more normal negotiations to be conducted later. The negotiations previously were carried on for a time in Moscow.

Failure of a settlement thus far has been said to hamper establishment of the commercial interactivity between the two countries which had been anticipated at the time of Russian recognition.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Pacific coast ship owners today agreed to arbitrate all differences with the striking maritime unions, provided the longshoremen will do likewise.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 21.—(UP)—The house of representatives voted today to consider the impeachment of William Langer, suspended governor of North Dakota, by voting to appoint a committee of 11 to investigate his conviction by a federal jury on charges of conspiracy.

CULVER, Ind., July 21.—(UP)—Police received a tip that John Dillinger, another man and two women were hiding out in a cottage on a lake near here. Federal agents and state officers were reported ready to raid the place. Local police threw a guard around the Culver bank.

LOUIS PAYNE TRIAL IN WEEKEND RECESS

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Jurors in the trial of Louis Rude Payne, 21, on charges of murdering his mother and younger brother, with an ax, were locked up in a hotel suite for the week end today with Payne's alleged confession of the horrible crime still ringing in their ears.

In a courtroom that presented the strange contrasts of Payne sitting with bowed head beside his grim-faced father and the entire courtroom occasionally roaring with laughter over antics of attorneys, the boy's asserted confession was detailed to the jury by LeRoy Sanderson, detective lieutenant.

It was a weird story of Payne's arising in the night with an irresistible impulse to kill Mrs. Carrie Payne and her son, Robert. For 15 minutes he stared at his mother in the dim moonlight coming through the window, the officer said in quoting the asserted confession, and then, unable to subdue the impulse to kill, he horribly mangled her with an ax.

MORALS TRIAL TO RESUME ON MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Investigation of asserted death threats against Harry Adams, film extra, and rebuttal witnesses in the morals trial of Dave Allen, former casting bureau director, and Gloria Marsh, actress, was launched today during a week-end recess of the sensational hearing.

Adams is scheduled to take the stand after Miss Marsh completes her denial Monday that she participated in an unprintable orgy film extra and the state's star witness.

Testimony already given by Miss Marsh coincided with Allen's court denial that they were participating in a wild party when Mrs. Pearl Owings, another film player, burst into Miss DeLong's apartment and said, "Well, isn't this nice?"

Allen charged the affair to a "frangipani" plotted by Pat Harmon, screen player, Miss DeLong and Mrs. Owings, to obtain film work.

MISS BRECKENRIDGE SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—Police today investigated the apparent accidental death of Louise Breckenridge, 17, daughter of Col. Henry Breckenridge, attorney for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The body of the young woman, a Vassar college sophomore and member of Washington's younger social set, was found shot to death about two blocks from her home. Beside her was a .22 caliber rifle which she had taken with her to practice target shooting. Examination showed a bullet through her heart.

The body was lying just beyond a fence around a wooded lot where she had intended to practice her shooting. Police believed the young woman might have tripped in climbing the fence and accidentally discharged her rifle.

FIVE CCC WORKERS DROWN IN NEW YORK

BROADALBIN, N. Y., July 21.—(UP)—Five CCC workers were drowned today in Steel Lake when their boat overturned. Three others swam to safety.

The dead: Ernest Brooks, foreman of the Broadalbin CCC camp, William H. Havens, Syracuse, Gerald Lynch, Harrison, N. J., Edgar J. Van Villard, Newark, N. J., Frederick Rothfuss, Newark, N. J.

The party was enroute to the dense steel lake area to relieve another CCC group which had been combating a forest fire.

REXFORD TUGWELL TO PAY L. A. VISIT

FRESNO, Cal., July 21.—(UP)—Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford G. Tugwell, member of President Roosevelt's so-called "brain trust," left here today for Los Angeles after inspecting vineyards and wineries in this vicinity.

It was understood Tugwell and his party would leave Los Angeles almost immediately on their return trip to Washington, D. C.

EXTREME HEAT BRINGS DEATH ACROSS NATION

Economic effects of the disaster were incalculable in dollars but obvious in general terms.

A wholesale grocery firm in Kansas City and a retail chain of national proportions in Chicago agreed the nation's food bill is growing daily.

A simple comparison of a few retail prices on May 1 and July 20 demonstrated the trend.

Standard wheat cereals which sold on the former date at 8 cents were priced yesterday at 10; a one-pound loaf of bread had advanced from 9 to 11 cents; potatoes were 25 to 30 cents a peck yesterday, 5 cents above the May price. Dairy prices were particularly affected. Milk was 11 cents a quart, as compared with the former price of 8, and butter which last month was 24 cents sells now at 28 to 30.

An executive of the chain estimated that the general food increase has been around 8 per cent.

A semi-demoralized condition existed in the cattle market as distressed farmers shipped "drought cattle" into markets by the tens of thousands. Slaughtering reached the greatest volume in 16 years.

INFORMATION IS RELEASED BY PRISONER

In previous investigations to substantiate any connection with him, it could not be learned whether federal authorities have any record on Pawelczyk or on Bob Sandvich who was named by the convict as the man who killed the Lindbergh child.

All that federal authorities could say on the Lindbergh case was that they had and will continue to go to the bottom of every conceivable clue in the hope of eventually turning up something that will solve the case.

5 BOOKED AT JAIL ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Five persons were booked at the county jail yesterday on liquor violations, including one for drunken driving, three for drunkenness and one on a conviction for selling whiskey not in the original containers and without a license.

Hancock Banning Jr., 42, Wilmington, was booked at 10:50 o'clock last night for drunken driving by California Highway Patrolmen Walter Meyer and Vernon Barnhill.

Mrs. Julia Sulzer, 40, colored, failed to post a $500 appeal bond following her conviction by a jury yesterday in police court on the whiskey selling charge, and was taken to the jail at 8:40 p. m. by police.

Joe Gutierrez, 38, El Modena, was booked for drunkenness at 2:30 a. m. by Constable George Bartley of Orange. Later in the day, deputy sheriffs were sent to the Gutierrez home to question his 11-year-old son, who admitted that he used a sling shot in hitting a laborer riding past his home on a truck owned by the Tustin Mutual Citrus association yesterday morning. The man's hand was badly cut and needed medical attention.

Alfred E. Jones, 37, Long Beach, was booked by a police officer last night to serve a 10 day sentence for drunkenness. "Mike" Monreal, 35, Delin, concluding a 7 1/2 day term for drunkenness from Santa Ana, was taken before Judge J. G. Mitchell on a bench warrant yesterday and committed for another 7 1/2 day term for failure to pay a previous drunkenness fine in police court.

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, July 21. (To the Editor of the Register): One of the funniest angles to the strike in San Francisco. Bartenders had been out of work for 14 years, just been back in for six months, then called out again. I was working yesterday and missed all the lunches they give my friend Jim Farley. Everybody in the State but Baby LeRoy is running for governor, so Jim endorsed LeRoy. He arrived at 4 in the morning, an unearthly hour, but in spite of that there was over two hundred men there, everyone a postmaster. It's a mighty poor town that Jim hasn't got one staunch friend in.

Yours,

wanted their freight first. It was a wild scramble at times. More and more trucks were pressed into service.

"We have 650 trucks rolling now," said J. F. Vizard, of the Dymaxion association. "Everyone is happy. There hasn't been a single complaint."

Troops Relax

Militiamen, still on guard, rested on their rifles, and looked on amusedly. They saw little to do. Military regulations were relaxed by sentries, after 10 days during which everyone approaching was challenged.

The Market street railway, whose organized employees continued on strike, reported it was extending its service today. Several of its employees reported to police that bricks had been tossed through the windows of their homes but none was hurt and operation of cars was not interfered with.

Work was resumed on the great San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge where 8000 men are employed. During the morning Harvey Couch of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which aided in the financing of the project, inspected the work.

In Oakland 1200 teamsters returned to work but they refused to handle what has come to be called "hot cargo"—that is freight handled by non-union longshoremen or non-union manned ships. However, a meeting of the union was called for tomorrow to reconsider and it was believed certain the embargo on "hot cargo" would be lifted.

PLAN $45,000 BUILDING FOR WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 21.—Preliminary plans for a new school building for Westminster school district to replace the earthquake-wrecked building, were considered at a meeting held Thursday afternoon by the local school board with Allison and Allison, Los Angeles architects, who submitted the plans for inspection. In the new program found necessary with the ruling of the state that the old building cannot be remodelled and still pass state inspection.

The preliminary plans as submitted are for a one story all frame building of sufficient capacity to house all grades of the school under one roof. The approximate dimensions are 56 by 130 feet with one corridor 150 feet in length dividing the building which would approximate a cost of $45,000. Of this, $41,000 would be for the building itself with about $4,000 going to architects and for other expenses. Combined class rooms and auditorium are featured.

It was reported by the architect that approximately 30,000 worth of materials can be salvaged from the old building for use in the new one.

An application for SERRA labor for the tearing down of the old building has been made.

Sixty different bird families have been counted in Louisiana by the state department of conservation.

Approximately one-half of the 9,000,000 miles of the world's highways are in this country.

7 DEFENDANTS IN CRIMINAL COURT SESSION

P. N. Dossett, charged with non-support of his minor children, was placed on probation by Superior Judge J. O. Moncur yesterday afternoon for a period of one year, the sentence to be suspended when Dossett gets employment after which he must pay not less than $17.50 per month for support of the children.

While serving his sentence he is to work at Irvine park, his family to be paid $1 per day by the county for his work.

Jose Hernandez was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail as a condition of one year's probation in connection with a charge of drunk driving on Stanton avenue June 15.

George W. Buck was placed on probation for three years in connection with a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary, committed at the G. C. Spray home on Holt avenue, near Tustin, July 3. He must serve two months in the county jail, and work in the county hospital laundry or at Irvine park.

Pete Alvarez of Placentia, who was released from jail two months ago, after serving 10 months of a year's sentence for burglary, was ordered to go back to jail and serve the other two months when Superior Judge Moncur received a report that he had violated probation by getting drunk. Probation, which would have been completed today, was not revoked.

Dominica Mendoza pleaded not guilty to drunk driving at La Habra July 14, his trial being set for August 15.

A. N. Smith, pleading guilty to second degree burglary, asked for probation. His hearing was set for August 3.

Ventura Terrones, charged with drunk driving July 15 on North Tuettin street, pleaded guilty and applied for probation, hearing being set for July 27.

Sacramento—24 men and women. They included Pat Chambers, organizer for the canner and agricultural workers' union, which fomented widespread strikes in San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys; pretty Caroline Decker, secretary of the union; Albert Hougardy, Communist candidate for Congress; Martin Wilson, Sacramento representative for the International Labor Defense league.

They will be charged with criminal syndicalism or vagrancy.

Portland—40 men and women.

Seattle—30 men and women.

San Pedro—19 men, six of them taken in a new rail on waterfront Communist headquarters. Four men and two pretty girls were released.

San Jose—Five men. Thirteen others figured in the first triple play by vigilantes. They were run out of Santa Clara county by a citizens' group, chased through San Benito county by officers, held overnight at Salinas in Monterey county, and were to be shown over the line to San Luis Obispo county today. They were expected to reach the Mexican border in several days.

Oakland—10 men, accused of hoarding pick-handles.

Richmond, Alameda and Berkeley—a dozen men.

Activity Lessens

Vigilante activity in San Francisco lessened somewhat after "mysterious" burning of the "Triangle Press" which had printed the Communist party organ Western Worker. The Western Worker offices had been wrecked earlier by brawny union teamsters armed with hatchets and bricks.

Windows in residences of 50 Berkeley families believed by other citizens to be communist sympathizers were shattered by bricks. To each brick was attached a note which read:

"This citizens' committee is aware that you are affiliated with communists, bolsheviks or other government-destroying groups. Leave town immediately or face drastic measures."

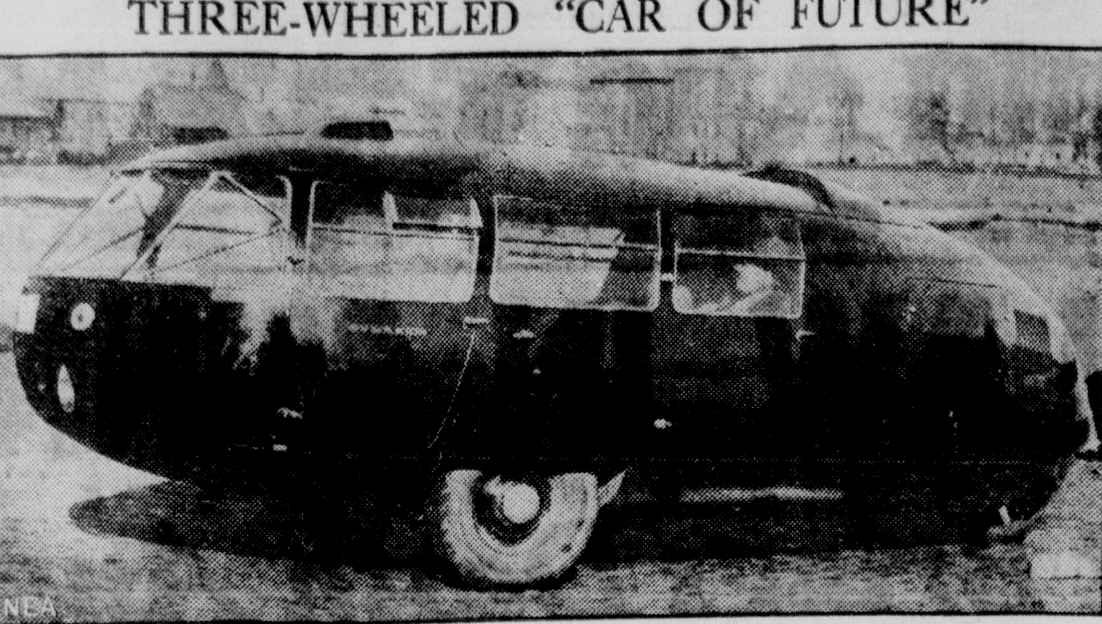

Mayor William McCracken of Oakland commended courage of police and American Legion men and announced citizens' emergency groups will continue "watchful waiting." Citizens thereafter banded in caravans and wrecked meeting halls at 1819 Tenth street and 2600 San Pablo avenue.

Governor Merriam, who had charged that 1200 communists fomented San Francisco's general strike, said he would not sanction raids by civilians although he dislikes communists.

The Sacramento raids cleaned out three communist meeting places. Three truckloads of equipment and propaganda were seized.

Sacramento and Fresno city authorities forbade speakers use of the public parks. Fifteen Sacramento business men organized a "red-hunting" committee to aid established authorities.

All in all, it is the greatest campaign against agitators since the I. W. W. hunts of the World war period.

Resembling a whale out of water, here you see the Dymaxion, a three-wheeled vehicle being manufactured at Bridgeport, Conn., as "the car of the future." The invention of Buckminster Fuller, the super-streamlined model has two front wheels set midway in the ovaloid body and one rear wheel, set in the tail, which does the steering, rudder-fashion. It uses little gasoline, but can travel 125 miles an hour.

which placed Olson in his office. Army cots stood in rows under the crystal chandeliers of the hotel's ballroom and the crowds of overalls men, conspicuously ill at ease in the strange atmosphere of luxury, politics and excitement, grew as the hour for assembly of the legislature approached.

Olson, his feet cocked on Langer's walnut desk in the capitol and perspiration trickling into a handkerchief knotted around his neck, fought a quieter but just as effective battle.

Through three days of the most feverish political action ever seen in this ballroom of strange politics he frankly has schemed and conspired to keep a majority of the state's legislators out of Minnemark.

Cries in the house that he was attempting to become a "dictator" bothered him not a whit.

"The governor of this state—

that's me—didn't call this session of the legislature," he explained. "It's meeting is just a bit of politics, aimed at getting me out of here. It seems to me like it's my duty to defeat it."

Langer, renominated on the Republican ticket despite his conviction 10 days before the primary of extorting political contributions from federal employees, opened his campaign for re-election yesterday.

"I'm not convicted of any crime until the United States supreme court refuses my appeal," he said. "And I'm asking re-election to show that the people of North Dakota recognize this as political persecution."

Langer chuckled and refused to answer when asked whether he planned to address the legislature.

"I called it as governor," he said. "By right, I'm still governor. Maybe I will, at that."

FORTY NINE IN MINNEAPOLIS HURT IN RIOTS

Dunn, member of the strike committee, at a mass meeting last night.

Dunn said that pickets would prevent every truck in the city from moving today. Whether he meant to include vehicles heretofore exempted from the strike or—milk wagons, ice trucks, sanitary department vehicles—was not clear.

Chief of Police Michael Johansen refused to discuss his plans. He would not say whether he intended to furnish police convoys for more trucks.

One of a number of prevailing rumors after the rioting said one man was killed. A thorough check of all hospitals and morgues did not reveal a body and Adj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh denied there had been a death.

Taxicab service was stopped today. Union drivers kept a promise made at a general mass meeting last night to join in the strike.

The strike committee of drivers warned that all ice, milk and beer trucks, heretofore exempted from the embargo, would be halted today. There was, however, no move made to stop ice and milk trucks.

Maritime Strike in Portland Tottering

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21. (UP)—While 1000 militiamen waited in nearby mobilization barracks, Portland's waterfront hummed with new activity today. The 10-week deadlock imposed by the maritime strike apparently broken.

The balance of power here and in other northwest ports rested with the constituted authorities. Labor leaders held their rank and file in check. Talk of a general strike subsided. The presence of the guardsmen restrained strike pickets from violence.

A pledge to U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York kept Portland's labor forces passive.

The strike strategy committee renewed its promise to Wagner that it would take no general strike action until after the veteran labor legislator presented Portland's case to the president's mediation board at San Francisco.

The feeling prevailed that ultimate settlement was drawing nearer.

administration's friendly attitude toward Senator Johnson already is well known.

Gen. Johnson did not mention Upton Sinclair, former Socialist who is one of those seeking the Democratic nomination, in his speech at Hollywood Bowl, or over a national radio hookup. But in a press conference later, when he was asked a direct question, Gen. Johnson said frankly:

"I am not for Upton Sinclair."

He refused to amplify that statement except to declare that he was not speaking for the national administration.

"I am speaking for myself alone," said the New Deal leader. "I am not a member of the administration. I am only working for them."

"If I was a spokesman for the administration," he exclaimed, "we would be in a war with Germany, Russia and Japan this very night! I'd have them in hot water all the time!"

In introducing Gen. Johnson to a radio audience a little earlier in the day, however, William Gibbs McAdoo, junior United States Senator from California, had referred to him as "one of the outstanding intellectuals of the administration."

Johnson's blast at martial law was in reference to the Oregon situation. He reaffirmed his statement that the strike should be in the hands of the president's moderation committee.

The general strike, he said, was a tyranny that cannot be tolerated for a minute by free people.

CARRIER BOYS HAVE BIG TIME ON FISH BARGE

Yesterday was appropriately observed as fish day in Santa Ana and Orange county, after 50 happy Register carrier boys returned from Newport Beach loaded down with fish caught from the California fishing barge.

The fishing trip was offered by Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin as a reward to each carrier who secured two new two-month subscriptions to the paper. In less than a week, 50 of the carriers earned their trip and were taken to the barge bright and early yesterday morning.

Charles Reither and Ed Cunningham are still disputing who caught the largest fish while William Husecroft of Orange and Leslie Christianson of Garden Grove had the largest catches. The catches ranged from 5 to 50 fish and included halibut, barracuda, mackerel, bonita and calico bass. None of the boys were seasick on the trip and enjoyed the picnic lunch served at noon.

Circulation department officials who assumed charge of the boys on the trip included Abe Bergsetter, Ernest Adkinson, E. W. Lasby and Robert Biles.

MITTMAN FUNERAL TO BE ON MONDAY

At the inquest yesterday afternoon, a verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury. Those to testify included Mrs. Beatrice Thaton, 42, Fullerton, driver of the car which collided with the one driven by Mrs. Mittman; William Thaton, who was slightly hurt in the wreck; California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge; and J. P. Lookado, who was in a nearby orchard at the time of the wreck.

Mrs. Mittman is survived by her husband, the Rev. William A. Mittman, of Buena Park; one son, Albert O. Mittman, of Buena Park; three brothers, William Rohrs, of Santa Ana; Otto Rohrs, of Orange, California; and Albert Rohrs, of Los Angeles; and one sister, Mrs. P. A. Fellbauer, of Santa Ana.

Arrest Motorist On Hit, Run Case

Charged with reckless driving and failure to stop and render aid, Duke Fishman, Altadena, was arrested in Newport last night after his car had crashed into a coupe belonging to J. P. Seares, 281 West Central, Newport.

Police asserted that after the crash, which occurred before the O'Connell garage on Central avenue, Fishman failed to stop. He was pursued by Bob Powers and Seares, and forced to stop a few blocks further on. No one was hurt in the crash.

CASPARI FACES JURY TRIAL ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Winding up the police court trials of defendants arrested in a wholesale raid of liquor establishments in May, Alvin M. Caspari, proprietor of the Hof Brau cafe, will go on trial before a jury next Thursday and Vern Speich and Charles Clark, proprietors of the Charlie's Barn cafe, will be tried on Tuesday, July 31.

All the defendants are charged with operating and maintaining a public barroom, saloon and other drinking place. Caspari had similar charges dismissed Thursday by Judge John Landell of San Juan Capistrano but was immediately faced with a new complaint concerning the same offense on other dates. Caspari was arraigned yesterday, pleaded not guilty, posted a $200 bond and asked for a jury trial, which was set for Thursday.

The Barn trial was originally set for Tuesday but was continued today on motion of Defense Counsel Alex Nelson, who said he had a court date in Los Angeles Tuesday. Speich and Clark were tried on the same charge but the jury disagreed and was dismissed, after which City Attorney Clyde Downing asked for a retrial.

Nelson is defense counsel in both cases.

EDISON COMPANY WOMEN WINNERS OF ACTIVITY AWARD

Second place in the judging of the annual "year books" which comprise resumes of the activities of the various women's committees of the Southern California Edison company throughout the past year, has been awarded to the committee of the Santa Ana Division.

This word, very gratifying to members of the local Women's Committee with members in Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Balboa and Fullerton, has been received from the general offices of the Edison company in Los Angeles. The Santa Ana division, one of eleven in the Edison system, was organized last September. First prize in the competition went to the San Joaquin division.

Officers of the local committee for the year were Anne Glotzbach, chairman; Thelma Jane Leonard, secretary; Sarah Elizabeth Millen, treasurer; and Mary Jo Herman, librarian.

Regular monthly meetings of the committee will be resumed in September.

EGG MARKETING AGREEMENT IS ADOPTED HERE

Report on disease conditions of poultry, marketing agreements, and general poultry conditions in the state were received by the Southern Counties Farm Bureau Poultrymen's association at their regular quarterly meeting yesterday in James' Cafe.

Principal business under consideration was the egg marketing agreement that has been formulated in conjunction with the Los Angeles produce market. The agreement was completed and sent to Washington for consideration by the A. A. A.

Mrs. E. Irene Anderson, of Corona, chairman of the association, appointed a committee to formulate an agreement on the marketing of poultry meats.

There were also reports from the pathological department on poultry disease conditions in the states, and a talk by W. E. Newell, extension specialist from the University of California on general poultry conditions in the state. He predicted that, because there are fewer pullets than ever before, egg prices would be much higher in the fall.

CRUELTY COUNT AGAINST ROSS IS DISMISSED

With the jury unable to agree after four and a half hours of deliberation, the case against Dr. W. J. Ross, head of the Ross dog and cat food factory at Los Alamitos, was dismissed in Seal Beach justice court late last night.

Dr. Ross, with his nephew, Glenn Ross, was charged with cruelty to animals in complaints signed by Fred H. Bixby, rancher, and F. J. Lee, state humane officer.

The jury was sent out at 7 o'clock last night after a trial which lasted for more than two days. It was understood that the jury stood seven to five for acquittal when the report was made at 11:30 p. m. yesterday that the jury could not agree.

Dr. Ross, on the witness stand yesterday afternoon, refuted statements by other witnesses that horses had been sunk into living graves as they were dragged from a crowded corral or that the animals were diseased. He said he had been a veterinarian for many years and knew how to take care of animals.

Glenn Ross gave testimony similar to that given by Dr. Ross.

SUCCESSOR TO JOE SMITH IS RECOMMENDED

LOS ANGELES, July 21. — J. Mortimer Clark of Long Beach has been recommended by the California Real Estate association to succeed Joseph P. Smith, of Santa Ana, as state real estate commissioner. It became known today in an announcement from the office of Robert A. Swink, president of the association.

The action by the realty directors was taken after it became known that Governor Merriam contemplated a change in the state office, to which Smith was appointed upon the election of Governor Rolph. The realty men's choice has been made known to Governor Merriam and Clark's appointment is expected in the near future.

Clark has been identified with the real estate business for many years. He has served as president of the Long Beach Realty board, director and vice president of the state association, and for some time past has been chairman of the state legislative and license law committee.

FULLERTON, July 21.—Mrs. Ida Compton of Pasadena will be hostess to members of the Past Noble Grand association of Fullerton Rebekah lodge at the meeting to be held Wednesday, July 25, at her home. The meeting will open with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

CAFE OWNER IS CONVICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Unable to post a $300 appeal bond following her conviction by a jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling whiskey without a license and not in the original containers, Mrs. Julia Sulzer, 40, colored, 1907 West Fifth street, was still in the county jail today.

A jury found Mrs. Sulzer guilty in less than 30 minutes. Judge J. G. Mitchell imposed a sentence of a $300 fine or 150 days in jail and exonerated the $300 bond which she posted at the time of her original arrest in May. Attorney Harry O. Warton of Anaheim then gave oral notice of appeal but had not posted satisfactory bond of $300 before 8:40 p. m. when Mrs. Sulzer was taken to jail.

Warton based his defense for Mrs. Sulzer on her statements that she had never seen the special police investigators, had not served them a meal or whiskey, and had not moved into a house at 1907 West Fifth street at the time of the alleged law violation on April 25, as charged by the investigators. She also claimed that court attendants or "someone" had changed the date on the original complaint from April 17 to 25 during the time she was originally arraigned and appeared with her lawyer.

During the afternoon session yesterday, City Attorney Clyde Downing called Harry Hayes, city water department manager to the stand to testify that although Mrs. Sulzer claimed the house was unoccupied and unfinished from January to May 1, the water department had turned on the water during January and water bills had been paid monthly during that period. Investigator J. N. Hernandez was recalled to the stand and pointed out that although the electricity was not turned on at the time the investigation was made, oil lamps were being used.

In his closing arguments, Downing claimed that the "preposterous contention" of Mrs. Sulzer that the court papers had been tampered with was enough to cast suspicion on her entire testimony and prove she was not telling the truth.

Mrs. Sulzer was one of three Negroes arrested on the whiskey

Visitor At Beach Dies At Hospital

Funeral arrangements will be made in Pasadena for Miss Joyce Cutler, 15, 2124 Carey street, Pasadena who passed away Thursday in the Santa Ana Valley hospital. It was learned here today, the girl had been visiting in Newport Beach for her health following an extended illness, and was brought to the hospital only a few hours before her death.

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

Bringing the total of traffic fatalities in Orange county this year to 30, Mrs. Clara Swope, 52, of Los Angeles, passed away at the Orange County hospital last night from injuries received in an automobile accident near Brea on July 10. There were 24 deaths at this time last year.

Mrs. Swope was riding in a car driven by Mrs. Nora Strong, 42, 217 Eighty-eighth street, Los Angeles, when the front wheels locked and the car overturned on the Brea canyon road about two miles north of Brea, according to traffic reports. Mrs. Swope was crushed under the car and her daughter, Mrs. Milla Fuller, 24, also of Los Angeles, was injured. The accident victim has remained in a critical condition in the hospital since the wreck.

The body has been removed to the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, where an inquest will be held Monday at 3:30 p. m. by Coroner Earl Abbey. The victim is survived by two sons, David and Donald Swope; four daughters, Mrs. Milla Fuller, Miss Eleanor and Nellie Swope, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mildred Millick of Victorville; and one brother, Charles Rodney, of Lodi.

charge. D. J. Wallace pleaded guilty and will conclude a 90 day sentence on the charge on August 4. Harry Evans was released when it was shown that he was an employee of Wallace.

CITY NAMED IN DAMAGE SUIT ASKING $55,000

Damages aggregating $55,000 were demanded in two suits filed today in superior court against the City of Santa Ana, as the result of an accident March 30 in which Jackie Pemberton, 6, son of Donald W. Pemberton, was run over by a city water truck and tank.

Roger Dunning, city employee who was driving the truck at the time, was named as a co-defendant with the city in the damage actions, which were filed through the firm of Head, Wellington and Jacobs.

The sum of $50,000 was asked in one suit on behalf of the boy, whose right leg, foot and ankle were crushed under the wheels of the truck, permanently disabling him, it was alleged. In the other suit, Donald Pemberton asked $5000 damages to cover past and expected future medical expenses for his son.

The accident took place in the 1200 block on West Fourth street.

Rob Garage After Entry by Skylight

Skylight thieves broke into the Hogland and Dohn garage at 605 West Fifth street last night and stole $3 in cash from the office desk, it was reported to police today.

It is believed that two men climbed up a billboard to the roof and took out a section of glass from the skylight to gain entrance to the building. Since it is a 20-foot drop to the floor, one of the men would have been forced to hold the rope, police pointed out. After ransacking the office, the thieves left by a rear door, leaving it unlocked, it was found.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

(Paul Mallon, whose signature usually appears on this dispatch, is on a brief vacation. Durkin has been substituted for him. The column will be composed of contributions from leading Washington correspondents.)

SOON OVER

When, in the first week of last March, it was announced that Richard Washburn Child had been named special advisor to the Secretary of State, there was considerable mystification over the appointment and speculation as to why it had been made. As far as any one knew, Mr. Child had no special claims upon the Administration and, in some respects, quite the contrary was true. He had been in the Diplomatic Service before, as Ambassador to Italy, but, previous to being named for this new post, he had been writing a decidedly critical of the Administration. In fact, some practical persons found in this cause of his being given a job and the only sufficient cause.

As special advisor to the Secretary of State, it was stated that Mr. Child would attend the sessions of the London Economic Conference, that he would travel in Europe to study and report on the present and prospective state of the economic situation there, with special reference to the resolutions of the Economic Conference which had been passed or were pending. He was to have the rank of Ambassador and draw the Ambassadorial salary of $17,500.

Mr. Child's appointment was announced on March 5 and now, just about four months later, he is back in this country. And the mystery of his original appointment is only deepened because he is again writing articles for publication which point out faults and fallacies in the program of the Administration in which he has just served. At the State Department, it is said that Mr. Child is no longer connected with the Diplomatic Service. It would be somewhat incongruous if he were because one of his latest articles is devoted to telling the political opponents of the Administration how to embarrass it and hamper its proposals. As to Mr. Child's brief career under the New Deal, it is being asked: "If it was to be so soon done for, what ever was it begun for?"

DON'T CLICK

A certain incongruity exists in the roles being played at the moment by General Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator. In San Francisco, he is appearing, either by invitation or by intrusion as mediator in the strike. As such, he is expected to maintain an impartial attitude between employers and employed, between Companies and Unions. While this is his status in San Francisco, in Washington he is being publicly denounced as a foe of Unions and Labor. As a result of the Donovan incident, the Department of Commerce building, housing the NRA, is being picketed and, at the lunch hour and closing time, marchers walk around the building bearing placards reading: "Chisel No. 1, Johnson," "Johnson a Sell-out."

VOICES STILLED

Absence of the president from Washington and the usual summer doldrums have put an end for the time being to what, earlier in the season, was one of the Capital's most flourishing industries. Before this lull set in an activity with which politically-minded society people were busily occupied was trying to get another well known woman into the Diplomatic Service. The ice having been broken with the naming of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen as Minister to Denmark, it was thought by promoters of women's rights and privileges that the example should be followed up.

Specifically, the friends of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman believed that she was just the person to fill the vacant post of Minister to the Irish Free State. A campaign of "mentioning" her for the place, or saying that she was being considered for it, was carried on for some time without any apparent substantial results.

Then, the friends of other women prominent in Democratic or New Deal circles decided Mrs. Harriman was not the only one fitted to represent this country in Ireland and they got busy with the same method. It was hinted that Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, chairman of the Consumers' Advisory Board of the NRA, had just as good chance as Mrs. Harriman. This kite flew for a while along with that of Mrs. Harriman.

Then, as the President went away without doing anything about it, the strings broke and the kites were pulled in and the sky in that quarter is temporarily dull and lifeless.

The day after the hearing, a sudden heavy rainstorm drove the young lady scurrying into a shop entrance. A moment later, she was joined by Dr. Tugwell, who was also seeking shelter from the storm.

"Awful rain," he remarked good-naturedly, shaking the water off his coat.

"Seems to me," she replied as she recognized the handsome brain trust, "a little mud wouldn't do you any harm."

NEW YORK

HARMONY
Wall Street got a kick out of the steady timing of the Senate Committee's first published report of the stock market investigation. Coming right after Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy's careful distinction between "good" and "bad" pools—the former being the kind that last for months as against monetary jiggles—it was a direct wallop at the Stock Exchange Commission's chairman. The report made it painfully clear that from the Senate Committee's viewpoint there was no such thing as a good pool.

Insiders interpret the emphasis on this point as the opening gun of a steady congressional barrage on the Kennedy appointment. Most of the boys like that fine. They figure that anything which tends to discredit the SEC with the public will make life easier for them. The wise aren't so sure. They're afraid too much sniping will put the SEC in a tough frame of mind.

New York accepts current reports of the harmony between Kennedy and Peoria as true but wonders how long it will last. Distinctly they are not birds of a feather.

DRIVE

One of those "good" pools started operations last week. That's why U. S. Smelting and Refining was making new highs while the rest of the market was becalmed. Some of Wall Street's most noted traders are involved. It's understood the SEC knew about it in advance and registered no objections.

In some quarters the move is regarded as the start of an officially approved drive to give the stock market a new interest in life.

RAILS

The informed regard the current railroad agitation for higher freight rates as a bit of strategy to pave the way for drastic economic plans to be introduced later. These will include the revival of programs for consolidation—with elimination of a lot of workers in the background.

The point is that the Interstate Commerce Commission is almost certain to frown on any application for a rate rise. It has done so consistently as a matter of policy. Then the roads can pass the buck to the government for the necessity of having to make ends meet in some other way.

Neutral experts say the roads are yelling "Wolf!" louder than is justifiable. It's true that earnings record aren't so hot at present but the biggest traffic period of the year is still ahead. Moreover many roads have spent a lot on maintenance in the last few months and can safely afford to economize on that important item for the rest of '34.

SAVING

Baltimore and Ohio owes Jesse Jones a vote of thanks. It was his influence that induced Kuhn Loeb to reduce the interest rate from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent on B. and O.'s new fifty-million five-year bond issue. A large part of the proceeds of the issue will be used to pay off an RFC loan—so Mr. Jones had a reason to be interested in its success.

The RFC head didn't use a blackjack either. It's understood his willingness to buy any part of the issue the public didn't want was what persuaded the bankers to risk the lower rate. The net saving to B. and O. will run close to a million dollars.

MAIL

You're likely to hear a lot more about ocean mail contracts before the summer is over. Congress doesn't need to be in session to put over the shift to the payment by weight basis that the Post Office wants. The dope here is that the steamship lines will be asked to revise their contracts "voluntarily" to fit the new plan. Of course any line that wants to can stand on its legal rights—there won't be any wholesale cancellations.

COUNTRY DOCTOR

IS HERO OF FILM

COMING TO STATE

A familiar American type whose record of service to humanity is recognized by all is the role played by Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey," the story of the trials, tribulations and successes of the country doctor.

This screen play comes to Walker's State theater on a double bill including "Devil Tiger" for a two day showing next Wednesday.

Barrymore is seen as the humble, plodding healer who turns down many opportunities for more tangible evidences of success to serve the simple country folk who have come to depend upon him. The climax shows the self-regarding "failure" winning a battle with death where science has failed and receiving the recognition which comes with outstanding achievement. Others in the cast are May McKeon, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee.

"Devil Tiger" is an unusual jungle film, being the record of a production made in the actual Malay jungle after an expedition that spent nearly a year close to the wild beasts in the wilds. Outstanding sequences include a fight between a tiger and a crocodile, a python and a leopard in a struggle to the finish; the conquest of a python by a water buffalo. The climax is the attack upon the intrepid group by a man-eating tiger. A merry melody cartoon, "Sit-in on the Backyard Fence," is included on the mid-week program.

NEW TIRE OFFERED

BY WESTERN AUTO

Of particular interest to automobile owners of the West is the Western Auto Supply company's recent announcement of a new improved Western Giant Super Whiplord tire at sharply reduced prices, as well as the new all road hazard guarantee certificate which accompanies every Western Auto tire, according to Jack Campbell, local manager of the firm.

"Three years ago, Western Auto saw in the trend of automotive transportation the need for a tire that will withstand greater speed more revolutions to the mile in smaller diameter wheels, and quicker stopping," the manager asserted. "After months of experiments and tests, we introduced the Western Giant Whiplord to tire buyers of the West, and it has since proved its merit on highways and speedways, boulevards and mountain roads. This tire was three years ahead of the industry."

"And now Western Auto strides to even greater progress in the new 1934 Super Whiplord tire. Our tire engineers were instructed to keep ahead of the parade. And they developed a new rubber for the tread and sidewalls, a wider and deeper tread was designed and new carcass improvements were made, producing an entirely new tire."

tion as in the case of air mail contracts—but that wouldn't be a very healthy way to protect their future interests.

Those who should know say that Jim Farley has a deep personal interest in the matter. It's an important part of his strenuous drive to get the Post Office out of the red.

SILVER

The Treasury has quietly slackened its silver-buying campaign. Official purchases in the last two weeks have been very small. New York sharps figure it's a question of conserving ammunition for the election campaign—when a rise in the silver price will mean more politically.

Financial sources say that the Treasury's New York agent for silver purchases isn't sitting so pretty. It carried out the assignment too enthusiastically to suit Mr. Morgenthau.

DELISTED

A number of foreign security issues are due to disappear from the New York Stock Exchange rolls around the first of October. It appears that many foreign governments and corporations are irritated by the idea of having to register with an American commission and will refuse to comply with that provision of the Securities Exchange Act. The Exchange will have to delist the stubborn ones when the act goes into effect.

OPTIMISM

Though they say their worst enemies could have written anything more damaging than the Air Mail Act the airlines can still believe Congress will give them candy. The reason now is a resolution suspending until February the ban on multiple routes—of which all the major companies have plenty. The lines say that proves the next Congress will relent and not take them apart after all.

That's optimism.

SIDELIGHTS

San Francisco's general strike gave United Air Lines an unexpected traffic boost — of correspondents being rushed to the "war zone" . . . U. S. Smelting's earnings may reach twenty dollars a share this year as against $6.67 in 1933 . . . Some brokers are fostering business in Shanghai bonds . . . They benefit from the rise in silver and profits are not subject to the 60 per cent tax.

JUNE MARKET FOR ORANGES MUCH BETTER

California orange shipments have been heavy and the orange market in June was more satisfactory from every standpoint than in any month for more than two years, according to a story printed in The Sunbelt Courier for August from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

The orange market in June was more satisfactory from every standpoint than in any month for more than two years, according to a story printed in The Sunbelt Courier for August from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

"More California oranges were shipped in June (6462 cars) than in any preceding June with the sole exception of 1929, and in for more than in any other month for more than two years. Volume of Florida shipments was not sufficiently heavy to affect the market materially. This was in direct contrast to June a year ago, when the supply from Florida was very heavy.

"The month's f. o. b. average per packed box on Exchange fruit was higher than in four of the past five years, being $1.00 per box higher than in May, $1.57 higher than in June, 1933, $1.38 higher than in 1932, $1.13 higher than in 1931."

GOODYEAR FACTORY ON 24 HOUR BASIS

Factories of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company are running night and day, six days a week, with four six-hour shifts, making the new G-3 tire, latest addition to the automobile tire field, according to W. T. Sabelle, Goodyear dealer at First and Spurgeon streets.

Goodyear dealers in all sections report material sales increases since the advent of the new tire. The tire, gives 43 per cent more non-skid mileage, with a flatter and thicker tread, wider riding ribs, more center traction and more non-skid blocks.

The Goodyear company has built 215,000,000 tires since its organization in 1898, millions more than by any other manufacturer, according to Sabelle. Of this enormous output, 55 per cent was built in the last seven years. Laid end to end, these tires would reach more than 100,000 miles, or four times around the equator.

Fruit Practice In Producing Color Not To Be Banned

The ethylene process of treating citrus fruit to remove the green color (chlorophyll) before shipment, does not come under the pure food act regulations regarding the artificial coloring of fruit, and there will be no change in the policy of years' standing by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to a ruling just announced by Secretary H. A. Wallace.

The ruling was made when the question was raised as to the ethylene process constituting artificial coloring, that would require labeling of such fact on the fruit. The ethylene process, Secretary Wallace ruled, "does not add any color not normal to the orange, but constitutes, in effect, a kind of bleaching process, causing the green color to disappear, and unmasking the natural yellow to red pigments already present." It was compared to the bleaching of celery stalks.

TURTLE CAPTURED BY POUNDMASTER

If someone were to define the duties of a poundmaster, it is doubtful if catching turtles would be included.

That task came to light yesterday, however, when Poundmaster Harold Pickering was asked by police to go to the home of Mrs. Mildred Anderson, 908 Cypress avenue, and impound a large turtle that was making a nuisance of itself.

The controversy started when a neighbor notified police that a roaming turtle was playing havoc with flower beds and shrubs. When police told Mrs. Anderson that it was against city regulations to keep roving turtles, she replied that the animal, which is 12 inches long, had been found by neighborhood children and brought to her house. Besides, she didn't want it, anyway, she told officers.

So Pickering went out, picked up the turtle and is probably wondering if it will make good soup.

REV. MINCK WILL CONDUCT UNION SERVICE SUNDAY

An anthem, "Great Is the Lord and Marvelous," by Diggle, will be sung by the choir, while a women's trio, composed of Mrs. Ella Kogler, Mrs. Jean Des Larzes and Mrs. Mae Burkett will sing, "Great Is Thy Love," by Bohm.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

MARSH NAMED DIRECTOR FOR CALVO GROUP

FULLERTON, July 21.—H. E. Marsh, well-known Orange county avocado grower and nurseryman, this week was selected by Fullerton-Anaheim-Yorba Linda members of the Calvo Growers Exchange to represent them on the directorate of the rapidly growing growers' marketing cooperative. Mr. Marsh has a nursery and grove at Yorba Linda and resides in La Habra.

George B. Hodgkin, manager of the growers' Exchange, stated that although growers' marketing costs has been cut in half under those of just a year ago, prospects now appear that next season's costs may even be cut nearly in half of the present low marketing costs. This will be due to the large crop and to increased efficiency, he said. On the other hand, non-cooperative growers' costs will mount, because of the necessity of doing more packing and shipping to eastern markets, he stated. A large sign-up is now taking place throughout Southern California, it was declared.

PYORRHEA

This very unpleasant affliction is just about as bad as its full name, Pyorrhea Alveolaris, literally translated, pus in the tooth socket. It is caused by any irritation of the delicate membrane surrounding the tooth root; fillings or crowns which are not properly fitted at the base or gum line; teeth which are irregular and receive undue strain from poor articulation with the teeth of the opposite jaw, and from the commonly called tartar, or salivary calculus, a lime-deposit from the saliva which forms around the necks of the teeth. The last named is probably the most common of all causes.

The early stages of Pyorrhea are marked by tender, bleeding gums, evidenced by the so-called "pink-tooth brush." If neglected the teeth become loose, due to the destruction of the periodontal membrane and the surrounding bone, pus is formed and exudes into the mouth.

If taken in the first stages pyorrhea is curable, but even then it requires constant care of the patient and dentist to prevent recurrence.

CITY COUNCIL WILL TRY TO BETTER BEACH

SEAL BEACH, July 21.—Councilman Ernest R. Muse called the attention of the council, at its regular meeting last night, to the terms of the four-party agreement entered into by the city of Long Beach, Los Angeles County, Orange County, and the city of Seal Beach in regard to the construction of the jetties along the entrance to Alamitos Bay.

The terms of the agreement, according to Muse, have not been followed, much to the detriment of the ocean front of Seal Beach. Muse reminded the council that the city has never taken any official action to have the agreement consummated and suggested that the council do something about the situation.

The main bone of contention is the outlet stream of water from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company's plant, which, it is claimed, prevents the sand from accumulating on the beach. The matter has heretofore been taken up with the Gas company but no results have been obtained. The council instructed City attorney Burr A. Brown to confer with special counsel Frank Jaques and arrange a meeting with Mr. Thatcher of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors at which members of the council and the city engineer would be present to attempt a suitable arrangement of the matter.

A communication was received from State Fire Marshall Jay W. Stevens reporting on an examination of the Jewel City Inn for conditions which might present fire hazards. The examination which was made at the request of the local fire chief, Sperry Knighton, disclosed conditions which would create serious life hazards in case of fire. The matter was referred to the fire committee, fire chief, and building inspector for investigation as to the means which might be employed to eliminate the hazard.

A request was received from the Seal Beach Volunteer Fire Department for permission to hold a street dance the night of August 24 at Ocean avenue and Main street. The street dance is to take the place of the annual Fireman's Ball. Permit to hold the dance was granted also the right to rope off the necessary area in the thoroughfares during the time of the dance.

The council approved the re-election of Sperry Knighton by the members of the Volunteer Fire Department as their chief for the following year. The election was held at the last regular meeting of that body on July 9. Samuel Lackman, local tango operator, addressed the council calling attention to unfair business practices employed by other tango operators in the city. Lackman claimed their methods were not in accord with the principles of the National Recovery Act and that the practice should be eliminated and the business regulated as it is done in other lines of business. He also reminded the council of their right to regulate such games. The police committee was instructed to investigate the practices of other cities in this regard.

The annual weed-cleaning program reached its conclusion with the passage by the council of Resolution 280 confirming the report of the street superintendent of the cost of abating the weed nuisance.

About 10,000 tons of kapok fiber are used annually in manufacture of American mattresses.

Civil War Nurse Dies At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Mrs. Margaret Hayes, who served as nurse during the Civil War, died at Balboa Island yesterday at the age of 101, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Baldwin.

Mrs. Hayes was enlisted at the outbreak of the Civil War as a nurse, and was assigned to the Adams General Hospital, at Memphis, Tennessee. She is said to have done active nursing work following the battles of Vicksburg, Tupelo and Guntown. She was married in 1885 to Sanford E. Hayes, a soldier of the Minnesota regiment.

One of the few remaining Civil War nurses, she was a member of the Daughters of the United War Veterans of the Civil War, and was widely known throughout Southern California. She had lived in Los Angeles since 1888. Funeral will be held in Los Angeles tomorrow under the auspices of the G. A. R.

After a number of games played under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph Chaffee the honored couple was presented with a picture of Crater Lake. Refreshments of cake and punch were served to nearly 50 persons.

HUMANE GROUP STAGES NOVEL CANINE SHOW

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—A practical demonstration of the type of work carried on by the Laguna Beach Humane Society was a miniature dog and cat show staged yesterday afternoon in front of the Community club on Ocean avenue, an exhibition devoted exclusively to the showing of pets which, picked up years ago on the streets had been given to the present owners.

The collection included canines and felines of various breeds—for obvious reasons all of obscure genealogy.

The show preceded a benefit card party held in the afternoon, the proceeds of which will be used for defraying expenses incidental to the operation of the society's animal shelter.

"Laddie," a beautiful collie, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hammond, was awarded the first prize. "Ginger," a dog belonging to a little girl, Helen Fitch, won the second prize. Receiving honorable mention were "Scotty," owned by Mrs. Marian Moore, and "Spitz," belonging to Day Carman. A special prize was given to "Sport" for having saved the life of his little master, Frederick Perry. Sharing honors with the rest of the winners was "Bozo," six years old a starving little pup on the streets, the first dog to be rescued by the society. He is now owned by Miss Maude Peck. Special mention was made of "Sandy," the first entry in the newly inaugurated "Children's Pet Show" to be held each year in connection with benefit parties given by the society. Prizes were awarded two cats, "Big Boy Blue," owned by Mrs. Ralph Frost, and "Michael," belonging to Junior Watkins.

Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, president of the society, presided over the event, assisted by the other officers of the organization. They are Mrs. E. W. Seaman, vice president; Mrs. W. Gordon, secretary; Mrs. May Foster, treasurer; and Miss Edith Loop, director. Assisting the officers in entertaining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frost, and Miss Donna Foster.

In a brief announcement, setting forth the main features of the society's activities, Mrs. Tiffany took occasion to thank the business men of the community for the splendid support given the society, both in cash contributions as well as in donations of valuable prizes for the card party. She also gave praise to the fine work of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Martin, in charge of the animal shelter.

TO DIVIDE TOURNAMENT OF LIGHTS IN TWO DIVISIONS

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—The great parade of the Tournament of Lights this year will be assembled in two divisions, for the first time, it was decided last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the tournament. The first section, composed of civic and commercial entries, will form as usual along the north side of Lido Isle, while the second, known as the Corinthian fleet, will be formed at Balboa Island.

The island fleet will leave its moorings near the Balboa Yacht Club at 7:30 p. m. July 28, and proceed west along Balboa Island, meeting the main fleet at the east end of Lido Isle, and proceeding around the five and a half mile course as a part of the entire parade. The entire parade will end at approximately 10:45.

The Corinthian fleet, captained by Joe Beek, will be headed by the giant steam and cygnets which were the main attraction of the Santa Barbara Fourth of July celebration. Beek said today. Entries for the island fleet include a flotilla of twenty kayaks from the Fullerton Kayak club, which will be assembled as a part of an arctic display, representing a huge iceberg, and floats from the Balboa Yacht Club, the Newport Harbor Service Club, the Balboa Island Water Carnival association and other entries numbering nearly a hundred.

A perpetual sweepstakes prize of outstanding beauty and design for civic entries has been added to the list of trophies for the tournament. Chairman Gordon announced. This prize will be awarded by the committee of judges selected from mayors of more than 20 southern California cities who have already announced they will attend and serve. Associated with this official group in judging the several score entries will be a number of prominent newspaper men and chamber of commerce officials.

Five great army anti-aircraft will check the sky overhead, and music supplied by great southern California band organizations will provide the musical motif for the occasion. Arrangements are being made to care for a capacity crowd of one hundred thousand spectators. Announcements will be made during the parade by public address systems sponsored by California oil companies.

CHAMPION SPEAKER AT LIONS MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—Mayor Frank Champion of Laguna Beach was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions club held Thursday night at the White House cafe, the program being in charge of Marjorie Guyer of the high school faculty. Robert Lindley, first vice president, was in the chair in place of John Gibson, who had relinquished the honor of the evening.

Speaking of a recent visit to Folsom prison, the mayor told the audience of his observations while going through the large penal institution. He was impressed with the fact that it had been necessary to build new cell blocks to accommodate the growing number of offenders, which fact, he said, necessarily left the visitor in a reflective mood.

"Places like Folsom prison, while operated in an orderly and humane manner, serve their purpose of being correctional and are good places to stay away from," the speaker remarked, expressing the belief that undoubtedly a large number of young men have become criminals for lack of home training and because of other unfavorable circumstances.

Foran Sells Newspaper To Minister

WESTMINSTER, July 21.—The Westminster Gazette, local newspaper, has changed hands. Pat Foran, owner and editor having sold it to Milton Holt, former newspaper man, who has already taken over the plant and will issue the next edition.

Mr. Holt is a Presbyterian minister, friend of the present pastor, Dr. John G. Kiene, and of the Rev. C. G. Carter who preceded him as pastor of the Westminster church. He comes highly recommended and is direct from a C. C. camp in northern California where he has acted as chaplain. Mr. Holt has a wife and two children and they are to locate in Midway City.

Mr. and Mrs. Foran who have edited the Gazette together the eight months they have owned it, having purchased the paper at the time of the death of the former owner, Mr. Schmidt, are contemplating moving to Orange county and will in all probability purchase another county paper as they are now considering the purchase of one of two weekly periodicals. The couple has made many friends in this district during their short stay here and their departure is generally regretted.

SEEK INCREASE OF FUNDS FOR LIBRARY

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—More than 300 signatures have been attached to a petition now on file at the Laguna branch of the county library, asking the county board of supervisors to increase the library appropriation from two to two and one-half cents on the $100 during the next fiscal year, this to enable the county library to more adequately meet its needs.

Inquiries at the library revealed that in addition to a substantial increase in requests for fiction the reference resources of the library is being more and more drawn upon by persons engaged in the preparation of manuscripts for different purposes.

YACHT CONCERN MAY LOCATE AT NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Possibility of a huge yacht plant and boat works for Newport Harbor was seen here today with the lease of the Crandall Boat company property by Capt. William J. Brown, manager of Brown's Boat Service, a Wilmington concern. Extensive repairs to the old plant are already under way, and as additional water-front acreage is secured, a yacht basin will be provided in the upper bar, it was said.

The Crandall plant was built at a cost of $60,000 and has been operated in the past by C. H. McAlary. It is planned to retain McAlary in charge of all construction work by the yacht basin, it was said today, using the quarters formerly occupied by the C. and M. Boat Builders.

Slips will be built, according to plans, to accommodate at least 50 yachts in the basin anchorage, and so laid out that more can be added as necessary. Features of the site will mean that yachts up to 175 feet in length and drawing 15 feet of water will be accommodated. No other spot in the bay is practically so suitable for such a purpose, as the depth of the basin varies from 10 to 15 feet, according to government plans, under the harbor improvement.

The new concern, it is said, intends to beautify the grounds, build slips and moorings, and make the yacht basin one of the most modern in Southern California.

DARLING FOOL

by MABEL McELLIOTT

"This hurt makes me sick," Bill O'Dare told her, lighting a cigaret. "You can't take a deep breath without having it in the town paper. Dan Cardigan got lot of friends. Angie demanded, reaching over and taking the cigaret from his lax fingers. 'Stingy!'"

Bill looked at her piquant profile. "You're cute, do you know it?" he demanded. "You're a lot better tempered than most of those girls in that country club gang, even though they're—!" He pretended to cough. Angie laughed. "Finish it, big boy. Say they think I'm dirt and something to wipe their feet on. It's no news to me."

"I didn't mean that," Bill said awkwardly. Angie laugh hadn't a trace of malice in it. "I know all about them," she said. "When they come into the shop they don't know I'm there. It's all right with me. I'm not sensitive. I wrap up their chocolate nougat and give them the ice just like they do me. 'Specially that Lawrence girl. She sure thinks she's the cats!'"

"Why don't you like her?" Bill inquired. Angie considered this. "I don't know—exactly," she said slowly. "Guess maybe it's because she's just a fake. What I mean, she butters everybody up and makes the person she's with think he's the cats, too. Then she gets her claws going and oh, kitty, kitty, can she scratch!"

"She's been friends with Monnie for some time. Monnie likes her—!" Angie said. "She must have a reason then," Angie decided. "Friend of mine works at her house. Maybe I mentioned her—"

Bill winced. He was so snub but it was a little galling occasionally to realize that the girl he loved and whom he intended to marry consorted with the servants as equals. He had once known as equals.

Angie caught the expression in the tall of her eye and realized instantly what it meant. "You don't like that," she said shrewdly. "You don't like having me know Hetty Lusk, who's the Lawrence girl's maid."

They got into the rattler car she had driven into Belvedere the day of Bill's arrest a month ago. Angie put one ridiculously small foot on the starter. There was a clash of gears and the absurd vehicle chugged away in a cloud of dust.

"We should've taken a lunch and gone in swimming," Angie regretted, tooling her chariot along the road by the river. "We were saps not to think of it."

They passed the country club where two or three men in white linen with caps worn hindsid foremost played golf. Beyond lay the pool, red and blue caps bobbing on the surface. A tall girl in a pale green suit did a swan dive. Angie stopped the car. "Swell," she observed. "When I could do that, I'd peer across through the haze. That's the Lawrence girl," she observed with a relish. "Bet she brought that suit from Paris. She sure has swell clothes." Angie sounded envious. Bill wrinkled uncomfortably.

"What's the matter? Don't you like it here?" Angie lifted an eyebrow in his direction. "It's nice and cool. Best place I've been to-day."

Bill was plainly out of sorts. He grunted. "Can't hang around here staring like kids outside a candy. People'll think we're crazy."

"Guess you don't like any of your friends to see you with me, that's what!" the girl said with an air of rancor, starting the engine. Bill's laugh sounded faintly disagreeable. "My friend! At the country club? There's a laugh!"

Angie said. "My Aunt Mollie told me the other day your father ran with all the big bugs when he was young. Said by rights your family belonged with that crowd but you don't have the money. It's true, isn't it? Doesn't everybody think your sister's going to marry Dan Cardigan? And aren't the Cardigans just like John D. Rockefeller, pretty near?"

"Everybody's round here's crazy," Bill barked. "Just because Monnie and Dan went to high school together—!" He left the sentence hanging.

"Guess they're pretty crazy about each other, just the same," Angie said coolly.

"It's nothing to me, sick," Bill assured her crossly. "It's none of my doggone business."

"Well, she's a funny kid," Angie pursued. "She's got a case on the Lawrence's chauffeur. Jim Hewitt—guess you know him. She goes to the movies a lot and tries a Garbo on Jim. Jim doesn't know she's on earth, hardly. Now she's got some nutty idea that the girl friend is trying to snub Jim and she's all hot and bothered about it."

"You mean Sandra?" Bill asked incredulously. Angie nodded. "Might not be far off," she said. "Jimmy's pretty swell looking in that trick suit with the brass buttons. Anyhow Hetty thinks he is and that makes it so. She's a one-idea girl. If Miss Lawrence is snubbed she'll lay off. Hetty might go nutty on them and it wouldn't be so good."

"She interrupted herself to say swiftly, 'Look, Bill, you better let me drop you by the station. Stan's coming over tonight to talk about things. Maybe we'll get something settled.'"

"You've known that all afternoon and you did just spare it on me now," Bill accused, black as a thunder cloud. As Angie slowed the car he jumped out and stood beside her very tall and grim and angry above her white beret and flying yellow curls.

"Sure I did but you had such a grouch I didn't dare," she informed him with insolence. She was pretty in a candy-box way, this girl with the sunny eyes and preposterously plucked eyebrows. She had a gamine, sly appeal in spite of the cheap gayer of her outfit.

"All right," Bill growled. "If that's the way you feel about it. Nobody's going to twine me and get away with it."

He lifted his hat. Without another word he strode away in the direction of the station. The afternoon train was just pulling in. As Angie watched he jumped casually aboard.

She sat there, a small, ingenuously looking creature in summer white, staring after him. Angie swallowed hard. Once Twice. "Oh, Bill!" she whispered under her breath. "Why did you do that?"

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

England, Their England, by A. J. MacDonell, published by the MacMillan Co.

"England, Their England," is a book which has had considerable popularity in England, where they must be as broad minded, as Americans are to ridicule and burlesque of themselves. It is written by a Scotsman, Christopher Morley, who writes the introduction, says that we can imagine the author associating with the English for 15 years and observing and putting up with their fashions and then bursting into a loud cuffed, and while he was laughing at them finding that he loved them.

Donald, the character who had the experiences which comprise the book, returned from the war to his father in Scotland where the father at that time had a farm. The son was recovering from shell shock and desirous of spending as long a time in the north country as possible, in fact he never wanted to leave it again. But the father said that a young man's place was away from there, in the world. That he might come back there to die but not to live. The fact that the son had had enough of the world was only an indication to the father that he had not been wholly recovered. So the son and the father worked together on the farm for three or four years until the father "dissolved the partnership" by dying, and he left the son a bit of money with the provision that he should go south. So he went to London, made contacts with literary people and had the other experiences which are described in the book as typical of the English peculiarities. He had two rather typical week ends, he went to the League of Nations, he went to a hunt, he went to the theater, and he even tried, and it is daring enough, to have a bit of fun over cricket.

One of the funniest sections of the book is the story of his packing and arrival at his first week-end party. A friend came in while he was packing and was asked for advice on what clothes to take. The friend assumes a chair. He says that the impression a man makes depends on the number of suitcases he has. When he finds that Donald has only two he dashes out for ten or a dozen more and puts in them everything Donald possesses, labeling them impressively with paint. The funny part of it was that it impressed the staff at the seat of the house party and a still funnier part is the way in which the friend prepared the staff so that Donald wouldn't have to play a Mr. Miquetost role.

Donald takes part in a political campaign and listens to the speeches of two candidates. It seemed to him that for such "tripe" the people must read them to pieces, but when the questions were just as silly and futile as the speeches he was surprised indeed.

This author's description of the League of Nations' methods is not as amusing as Beverly Nichols' in "Cry Havoc", but there are some portions of the book which are amusing and none of it is in poor taste, unless the English might consider the section on cricket so, but most Americans will find that a bore.

Out Went the Taper, by R. C. Ashby, published by the MacMillan Company.

Timely enough is this mystery story which comes to us during these lazy summer months. Such a book is about all some of us want for reading these days. But if I were to "do" the book over again, knowing what I do about it, I would save it up for one of those very hot days when we had last week, for it would make one forget the heat. But one never has "hindsight" in the reading of books.

The setting is a gloomy and immense rectory, under the foreboding shadow of the crumbling ruins of an ancient Welsh monastery. The place is suggestive of ghosts and ghouls. Mrs. Cory had invited gay guests there to offer the gloom but naturally enough, in such a place, the guests got to talking of ghosts who cannot rest in peace because of some wrong which has been done there, and present themselves to individuals who can fight the wrong. Of course no writer of full blooded mystery stories is so foolish as to tantalize his sophisticated readers with "goings-on" in a spirit world, but the mental attitude of the people at the rectory, brought on by their surroundings, plays into the hands of some people who are paying off old scores.

Anything more exciting than Tal's experience in the horrible caverns of the old monastery could hardly be imagined by man.

Boy and Girl Tramps of America, by Thomas Minehan, published by Farrar and Rinehart.

Professor Minehan stood in breadlines and talked with his neighbors to learn the psychology of the hobo. He was surprised to find that so many of the "bums" were just youngsters. He investigated further. He traveled with them, slept with them in box cars, lived in jungles with them, did his share toward providing food, was accepted by them, learned their code of camaraderie.

That was in the fall of 1933. In the introduction he says: "I had a thick dossier full of notes and impressions 600 life histories of boys and girls I had met on the bum, 1000 samples of conversations, and over 2500 opinions, ideas and attitudes expressed by all classes of transients under all conditions. . . . In conventional sociological form I drew up my tables, analyzed the data statistically, worked a few correlations. . . . I was following approved technique. Yet the analysis was unsatisfactory. It seemed totally inadequate to say that 324 youths left home because the father was unemployed and unable to support his family. It didn't do justice to the scenes and contacts which he had made. Therefore he put feeling into the study and we have a book in tone much like 'Our Movie Made Children,' one with the firm foundation of carefully garnered facts but imbued with a spirit.

Professor Minehan tells us of the causes which drive the boys and girls on the road, which is tersely summed up by one of them who answers a lady who has put the question: 'Hard Times, lady, hard times,' and the author adds "plus the difficulties and desires of adolescence and the lure of the open road."

He tells us how they travel, how they get food and clothing, his philosophy, the religious outlook, their background, their route of travel. Few farm boys, he says, are traveling on the road.

In conclusion, the author makes some helpful suggestions and certainly none could read the book without wanting something done to meet this problem of the boy and girl tramps. We used to read about them as a menace in Russia, according to those who have most recently returned, has taken them into homes and institutions and is re-educating them. In this country we cannot be indifferent to this problem.

"Vagabondage is as old as time and as universal as the air," says this author. "The child tramps of America differ in degree but not in kind from the wild boys of Russia and the free youth in Germany after the war, the child tramps of Italy during the Austrian invasions a hundred years ago, or the present bands of Chinese boys turned pirate. Wherever there is social chaos there are homeless wanderers."

The third film on the week's opening program is "Little Boy Blue," a Terrytoon cartoon.

LATE ROGERS RUGGLES FILM AT WEST AT BROADWAY COAST FRIDAY ON THURSDAY

Will Rogers is unroariously funny in his newest picture, "Handy Andy," which will open at the West Coast theater next Friday for a full week's engagement at the West Coast theater, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Previews by critics say that the picture surpasses all of Rogers' previous efforts, even the popular "David Harum." Daily matinees will be shown to afford everyone an opportunity to see the picture, Fountain said.

In the picture his wife, Peggy Wood, wants him to play — and he does! Things go smoothly as long as Rogers is in his drug store. But when he sells out and starts to play, he finds life complicated. First he raises pawns, until they escape into the house. Then he tries golf with screamingly funny results.

But the climax comes when he goes with his wife to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras. He refuses to attend the ball with her. Later, however, wandering around alone, he encounters a fellow druggist and his lovely girl friend Conchita Montecristi. Melodramatized by a few cocktails, Will decides to attend the ball after all, and chooses a leopard skin costume. A few more cocktails lend him courage to try an adagio dance with the lithe Conchita. Then the fun begins, which ends in a riot, and a surprise climax.

Others in the cast include Mary Carlisle, Roger Imhof, Robert Taylor, Paul Harvey, Grace Goodall, Gregory Gaye, Frank Melton and Jesse Pringle.

The program of selected short subjects includes a late Oswald cartoon, "The Toy Shopper," and World News events.

"George White's Scandals" and "Dark Hazard" are the feature films on the double bill which opens a three day run at Walker's State theater tomorrow.

The "Scandals" is a lavish production featuring music, dancing and pretty girls, with a romantic story concerning the leading characters in the play. A scheming debutante threatens to steer the romances on the rocks and ruin the show, but the producer saves both by a clever plan. Among the many stage, screen and radio stars who have parts are Rudy Vallee, Jimmy Durante, Alice Faye, Cliff Edwards, Adrienne Ames and Gregory Ratoff.

"Dark Hazard" brings Edward G. Robinson in the role of a gambler and follower of dog races. It tells the story of a man whose passion for gambling wrecks love, home and the worthwhile things of life. Genevieve Tobin plays the wife and Glenda Farrell has a prominent supporting role. Much of it was filmed on dog race tracks near Los Angeles.

The third film on the week's opening program is "Little Boy Blue," a Terrytoon cartoon.

A vaccine for treatment of rheumatism was discovered by Dr. Benjamin J. Clawson of the University of Minnesota medical school.

That join dim lips with sea-salt sweet.

—House and Garden.

Solid entertainment is offered in the new picture, "Friends of Mr. Sweeney," which opens at the Broadway theater for three days starting Thursday, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Situations which provoke hearty laughter come fast after Charles Ruggles, who is starred with Ann Dromak in the film, decides to shake off the dominating influence of his employer and to think for himself.

The picture holds the audience in suspense throughout because of the fact that Ruggles, without knowing it, had held some valuable information about a politician who wanted to run for governor. The scenes in a night club showing Ruggles and his pal Eugene Pallette slightly inebriated and rather reckless provoke many laughs. The most exciting scenes are those at the end, when Ruggles walks into a trap set by gangsters.

Others in the cast include Dorothy Tree, Harry Beresford, William Davidson, Dorothy Burgess and others. It was directed by Edward Ludwig.

Starring the most famous youthful star of the movies, Shirley Temple, will be seen on the same program in a new comedy, "Pardon My Pups." Other selected short subjects include a popular Chic Sale novelty, "Little Feller," a travelogue, "East Indies," a comedy thriller, "Air Maniacs," and Register World News events.

"DOCTOR MONICA" ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"Doctor Monica," a soul-stirring picture of human emotions in which two girls who are friends find themselves in the position where each tries to sacrifice herself for the other because of love for the same man, plays for the last times at the Broadway theater tonight.

Kay Francis, one of the most popular stars of the screen, has the leading role in "Doctor Monica." The all-star cast includes such favorites as Warren William, Jean Muir and Vera Tasdale. Miss Francis plays the title role in the production, a role said to be the most dramatic and realistic she has ever taken.

LOCAL MAN IN FILM SHOWING AT STATE

George Gerwing, former Santa Ana and brother of Bob Gerwing, local business man, is a member of the cast of "Gun Justice," the western thriller starring Ken Maynard, which closes its run at Walker's State theater tonight.

The story tells of Maynard's fight against two gangs of plains hoodlums to protect ranch property left to him and Cecilia Parker by his murdered uncle.

Other films on the program include a news reel; a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline," a cartoon, "Mickey's Steeplechase," and a comedy, "Blue Blackbirds."

George O'Brien In Frontier Thriller

George O'Brien playing the role of Wyatt Earp, the fearless peace officer of frontier days, comes to Walker's State screen next Friday and Saturday in "Frontier Marshal." In this story he solves the murder of the father of his sweetheart and brings law and order to an outlaw-infested frontier town.

Other subjects booked on the program are "Frozen Assets," and Ann Clyde comedy; a Silly Symphony in color, "Old King Cole"; a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline," and a news reel.

AT BROADWAY SUNDAY

Leslie Howard is starred in the highly emotional heart drama, "Of Human Bondage," film version of the W. Somerset Maugham novel of the same name which plays at the Broadway theater for four days starting tomorrow. Bette Davis is the siren featured as the menace, while Frances Dee, Kay Johnson and Reginald Denny have important roles.

CHARLIE CHAN FILM HERE

An artist's conception of that enigmatic oriental detective, Charlie Chan, as impersonated by Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan's Courage" which is now playing at the West Coast theater and which ends tomorrow, is shown below. A second feature on the program is "Elmer and Elsie," featuring George Bancroft, Frances Fuller, Roscoe Karns and George Barbier.

Original Cast To Be Present When Play Presented

PASADENA, July 21.—An exceptional incident, with few parallels in the western theater, will give added interest to the revival of "Paid in Full" at the Pasadena Playhouse next Tuesday, July 24. At this reproduction of a great American hit, the author, Eugene Walter, and probably every living member of the original New York cast will be present.

The town of Kohlhausen, Germany, recently experienced the first birth of male children in a decade, when a villager gave birth to male twins. Only girls have been born in the German hamlet since 1924.

"Paid in Full" will run one week. It will mark one of the unusual appearances of Gilmor Brown, and the cast will also contain Morgan Conway, Josephine Rice, Murray Yeats and Phyllis Cooper.

CHARLIE CHAN STRANGE LOVE FILM ON WEST COAST SCREEN AT BROADWAY

Warner Oland, known to moviegoers all over the world as the impersonator of that bland Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, once again assumes the role he so intelligently interprets in "Charlie Chan's Courage," which will show for the last times at the West Coast theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Elmer and Elsie," which features George Bancroft.

"Charlie Chan's Courage" is adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' "The Chinese Parrot." The film version abounds in thrills, chills, mystery and drama and is so thoroughly baffling that it has been proclaimed one of the greatest mystery films of the season, according to advance reports.

Chan is entrusted with a string of valuable pearls to deliver at El Dorado. He is accompanied by the jeweler's son, played by Donald Woods. A series of mysterious events begin to take place with their arrival. A Chinese parrot screams "Help! Murder!" then dies from poison in his food. That gives Chan an important clue to the mystery's solution. Blood stains are found, indicating a murder, but Chan can't find the body.

Woods, with Drue Leyton, New York stage actress, supplies the romantic interest. Others in the supporting cast include Murray Kinnell, Reginald Mason, Virginia Hammond, Si Jenks and Harvey Clark.

Frances Fuller plays the feminine lead in "Elmer and Elsie," a story of how cleverly a tiny woman can manage not only a big man, but a big situation, too, when opportunity requires. Besides Bancroft, other important parts are taken by the popular player, Roscoe Karns and George Barbier.

Famous Ballet To Be Given In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Lester Horton's spectacular modern ballet of Oscar Wilde's "Salome," featuring Joy Montoya in the title role, and an ensemble of 100 dancers, will be presented at the Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles, Wednesday night, July 25, as the second attraction on the summer series. A brilliant bacchanale at Herod's court will precede Salome's historic "Dance of the Seven Veils." Incidental music has been composed by Constance Boynton. The Shrine Ballet Orchestra, Leonard Walker conducting, will provide the musical accompaniment.

Horton recently won the annual award of the Los Angeles County Drama association for his presentation of "Salome" at the Pasadena Playhouse, Glendale. He was formerly director of the Indianapolis Theater Guild and also staged ballets and pageants in New York and Chicago.

Other ballets on the Shrine auditorium summer series will be "The Painted Desert," mammoth American Indian pageant with music by Homer Gurnea, August 8; and Ethel Meglin's elaborate fantasy, "Three Little Pigs," featuring 500 Meglin Kiddies.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
EAT AND GROW SLIM.
Dinner
Chilled cantaloupe
1 medium sized slice corned beef
4 Tbsp. string beans
1 ear of corn
1 section of boiled cabbage
1 small boiled potato
Black coffee or clear tea
Calory total—500

A corned beef dinner is a good excuse to have corned beef hash for the next dinner, but do snick out enough to serve with a crisp green salad for luncheon.

The best buy in corned beef is the piece called the "plate." This is solid meat. Parboil, change to fresh water to which add 2 bay leaves, a clove of garlic, 1/2 cup vinegar and 3 tbsps. brown sugar. Simmer gently until a fork will pierce the meat easily. The vegetables are best if cooked separately in fresh water, drain after cooking, and rinse quickly with a little of the hot corned broth—that gives them the required flavor.

Always serve prepared mustard and grated horse radish with corned beef.

Add dessert and rolls to the menu and the family dinner is ready, too.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Cold Pickle Relish

- 1 peck ripe tomatoes
- 4 Green peppers
- 5 Onions
- 2 cups chopped celery
- 1/2 tsp. ground cloves
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. pepper
- Mustard seed to taste
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 5 Cups cold vinegar

—Contributed recipe.

Chop the peeled tomatoes in small pieces, cover with the salt and let stand all night. In the morning add the remaining diced vegetables, stir well to mix the salt, pepper and mustard seed. Fill hot sterile jars with the vegetable, allowing the filling to come to the jar shoulder. Heat vinegar, sugar and other spices, cool, and fill the jars to overflowing. Seal and invert for a few days. Delicious with meats.

BERMUDA ONIONS STUFFED WITH LIVER

- 6 Large onions, parboiled
- 1 Pound cooked liver, ground
- 1 Cup boiled rice
- 1/4 Cup melted butter mixed with
- 1/2 Cup liver broth
- 1 Can mushroom sauce
- 2 Tsp. chopped parsley
- Salt and pepper
- Butter crumbs for top

Peel and cook the onions 30 minutes. Cut a slice off the end and steam out pulp to leave a shell. Run cooked liver through the grinder with a bit of onion for seasoning. Combine with the cooked rice, melted butter, broth, salt and pepper. Fill the onion cups with this mixture, place in a casserole, cover tops with buttered crumbs, and use the mushroom sauce and parsley to hasten the baking onions. An hour in a rather slow oven will bake them nicely.

These stuffed onions may be served as the main dish. The left-over pulp may be tried for another meal and served with chopped steak, or it may be cooked.

Elijah Hears God's Voice

Text: 1 Kings 19:9-18.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 22.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

It is a strange and paradoxical fact, but oftentimes the hour of victory is an hour of danger. Apparent triumph frequently carries a sting. Remember the warning of St. Paul that those who were standing take heed lest they fall.

Elijah, in his zeal for the cause of what he believed to be true and pure religion, had achieved a great victory over Jezebel and the prophets of Baal. His victory could hardly have been more complete, and yet we find him broken-spirited and discouraged, seeking refuge from the elements and from his fellow men in a cave.

There was no moral collapse, such as comes to men at times when they have worn themselves out with their zeal even in a moral cause. The depression that Elijah suffered was spiritual, and it did not, apparently, affect his own relationship to God.

He was still strong in his own faith and in his own determination to follow the right, but in the intense reaction, when probably his physical strength had been spent, he was unable to set the proper value upon things.

He thought of himself as the only true prophet of God left, and he saw his own life betrayed and endangered.

It was under these circumstances that the voice of the Lord came to him in the cave, telling him to go forth and stand upon the mount before the Lord. If there is any vision that can come to strengthen and hearten a man, he is more likely to get it standing upon a mountain than hiding in a cave.

It was not long before Elijah had a tremendous vision. A great windstorm rent the mountains and broke the rocks, and after the wind there came a great earthquake, after the earthquake there was a fire; but not in wind, earthquake, or fire did Elijah hear the voice of the Lord, though he felt the presence.

But after all these manifestations, came a still small voice inquiring concerning Elijah's condition and trouble, giving him a commission to fulfill, that he should anoint new kings over Syria and Israel, and Elisha as a prophet in his place.

Then came, also the mild rebuke of the still small voice, reminding Elijah that there were still 7000 in Israel who had not bowed the knee to Baal.

Elijah might have been saved this gloomy and desperate experience if he had been only able to see these 7000 faithful saints. How often we make similar misappraisals of the forces of right that surround us!

Either when evil triumphs, or when in victory over wrong and we are weakened by the struggle, it is the tempter's way to whisper to us that we are alone and unsupported, that the cause of truth and right is not as strong as we had supposed it to be.

What is the cure for these moods of depression? There are two, cures.

One is to get out of the cave, to get out of the cave of one's own depressed spirit. This was the way of the psalmist who communed with his soul, saying, "Why art thou cast down? Why art thou disquieted within me?"

The other way is to get to the mountain vision, where God can reveal Himself to us and where we can find new hope in him.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Meany Men were sights to see. As funny as wee men could be. Each one had tied upon his head a little high top hat. As Scouty wondered what to do, one of the Meanies shouted, "You must pardon us for laughing, but that's how we all keep fat."

"You see, we're always pulling tricks, and that's why you are in a fix. You've joined the Cheerful Chaps and they are mad at us, we know."

"Now that you're caught, it's our intent to see that you get punishment. 'Course, when the war is over, we will gladly let you go."

Another then said, "Why stay here? We're running quite a risk. I fear. Let's take our prisoner to camp and then decide his fate."

"The big guns of our enemy may blaze away, and then we'll be in trouble. Come, let's hike along before it is too late."

They shortly reached their camp and then one of the funny little men exclaimed, "All right, bring forth a chair on which this lad can sit."

"When he is tied up good and tight, we'll try with all our main and might to give him proper punishment, and see how he likes it."

It wasn't very long until they said to Scouty, "Now, sit still. The more you squirm around, the worse your punishment will be."

While one small Meany Man

tied him, a rope was thrown up over a limb, and one end tied to Scouty's foot. "What's coming next?" said he.

"Ah, you'll find out," came the reply. One of the Meanies then said, "I have here a little feather. Now, you'll find out what it's for."

Then, right to Scouty's foot he went, exclaiming, "Here's your punishment!" Poor Scouty's foot was tickled till it made the wee lad roar.

(The Tinies prepare for a real attack on the Meany Men in the next story.)

GENERAL JOHNSON INDICATES THE "SAVIOR" AMONG "SAVIORS"

Two leaders of the national administration have visited Los Angeles this week. Two more unlike men could hardly be conceived than Postmaster-General Farley and the NRA chairman, General Johnson.

Farley is quiet, shrewd, careful, considerate, politic. General Johnson is impulsive, fiery, emphatic and radical in respect to his utterances.

Mr. Farley came and went with hardly a ripple of excitement. What he thought concerning the gubernatorial situation he concealed within his own mind and gave not an inkling of his attitude. Johnson comes out and most oracularly declares himself as favoring George Creel for governor, and says: "I am not in favor of Sinclair."

Politically speaking, he created a furor and yet it was distinctly Johnsonese. While to be sure he declared that he was not speaking for the administration (and he hardly need have added that, as in his impetuous way he so frequently does not speak for the administration), yet as a national and outstanding leader, he did place his finger upon one candidate in the lot upon whom the Democrats might be able to unite.

In regard to Mr. Creel, he said: "I have known him since the World war, when we both served on President Wilson's staff. He was in charge of public relations. He is a faithful and efficient public servant. He has proved himself under the weight of great national responsibility. You all know that it is far better to take a proven tool than a political experiment. He has every good wish that I can ask."

In making this declaration, Mr. Johnson probably came as close to selecting a man upon whom those men in the party, who do not favor Mr. Sinclair, could unite, as is likely to be done during this campaign. It gives the group an opportunity for union.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Creel will run strongly in sections of the state. There is no doubt of Mr. Creel's ability, or his loyalty to the Roosevelt program and to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Nearly all of the candidates have been declaring the need of uniting upon one candidate, or Mr. Sinclair would surely be nominated.

Surely if the expressed fear of Mr. Sinclair's nomination in the Democratic primaries springs from the high and holy patriotic motives of "saving the state," as these candidates would have the public believe, they will surely take advantage of this opportunity to unite upon a candidate who has been selected by a responsible national leader of the Democratic party.

We have no doubt but that this will affect thousands of votes and tend to place Mr. Creel as the outstanding candidate of the progressive-conservative group, if two such words can be hyphenated properly.

We are afraid that the ardor of each one of the candidates to have the state "saved," will be found to have been greatly dampened, when he discovers that he has not been selected as the "savior" to perform this great sacrifice. We may be doing them an injustice. The next few days will tell.

If they should get in behind Mr. Creel now, and say: "Let's put him over," it would probably encourage thousands of people who would like to see it done, into a belief that it can be done.

But if they persist in the "dog-eat-dog" program, as heretofore carried on, even though pointing to themselves when urging that the "state must be saved," there will be a serious question raised as to their good faith, when they are trying to make the people believe that there is such a calamity ahead of them from which the state needs "saving."

Let them now "show their faith by their works."

In any case, regardless of the candidates, it at least affords an opportunity to the rank and file of the Democrats who are not for Mr. Sinclair, to unite upon a responsible and able man as candidate, who has unquestioned ability and who, under no conception of language, could be classed as a reactionary.

THE FRAZIER-LEMKE MORTGAGE ACT

There is tremendous interest in the Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage act. Meetings are being held to discuss it and to explain to the farmers how to take advantage of it.

There are many explanations of it. The complete text of the law will be published in The Register on Monday. It is not long, can be read in probably 10 minutes, though it takes longer than that to understand it.

In a statement in the United States News describing the act, as to what it would do, it says:

"It would enable an indebted farmer to go into court, with the approval of his creditors and ask to be adjudged bankrupt. Then an appraiser would be appointed to determine a fair and reasonable, though not necessarily the market, value of his farm. Once that appraisal was made the farmer could pay, during the first year, one per cent interest on the appraised value with the rate rising gradually to the sixth year.

"It would enable an indebted farmer, when his creditors refused to accept adjustments, to go into court and get a judgment permitting him to retain his farm for six years at a 'reasonable' rental. Then at the end of this six years he could buy back the farm at a 'reasonable' price. What constitutes 'reasonable' is uncertain."

This is probably as succinct a statement as can be given of the act. It is possibly too early to discuss the effect of this law on the farmers and upon creditors. But we are afraid that it will not enhance the value of farm mortgages as investments.

It unquestionably will save thousands of farmers from dispossession. It appears to do away entirely with the constitutional provisions of preserving the sacredness of a contract, but it does it in a perfectly constitutional way by changing the bankruptcy law.

We are deeply impressed that with the many changes in our legislation affecting relationships and contracts, it is high time that greater emphasis was being placed upon personal integrity in performing a contract, because, in the last analysis, a contract is made in the light of existing conditions and existing law, and an honest man will carry out his obligations regardless.

This is well illustrated in the story of a man who sought to collect a note through his bank. The banker pointed out to him that the statute of limitations had begun to run against the note and he could not collect it, as nothing on either interest or principal had been paid for many years.

The man replied: "I loaned this money to my friend, who told me he would pay it when I wanted it." He said: "I now want it. He is a gentleman. The statute of limitations doesn't run against a gentleman."

The banker sent on the note and it was paid. It is well that we have laws to enable men to start over again when helplessly and hopelessly in debt, but finally the spirit of the story should dominate.

Honest men will not take advantage of laws, to avoid the payment of obligations which it is possible for them to meet under any circumstances. The statute of limitations doesn't run against notes owed by gentlemen.

Gun Smugglers Under Fire
Christian Science Monitor

In promulgating the embargo against the shipment of munitions to Cuba, the American State Department called special attention to the need for action against the smuggling of guns and bombs to Cuban rebels through Florida ports. Enforcement of this embargo puts squarely upon customs men and coast guard crews the task of wiping out a traffic which has run intermittently since the Cuban War for Independence in the nineties.

Cuban exiles from one regime after another have set up shop on the American side of the Florida Straits, to plot the overthrow of their enemies. For three years prior to the Spanish-American War they kept the Cuban waters alive with their filibustering schooners, loaded with guns and powder for the patriots organizing their forces in the hills of Camagney and Oriente provinces. Workmen in Tampa and Key West doled out 10 per cent of their wages to pay for the revolution, and American sympathy generally was with them. In those days customs men also were under orders to stop this flow of guns and ammunition, but their attempts were half-hearted.

That admiration for the gun-runner is not so evident today, and federal men should have no public or personal sentimental obstructions to hurdle in checking the smuggling business. It probably is not extensive, but it is important even if it provides only a few guns and bombs to agitators. The move to stop it fits into the Roosevelt program dedicated to outlawry of the infamous traffic in arms.

Code For Catch Words
San Francisco Chronicle

A code of fair practice for the use of the English language is urged by the Christian Science Monitor. For instance, when words and phrases like "intrigue," "glamorous," "simply precious" and "absolutely poisonous" get a run there would be a limit to their use. They might be put on a no-hour day and no-day week. Besides becoming insufferably tiresome, like slang, they destroy all discriminating sense in language.

That is a matter of taste, which is important. But there is another practical trend in language which often results in confusion. The Anglo-Saxonizing of the automobile and its accessories has been responsible for a good deal of language mixup. Instead of specific words for separate things the tendency has been to run to generic words. For gasoline we have "gas," often confusing with the illuminating and heating product. Likewise "car," "machine" and, even worse, "boat," are too broad in their application for precision. Chauffeur has pronunciation variations in popular use and a foreign air that the language has not been able to assimilate, but still it is preferable for preciseness of speech to the general word "driver."

But the codes have troubles enough of their own and perhaps speech had better be left to the not very successful regimentation of the schools.

Protecting Depositors
Detroit News

A bank went bust in East Peoria, Ill., recently, thereby passing into history as the first bank to fail under the National Act insuring deposits. Its liabilities to depositors were $241,000. There were 1789 depositors; all but about a score will receive their deposits in full, and each of the others will get $2500. The first to be paid was a widow whose entire savings of $1250 were in the bank.

Who loses? The Federal Insurance Corporation pays out $7,100,000 of its guaranty fund. In return it takes over the assets of the bank, on which it will realize what it can. Result: The small depositors get $2500 each, plus a division of what is left after liquidation and reimbursement of the insurance corporation; and the loss, if any, is spread over the banking strength of the Nation.

This seems a far better arrangement, in the national economy, than the old one which left the depositors holding the bag and taking what they might get after a long receivership.

A SIGH OF REGRET

I see a sleek gasoline engine
Careering along to a blaze;
It's efficient, no doubt,
But no steam does it spout
As it speeds on its glorious ways.
It lacks the old bright shining boiler
And the smoke that shoots out of the stack,
And it doesn't careen
Like the good old machine
That was here half a dozen years back.

Ah! That was the grand age of fires;
The whistle would splutter and scream,
While the folks of that day
Fled madly away
From the fountains of cinders and steam.
The galloping clang of the horses,
The beat of their feet as they sped,
And the volume of sound
That was broadcast around
Might almost awaken the dead.

The machines of today may be faster,
Their deafening sirens ring shrill.
It's a joy to the eye
To observe them go by,
Their perilous task to fulfill.
But my pet was the roaring old steamer
With its smoke and its clamor and roar.
And I'm sad in my heart
That it won't play a part
In the life of the town any more.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE MASS MOOD IN EUROPE

The mass mood of the rest of the Western world has relevance to our domestic problem.

We are part of Western civilization, and despite the distinctiveness we seek to maintain, are not of necessity immune to the distempers that have raced through the minds of peoples elsewhere in the West. The winds of doctrine that have shaken ancient traditions of government and economic organization in Europe blow across our judgments as well. The waves of popular desire that have been lashed up there beat against our shores also.

Apart from the fact that reactions of the mass mind elsewhere may, by contagion, set up like reactions here, the mass mood of the other Western peoples affects the political and economic policies which liberate world trade. And the direction world trade takes for the quarter century ahead is likely to loom larger as a factor affecting our national fortunes than many, in the half-hysterical thinking of the moment, are inclined to admit.

Forgetting ourselves for the moment, the rest of the Western world is passing through a phase of profound disillusionment.

Traditions and folkways that have long served as the stabilizer and scaffolding of men's lives are subjected to a sweeping skepticism that has gone beyond the critical confines of the intellectualists to give direction to the uncritical reactions of the mass mind.

Where once great binding beliefs held peoples together in a saving sense of solidarity they now disintegrate into a sordid scramble of individual and class interests.

Where once men's minds were certain they are now cynical.

Where once men were animated by a buoyant confidence that human genius was equal to the conquest and control of nature, human nature and social organization, despair now darkens their outlook.

Where once men but criticized the functioning of their major social institutions they now challenge their foundations.

Where once men went for guidance to the sober assessments of philosophy they now lend a ready ear to the theatrical screams of passion.

In the face of the manifest possibility of plenty in this age of science, technology and power production, a heightened resentment of wide differentials of wealth arises. We witness a resurgence throughout Europe of the gospel of equality. And hitherto docile masses everywhere seem set to take affairs into their own hands or lodge them in the hands of leaders who speak their language of urgency.

BIG BROTHER

When a big brother is kind to the younger ones he is a great help to them, more than ever he dreams. Children learn from each other faster and easier than they learn from grownup people. There seems to be some sort of spiritual communion between them that makes words unnecessary, or when words are used, to render them highly intelligible.

When Small Brother is struggling with his arithmetic and the tears begin to smudge the paper Big Brother comes along and says cheerfully, "What's the matter, kid? Let me see. O, those nice little examples in dry measure. Here, I'll show you. Write them like this. And put these little numbers over the tops like this. So. How many quarts in a peck? Sure. Now you're all right. You know how. That's fine. Now the next one. What do you do first? Write down all the names in a row, like that. Now you're getting it. Next the little numbers again. You can do it now? Sure thing. Do the next one. I'll stick around until you get them done."

That isn't much for Big Brother to do but my, how much it is to Little Brother. Pride and affection and gratitude swell his heart to bursting. His love and pride shine in his eyes, speak in his voice as he says, "Thank you, you can get along now." The bare words don't begin to express his feeling for that Big Brotherly action but the light in his eyes speaks for him.

Little Brother gets into trouble with his playmates. He has a fight and comes home weeping. Big Brother listens to his story and then he says, "Well, kid, I tell you. You were right. I guess you are. But fighting isn't going to help you much. Lay off the fighting business. Don't get into a scrap if you can help it. O, if he took your ball and wouldn't give it back, that's different, but give him a chance. Go slow on the fight stuff. Now wash your face so Ma won't know and I'll have a throw with you before supper."

Such a Big Brother has his own more for his brothers and sisters than his father and mother can do. Father and mother are a long way from their childhood and sometimes they forget. Big Brother is very near to it yet and he has the entree to the world where children live and move and have their being. He can still talk their language and feel their emotions and understand their ambitions. He can say the right word and direct them to the right road without half trying. And they do what he says readily.

Such a Big Brother has his own reward. His younger brothers and sisters shower him with their affection. They try with all their hearts to serve him, and make his way easy. There is no friend so devoted and so loyal as a child friend and the Big Brother who is lucky enough to make friends with his brothers and sisters is going to be spiritually enriched by the devotion of his family.

The true Big Brother has something fatherly in his attitude, something brotherly in his tone, something friendly in his action, so that he fulfills the needs of these younger ones as nobody else can do. Take your place, your high place in the family, Big Brother, and grace it well for it will become your nobly.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

CATTLE DIE AS PEOPLE SEEK WATER

Temperatures Over 100 Degree Mark Recorded in Score of Cities Today
Retail Prices Mount Over May 1 Figures; No Rain Falls in Several Weeks

CHICAGO, July 21.—(UP)—Death, famine and new afflictions for millions of farmers rolled eastward across the United States and southern Canada today in the shimmering air of a record heat wave.

At least 70 deaths were traced to heat. Thousands were prostrated. Cattle died almost unattended in western fields as farmers sought water for their families. Crops burned in a dozen states. Winds became so hot human skin cracked and blistered at its touch.

Thermometer columns boiled over the 100-degree mark—in several places almost to 120 degrees—from Utah almost to the Atlantic coast, and from Medicine Hat to Port Arthur.

Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, speaking at Emporia, declared the nation is confronted with "a great disaster." Emporia had not seen the mercury below 100 degrees for 32 days. It was 118 yesterday. No rain had fallen for weeks.

Thousands of farmers and even large cities fought almost frantically for drinking water.

Five thousand residents of Falls City, Neb., were said to be in actual danger of a water famine. The city water plant was unable today to pump water from the lowering Nemaha river. A temperature of 114 degrees sent thousands to beer taverns.

Creston, Ia., planned to enlarge daily shipments of 45 carloads of water by rail from Council Bluffs. In Chicago and in Kansas City, city authorities pleaded for water conservation. Chicago pumped more than a billion gallons from Lake Michigan yesterday without being able to maintain normal pressure in the mains.

The maximum temperature here of 88 degrees was misleading in its measurement of human misery. A humidity of 88 per cent of saturation and an absolute lack of breeze sent an estimated 90,000 persons to the beaches.

Seventeen persons died here in the last 24 hours of sunstroke, heat prostration and heart disease aggravated by the temperature.

Thermometer readings from other points in the afflicted zone were fantastic.

At Joliet, Ill., penitentiary inmates were relieved of work when the temperature reached 115.

Pierre, S. D., reported 113; O'Neill, Neb., 111; Burlington, Ia., 111; St. Louis, 108; Kansas City and Cincinnati, 105; Springfield, Ill., 105; Indianapolis, 102; Jackson, Mich., 101; Detroit, 96; Shreveport, 96.

Weather bureau forecasters said that New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Boston would feel the moving wave late today.

ARREST FILIPINOS ON MORALS CHARGE

INGLEWOOD, Cal., July 21.—(UP)—Seven Filipinos were arrested here today on the charges of Florence May Curtis, 14-year-old daughter of a Hawthorne candy manufacturer, that they conspired to lodge her in a Ti Juana brothel. An eighth Filipino was under arrest in San Diego.

The girl told police she was persuaded to leave her home last Sunday and was taken to Ocean side, where she was forced to submit to the assaults of a group of Filipinos. Later, she said, she was taken across the border to Ti Juana.

Officers last night raided a Filipino colony here and arrested Arsena De La Cruz, Roberto Asuncion, Juan Asuncion, Elogio Asuncion and Felix Felipe. In another raid early this morning they seized Sylvester Alcoc and Roberto Domingo. An eighth, Paul F. Miguel, is being held at San Diego on charges of criminal assault.

EARTHQUAKE IN PANAMA TODAY RUINS HOUSES

Early Reports Indicate No One Injured; Property Damage is Heavy

PORT ARMUELLES, Panama, July 21.—(Via Tropical Radio to United Press)—A violent earthquake occurred here at 2:55 a. m. (PST) today, causing extensive property damage.

Early reports indicated no one was seriously hurt.

About 10 houses were ruined partly.

The United Fruit company's dock was destroyed practically.

Three banana conveyors which transfer the fruit from the dock to ships, were wrecked.

Port Armuelles, on the Pacific side of Panama, has about 1,000 inhabitants, mostly employees of the United Fruit company.

It is the company's principal port in that section for the shipment of bananas northward from the Chiriqui plantations.

A locomotive hauling a long train of banana cars plunged into the sea today during a renewed and intense earth shock. Many casualties were reported.

The government was sending aid.

Wharf of the United Fruit company, the company's club house, and fifteen company houses were destroyed.

A water tank on the National Railway line was thrown across the track, blocking traffic.

Renewed earth shocks, of extreme violence, shook houses into ruins in the gold-mining town of David today, and brought requests for government aid.

The government-owned wharf used by the United Fruit company at Puerto Armuelles was totally destroyed, and one United Fruit company building collapsed, with the reported death of several persons.

A score of City firemen and more than 400 volunteer advisers—most of them small boys—collaborated in attempts to rescue the pup from a sewer.

The dog's plight was discovered late yesterday by a boy who heard his whines.

Humane society agents, after futile efforts to dislodge the pup from a 12-inch pipe in which he was lodged, called on city authorities.

A 12-year old boy begged to crawl into the pipe, but was forcibly prevented because of fear that sewer gas might overcome him.

Creel Given Backing Of Gen. Johnson

NRA Leader Endorses Democratic Candidate for Governor in Talk

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief of staff, prepared to return to San Francisco today accompanied by George Creel, candidate for governor, after a brief round of activities in the Southland marked by condemnations of martial law and general strikes, and an administration blessing on Creel.

Johnson's benediction on Creel apparently was aimed directly at the latter's race with Upton Sinclair for the Democratic nomination.

Before a crowd of some 6000 persons who had waited nearly two hours in Hollywood Bowl for Gen. Johnson to fly in from San Francisco and deliver a message that had been advertised as one of national importance, Gen. Johnson said:

"They tell me that George Creel is a candidate for governor of California. As you all know he represents the N.R.A. in this state. I have known him since the World war, when we both served on President Wilson's staff. He was in charge of public relations. He is a faithful and efficient public servant. He has proved himself responsible. You all know that it is far better to take a proven tool than a political experiment. He has every good wish that I can ask."

Political Import
These utterances labeled the trip of the Blue Eagle generalissimo as something of a political mission in the minds of his listeners and particularly among supporters of other Democratic office seekers.

Furthermore the National Recovery administrator's comment on Creel assumed all the more importance politically because it immediately followed in his address the praise given Hiram Johnson, senior California senator, and the

U. S. WILL RESUME TALKS WITH RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—Negotiations for debt agreement between the United States and the Soviet government will be resumed early next week, the state department announced today.

The announcement was made following a call by Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky at the state department.

Negotiations to be conducted here will be in the form of preliminary conversations looking to more normal negotiations to be conducted later. The negotiations previously were carried on for a time in Moscow.

Failure of a settlement thus far has been said to hamper establishment of the commercial interactivity between the two countries which had been anticipated at the time of Russian recognition.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Pacific coast ship owners today agreed to arbitrate all differences with the striking maritime unions, provided the longshoremen will do likewise.

BISMARCK, N. D., July 21.—(UP)—The house of representatives voted today to consider the impeachment of William Langer, suspended governor of North Dakota, by voting to appoint a committee of 11 to investigate his conviction by a federal jury on charges of conspiracy.

CULVER, Ind., July 21.—(UP)—Police received a tip that John Dillinger, another man and two women were hiding out in a cottage on a lake near here. Federal agents and state officers were reported ready to raid the place. Local police threw a guard around the Culver bank.

ACTING GOVERNOR OF NORTH DAKOTA REMOVES APPOINTEES OF LANGER; SOLONS MAY ACT

BISMARCK, N. D., July 21.—(UP)—Acting Governor Ole H. Olson struck again today at William H. Langer, suspended governor whose seat he took, by removing Langer's principal appointees from office.

Olson signed orders for removal of Langer's two key men, State Regulatory Director Stephen Terhorst, Minot farmer, and Highway Commissioner Frank A. Vogel.

He appointed Sidney Papke, Grand Forks, to head the regulatory department and named Bert M. Salisbury, now district court clerk at Minnekaunk, as Vogel's successor.

Papke, secretary of the senate in the last legislature and one of the powers behind Langer's ouster, assumed office today and began approving licenses, permits and other official documents.

Vogel, however, declared he would not turn over the highway department's affairs to Salisbury without "some sort of checkup so I can have a clean bill."

THREE NAMED 500 SUSPECTS TO MEDIATION HELD IN JAILS BOARD TODAY AS AGITATORS

President Interrupts Vacation Long Enough to Make Announcement

BOARD THE U.S.S. NEW ORLEANS, with President Roosevelt, July 21.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, aboard the U.S.S. Houston bound for Hawaii, interrupted his vacation long enough to announce the appointment of the membership of the national mediation board today.

The board, created by amendment to the railway labor dispute act in the closing days of congress, is intended to be a supreme court of rail labor controversies.

The presidential appointees are: William M. Leiserson, Yellow Springs, Ohio, for term ending February, 1936.

James W. Carmalt, Washington, D. C., for the term ending February, 1936.

John Carmody, now chief engineer for the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for the term ending February, 1936.

The president also named Murray Latimer as chairman of the railroad retirement board created by a recent act of congress. Mr. Roosevelt has not received the recommendations of the railroad labor executives and the association of railway executives for members to represent them on the board.

The president planned to address the crew of the Houston after his inspection today.

LOUIS PAYNE TRIAL IN WEEKEND RECESS

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Jurors in the trial of Louis Rude Payne, 21, on charges of murdering his mother and younger brother, with an ax, were locked up in a hotel suite for the weekend end to delay with Payne's alleged confession of the horrible crime still ringing in their ears.

In a courtroom that presented the strange contrasts of Payne sitting with bowed head beside his grim-faced father and the entire courtroom occasionally roaring with laughter over antics of attorneys, the boy's asserted confession was detailed to the jury by LeRoy Sanderson, detective lieutenant.

It was a weird story of Payne's arising in the night with an irresistible impulse to kill Mrs. Carrie Payne and her son, Robert. For 15 minutes he stared at his mother in the dim moonlight shining through the window, the officer said in quoting the asserted confession, and then, unable to subdue the impulse to kill, he horribly mangled her with an ax.

MORALS TRIAL TO RESUME ON MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—Investigation of asserted death threats against Harry Adams, film extra and rebuttal witnesses in the morals trial of Dave Allen, former casting bureau director, and Gloria Marsh, actress, was launched today during a week-end recess of the sensational hearing.

Adams is scheduled to take the stand after Miss Marsh completes her denial Monday that she participated in an unprintable orgy film extra and the state's star with Allen and June De Long, witness.

Testimony already given by Miss Marsh coincided with Allen's court denial that they were participating in a wild party when Mrs. Pearl Owens, another film player, burst into Miss DeLong's apartment and said, "Well, isn't this nice?"

Allen charged the affair to a "frameup" plotted by Pat Harmon, screen player, Miss DeLong, and Mrs. Owens, to obtain film work.

Information Is Released By Prisoner

Convict in Atlanta Turns Over "True Story" Today to Warden

JOLIET, Ill., July 21.—(UP)—A convict in state prison turned over to Warden Frank B. Whipp today what he said was the "true story" of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

He named Frank Nash, slain in the Kansas City union station massacre a year ago, and Al Capone, now in Atlanta prison, as the men behind the plot.

The convict, John Pawelczyk, said the kidnapping was planned to free Capone, then in jail at Chicago, following denial of his appeal from an income tax conviction.

At the time of the kidnapping, Capone offered to aid authorities in finding the child and said he had friends who could trace the kidnapers.

The information has been turned over to federal authorities, it was learned.

Pawelczyk said he met Nash while both were in Leavenworth prison. At that time, according to the story, he and Nash communicated by means of a code which later appeared on a note left at the Lindbergh home.

Pawelczyk named as the actual kidnapers Nash, one Bob Sandvich and a woman friend of the latter named only as "Tessie."

Sandvich, he said, killed the Lindbergh child with a blow over the head after a tire had blown out on their car and they had become panic stricken.

According to the convict's story, Capone conceived the plot in a desperate attempt to win his freedom. If that were true, detectives pointed out, the comparatively low ransom demand of $50,000 which puzzled authorities might be explained.

Pawelczyk, sentenced in Chicago, is serving a one to 10 year term for manslaughter.

FEDERAL AGENTS TO CHECK CONVICT'S TALE

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—Federal secret agents, who have run down every possible clue in the still involved Lindbergh kidnapping mystery, will check fully every angle of the story told by Convict John Pawelczyk in Joliet prison naming Al Capone and Frank Nash as the master minds of the kidnapping.

Whether the convict's story holds any promise of developing a genuine clue to the mystery none could say.

Official reports from the warden of Joliet prison have not yet been received here. Officials believe they would be forwarded to the Chicago office of the department of justice.

It was pointed out that convicts often claim knowledge of sensational crimes and even confess to crimes in which they had no part in an effort to gain freedom or transfer from a prison that has especially rigid discipline.

Links between Al Capone and the Lindbergh case were run down long ago and nothing found.

MISS BRECKENRIDGE SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(UP)—Police today investigated the apparent accidental death of Louise Breckenridge, 17, daughter of Col. Henry Breckenridge, attorney for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The body of the young woman, a Vassar college sophomore and member of Washington's young social set, was found shot to death about two blocks from her home. Beside her was a .32 caliber rifle which she had taken with her to practice target shooting.

Examination showed a bullet let through her heart.

The body was lying just beyond a fence around a wooded lot where she had intended to practice her shooting. Police believed the young woman might have tripped in climbing the fence and accidentally discharged her rifle.

ACCUSED

Al Capone, serving a term in Federal prison at Atlanta, today was named by a convict as the master mind in the kidnapping of Baby Lindbergh.

Teamsters Return to Work Unconditionally; Troops Will Be Recalled

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Withdrawal of troops from the San Francisco bay area was begun today after teamsters returned to work, and there were definite indications that all strikes now in progress would be ended soon.

Between 2500 and 3000 of the 4200 troops on strike duty will be withdrawn in the first movement.

Only the bayonets and massed ranks of the soldiers halted the fight and rescued 100 policemen from 500 pickets who charged them through a rain of buckshot.

Efforts of federal mediators, Gov. Floyd B. Olson and city authorities to end the five-day-old strike were abandoned temporarily.

Union leaders exhorted followers to vengeance and called upon 20,000 additional union members to join them in "licking the police." They refused even to meet with peacekeepers.

FRESNO, Cal., July 21.—(UP)—Undersecretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell, member of President Roosevelt's so-called "brain trust," left here today for Los Angeles after inspecting vineyards and wineries in this vicinity.

It was understood Tugwell and his party would leave Los Angeles almost immediately on their return trip to Washington, D. C.

With the cabinet official were Knowles Ryerson, chief of the bureau of plant industry, Dr. E. N. Bressman, scientific adviser to the department of agriculture, and Paul Porter, head of the press section of the agricultural adjustment administration.

BROADALBIN, N. Y., July 21.—(UP)—Five CCC workers were drowned today in Steel lake when their boat overturned. Three others swam to safety.

The dead: Ernest Brooks, foreman of a speculator CCC camp.

William H. Havens, Syracuse, N. Y.

Gerald Lynch, Harrison, N. J.

Edgar J. Van Villard, Newark, N. J.

Frederick Rothfuss, Newark, N. J.

The party was enroute to the dense Steel lake area to relieve another CCC group which had been combating a forest fire.

Taxicab Service is Halted and Unions Prevent Milk Being Delivered

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21.—(UP)—Minneapolis was a powderhouse today, ready to explode momentarily into bloody street war.

Fearing new riots in the blood-spattered city market section, Gov. Floyd B. Olson today threatened to place Minneapolis under martial law.

Forty-nine men were in hospitals, four in dying conditions, as 3000 national guardsmen marched into the city with light artillery, machine guns and truckloads of gas grenades.

An estimated 10,000 union pickets massed at their headquarters and, belligerently, roamed the streets, daring police and employers of 6000 striking truck drivers to run a gauntlet of guns.

In all groups workers swore vengeance on "the bloody, murdering police" who yesterday shot down 47 pickets in an effort to move a truckload of groceries.

Policemen slugged Screaming men fell to the pavement and were trampled in a brief but terrific battle. Two policemen were slugged into unconsciousness and kicked by furious men as they lay prostrate.

Shotguns sprayed the street with buckshot and 200 national guardsmen rushed the mob with bayonets.

Only the bayonets and massed ranks of the soldiers halted the fight and rescued 100 policemen from 500 pickets who charged them through a rain of buckshot.

Efforts of federal mediators, Gov. Floyd B. Olson and city authorities to end the five-day-old strike were abandoned temporarily.

EXTREME HEAT BRINGS DEATH ACROSS NATION

Economic effects of the disaster were incalculable in dollars but obvious in general terms.

A wholesale grocery firm in Kansas City and a retail chain of national proportions in Chicago agreed the nation's food bill is growing daily.

A simple comparison of a few retail prices on May 1 and July 20 demonstrated the trend.

Standard wheat cereals which sold on the former date at 8 cents were priced yesterday at 10; a one-pound loaf of bread had advanced from 9 to 11 cents; potatoes were 25 to 30 cents a peck yesterday, 5 cents above the May price. Dairy prices were particularly affected. Milk was 11 cents a quart, as compared with the former price of 9, and butter which last month was 24 cents sells now at 28 to 30.

An executive of the chain estimated that the general food increase has been around 8 per cent.

INFORMATION IS RELEASED BY PRISONER

In previous investigations to substantiate any connection with him. It could not be learned whether federal authorities have any record on Pawelczyk or on Bob Sandvich who was named by the convict as the man who killed the Lindbergh child.

All that federal authorities could say on the Lindbergh case was that they had and will continue to go to the bottom of every conceivable clue in the hope of eventually turning up something that will solve the case.

5 BOOKED AT JAIL ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Five persons were booked at the county jail yesterday on liquor violations, including one for drunken driving, three for drunkenness and one on a conviction for selling whiskey not in the original containers and without a license.

Hancock Banning Jr., 42, Wilmington, was booked at 10:50 o'clock last night for drunken driving by California Highway Patrolmen Walter Meyer and Vernon Barnhill.

Mrs. Julia Sulzer, 40, colored, failed to post a $300 appeal bond following her conviction by a jury yesterday in police court on the whiskey selling charge, and was taken to the jail at 8:40 p. m. by police.

Joe Gutierrez, 38, El Modena, was booked for drunkenness at 2:30 p. m. by Constable George Bartley of Orange. Later in the day, deputy sheriffs were sent to the Gutierrez home to question his 11-year-old son, who admitted that he used a alias shot in hitting a laborer riding past his home on a truck owned by the Tustin Mutual Cigar association yesterday morning. The man's hand was badly cut and needed medical attention.

Alfred B. Jones, 37, Long Beach, was booked by Newport Beach police last night to serve a 10 day sentence for drunkenness.

"Mike" Monreal, 35, Del Rio, concluding a 7½ day term for drunkenness from Santa Ana, was taken before Judge J. G. Mitchell on a bench warrant yesterday and committed for another 7½ day term for failure to pay a previous drunkenness fine in police court.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

SANTA MONICA, July 21. (To the Editor of the Register): One of the funniest angles to the strike in San Francisco. Bartenders had been out of work for 14 years, just been back in for six months, then called out again. I was working yesterday and missed all the lunches they give my friend Jim Farley. Everybody in the State but Baby LeRoy is running for governor, so Jim endorsed LeRoy. He arrived at 4 in the morning, an unearthly hour, but in spite of that there was over two hundred men there, everyone a postmaster. It's a mighty poor town that Jim hasn't got one staunch friend in.

Yours,

wanted their freight first. It was a wild scramble at times. More and more trucks were pressed into service.

"We have 650 trucks rolling now," said J. F. Vizzard, of the Dymaxion's association. "Everyone is happy. There hasn't been a single complaint."

Troops Relax

Militiamen, still on guard, rested on their rifles, and looked on amusedly. They saw little to do. Military regulations were relaxed by sentries, after 10 days during which everyone approaching was challenged.

The Market street railway, whose organized employees continued on strike, reported it was extending its service today. Several of its employees reported to police that bricks had been tossed through the windows of their homes but none was hurt and operation of cars was not interfered with.

Work was resumed on the great San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge when 2000 men are employed. During the morning Harvey Couch of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which aided in the financing of the project, inspected the work.

In Oakland 1200 teamsters returned to work but they refused to handle what has come to be called "hot cargo"—that is freight handled by non-union longshoremen or non-union manned ships. However, a meeting of the union was called for tomorrow to reconsider and it was believed certain the embargo on "hot cargo" would be lifted.

PLAN $45,000 BUILDING FOR WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 21.—Preliminary plans for a new school building for Westminster school district to replace the earthquake-wrecked building, were considered at a meeting held Thursday afternoon by the local school board with Allison and Allison, Los Angeles architects, who submitted the plans for inspection. In the new program found necessary with the ruling of the state that the old building cannot be remodeled and still pass state inspection.

The preliminary plans as submitted are for a one story all frame building of sufficient capacity to house all grades of the school under one roof. The approximate dimensions are 56 by 136 feet with one corridor 130 feet in length dividing the building which would approximate a cost of $45,000. Of this, $41,000 would be for the building itself with about $4,000 going to architects and for other expense. Combined class rooms and auditorium are featured.

It was reported by the architect that approximately $6,000 worth of materials can be salvaged from the old building for use in the new one.

An application for SERRA labor for the tearing down of the old building has been made.

Sixty different bird families have been counted in Louisiana by the state department of conservation.

7 DEFENDANTS IN CRIMINAL COURT SESSION

P. N. Dossett, charged with non-support of his minor children, was placed on probation by Superior Judge J. O. Moncur yesterday afternoon for a period of one year, the sentence to be suspended when Dossett gets employment after which he must pay not less than $17.50 per month for support of the children.

While serving his sentence he is to work at Irvine park, his family to be paid $1 per day by the county for his work.

Jose Hernandez was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail as a condition of one year's probation in connection with a charge of drunk driving on Stanton avenue June 15.

George W. Buck was placed on probation for three years in connection with a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary, committed at the G. C. Spray home on Holt avenue, near Tustin, July 3. He must serve two months in the county jail, and work in the county hospital laundry or at Irvine park.

Pete Alvarez of Placentia, who was released from jail two months ago, after serving 10 months of a year's sentence for burglary, was ordered to go back to jail and serve the other two months when Superior Judge Moncur received a report that he had violated probation by getting drunk. Probation, which would have been completed today, was not revoked.

Dominga Mendoza pleaded not guilty to drunk driving at La Habra July 14, his trial being set for August 15.

A. N. Smith, pleading guilty to second degree burglary, asked for probation. His hearing was set for August 3.

Ventura Terrons, charged with drunk driving July 15 on North Tustin street, pleaded guilty and applied for probation, hearing being set for July 27.

They included Pat Chambers, organizer for the cannery and agricultural workers' union, who fomented widespread strikes in San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys; pretty Caroline Decker, secretary of the union; Albert Hourgard, Communist candidate for Congress; Martin Wilson, Sacramento representative for the International Labor Defense league. They will be charged with criminal syndicalism or vagrancy.

Portland—40 men and women.

Seattle—30 men and women.

San Pedro—19 men, six of them taken in a new raid on waterfront Communist headquarters.

Four men and two pretty girls were released.

San Jose—Five men. Thirteen others figured in the first triple play by vigilantes. They were run out of Santa Clara county by a citizens' group, chased through San Benito county by officers, held overnight at Salinas in Monterey county, and were to be shovelled over the line to San Luis Obispo county today. They were expected to reach the Mexican border in several days.

Oakland—10 men, accused of hoarding pick-handles.

Richmond, Alameda and Berkeley—a dozen men.

Activity Lessens

Vigilante activity in San Francisco lessened somewhat after "mysterious" burning of the Triangle Press, which had printed the Communist party organ, the Western Worker. The Western Worker offices had been wrecked earlier by brawny union teamsters armed with hatchets and bricks.

Windows in residences of 50 Berkeley families believed by other citizens to be communist sympathizers were shattered by bricks. To each brick was attached a note which read:

"This citizens' committee is aware that you are affiliated with communists, bolsheviks or other government-destroying groups. Leave town immediately or face drastic measures."

Mayor William McCracken of Oakland commended courage of police and American Legion men and announced citizens' emergency groups will continue "watchful waiting." Citizens thereafter banded in caravans and wrecked meeting halls at 1819 Tenth street and 2600 San Pablo avenue.

Governor Merriam, who had charged that 1200 communists fomented San Francisco's general strike, said he would not sanction raids by civilians although he dislikes communists.

The Sacramento raids cleaned out three communist meeting places. Three truckloads of equipment and propaganda were seized.

Sacramento and Fresno city authorities forbade speakers use of the public parks. Fifteen Sacramento business men organized a "red-hunting" committee to aid established authorities.

All in all, it is the greatest campaign against agitators since the L. W. W. hunts of the World war period.

THREE-WHEELED "CAR OF FUTURE"

Resembling a whale out of water, here you see the Dymaxion, a three-wheeled vehicle being manufactured at Bridgeport, Conn., as "the car of the future." The invention of Buckminster Fuller, the super-streamlined model has two front wheels set midway in the ovaloid body and one rear wheel, set in the tail, which does the steering, rudder-fashion. It uses little gasoline, but can travel 125 miles an hour.

which placed Olson in his office. Army coats stood in rows under the crystal chandeliers of the hotel's ballroom and the crowds of overalls men, conspicuously ill at ease in the strange atmosphere of luxury, politics and excitement, grew as the hour for assembly of the legislature approached.

Olson, his feet cocked on Langer's walnut desk in the capitol and perspiration trickling into a handkerchief knotted around his neck, fought a quieter but just as effective battle.

Through three days of the most feverish political action ever seen in this ballroom of strange politics he frankly has schemed and conspired to keep a majority of the state's legislators out of Minneapolis.

Cries in the house that he was attempting to become a "dictator" bothered him not a whit.

"The governor of this state—

that's me—didn't call this session of the legislature," he explained. "It's meeting is just a bit of politics, aimed at getting me out of here. It seems to me like it's my duty to defeat it."

Langer, renominated on the Republican ticket despite his conviction 10 days before the primary of extorting political contributions from federal employees, opened his campaign for re-election yesterday.

"I'm not convicted of any crime until the United States supreme court refuses my appeal," he said. "And I'm asking re-election to show that the people of North Dakota recognize this as political persecution."

Langer chuckled and refused to answer when asked whether he planned to address the legislature. "I called it as governor," he said. "By right, I'm still governor. Maybe I will, at that."

GEORGE GREEL IS BACKED BY HUGH JOHNSON

administration's friendly attitude toward Senator Johnson already is well known.

Gen. Johnson did not mention Upton Sinclair, former Socialist who is one of those seeking the Democratic nomination, in his speech at Hollywood Bowl, or over a national radio hookup. But in a press conference later, when he was asked a direct question, Gen. Johnson said frankly:

"I am not for Upton Sinclair." He refused to amplify that statement except to declare that he was not speaking for the national administration. "I am speaking for myself alone," said the New Deal leader. "I am not a member of the administration. I am only working for them."

"If I was a spokesman for the administration," he exclaimed, "we would be in a war with Germany, Russia and Japan this very night! I'd have them in hot water all the time!"

In introducing Gen. Johnson to a radio audience a little earlier in the day, however, William Gibbs McAdoo, junior United States Senator from California, had referred to him as "one of the outstanding intellectuals of the administration."

Urging that "subversive elements be driven out of the ranks of union labor like rats," Johnson lauded the work of "true labor leaders" in ending the San Francisco general strike.

Johnson's bias at martial law was in reference to the Oregon situation. He reaffirmed his statement that the strike should be in the hands of the president's moderation committee.

The general strike, he said, was a tyranny that cannot be tolerated for a minute by free people.

CARRIER BOYS HAVE BIG TIME ON FISH BARGE

Yesterday was appropriately observed as fish day in Santa Ana and Orange county, after 50 happy Register carrier boys returned from Newport Beach loaded down with fish caught from the California fishing barge.

The fishing trip was offered by Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin as a reward to each carrier who secured two new two-month subscriptions to the paper. In less than a week, 50 of the carriers earned their trip and were taken to the barge bright and early yesterday morning.

Charles Reither and Ed Cunningham are still disputing who caught the largest fish while William Huscroft of Orange and Leslie Christianson of Garden Grove had the largest catches. The catches ranged from 5 to 50 fish and included halibut, barracuda, mackerel, bonito and calico bass. None of the boys were seasick on the trip and enjoyed the picnic lunch served at noon.

Circulation department officials who assumed charge of the boys on the trip included Abe Berg-servier, Ernest Adkinson, E. W. Lashy and Robert Biles.

MITTMAN FUNERAL TO BE ON MONDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Mittman, 52, Buena Park, victim of an automobile crash last Thursday will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the Evangelical church with the Hilgenfeld funeral home in charge. The Rev. P. E. Schrader will officiate assisted by the Rev. E. E. Burgi.

At the inquest yesterday afternoon, a verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury. Those to testify included Mrs. Beatrice Thaton, 42, Fullerton, driver of the car which collided with the one driven by Mrs. Mittman; William Thaton, who was slightly hurt in the wreck; California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge; and J. P. Lookado, who was in a nearby orchard at the time of the wreck.

Mrs. Mittman is survived by her husband, the Rev. William A. Mittman, of Buena Park; one son, Albert O. Mittman, of Buena Park; three brothers, William Rohrs, of Santa Ana, Otto Rohrs, of Oro-si, California, and Albert Rohrs, of Los Angeles; and one sister, Mrs. P. A. Fellbauer, of Santa Ana.

The death of Mrs. Mittman was the twenty-ninth in Orange county this year from automobile wrecks.

Local Briefs

Fred Forgy, well-known Santa Ana attorney, will be confined to his home at 2428 Oakmont avenue for several weeks from a severe back injury suffered when a shutter fell on him while he was making repairs on his cabin near the south fork of the Santa Ana river.

Arrest Motorist On Hit, Run Count

Charged with reckless driving and failure to stop and render aid, Duke Fishman, Altadena, was arrested in Newport last night after his car had crashed into a coupe belonging to J. P. Searles, 281 West Central, Newport.

Police asserted that after the crash, which occurred before the O'Howell garage on Central avenue, Fishman failed to stop. He was pursued by Bob Powers and Searles, and forced to stop a few blocks further on. No one was hurt in the crash.

CASPARI FACES JURY TRIAL ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Winding up the police court trials of defendants arrested in a wholesale raid of liquor establishments in May, Alvin M. Caspari, proprietor of the Hof Brau cafe, will go on trial before a jury next Thursday and Vern Speich and Charles Clark, proprietor of the Charlie's Barn cafe, will be tried on Tuesday, July 31.

All the defendants are charged with operating and maintaining a public barroom, saloon and other drinking places. Caspari had similar charges dismissed Thursday by Judge John Landell of San Juan Capistrano but was immediately faced with a new complaint concerning the same offense on other dates. Caspari was arraigned yesterday, pleaded not guilty, posted a $200 bond and asked for a jury trial, which was set for Thursday.

The Barn trial was originally set for Tuesday but was continued today on motion of Defense Counsel Alex Nelson, who said he had a court date in Los Angeles Tuesday. Speich and Clark were tried on the same charge but the jury disagreed and was dismissed, after which City Attorney Clyde Downing asked for a retrial. Nelson is defense counsel in both cases.

EDISON COMPANY WOMEN WINNERS OF ACTIVITY AWARD

Second place in the judging of the annual "year books" which comprise resumes of the activities of the various women's committees of the Southern California Edison throughout the past year, has been awarded to the committee of the Santa Ana Division.

This word, very gratifying to members of the local Women's Committee with members in Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Balboa, and Fullerton, has been received from the general offices of the Edison company in Los Angeles. The Santa Ana division, one of eleven in the Edison system, was organized last September.

First prize in the competition went to the San Joaquin division. Officers of the local committee for the year were Anne Glatzbaeh, chairman; Thelma Jane Leonard, secretary; Sarah Elizabeth Millen, treasurer; and Mary Jo Herman, librarian. Regular monthly meetings of the committee will be resumed in September.

EGG MARKETING AGREEMENT IS ADOPTED HERE

Report on disease conditions of poultry, marketing agreements, and general poultry conditions in the state were received by the Seven Southern Counties Farm Bureau Poultrymen's association at their regular quarterly meeting yesterday in James' Cafe.

Principal business under consideration was the egg marketing agreement that has been formulated in conjunction with the Los Angeles produce market. The agreement was completed and sent to Washington for consideration by the A. A. A.

Mrs. E. Irene Anderson, of Corona, chairman of the association, appointed a committee to formulate an agreement on the marketing of poultry meats.

There were also reports from the pathological department on poultry disease conditions in the state, and a talk by W. E. New-lon, extension specialist from the University of California on general poultry conditions in the state. He predicted that, because there are fewer pullets than ever before, egg prices would be much higher in the fall.

CRUELTY COUNT AGAINST ROSS IS DISMISSED

With the jury unable to agree after four and a half hours of deliberation, the case against Dr. W. J. Ross, head of the Ross dog and cat food factory at Los Alamitos, was dismissed in Seal Beach justice court late last night.

Dr. Ross, with his nephew, Glenn Ross, was charged with cruelty to animals in complaints signed by Fred H. Bixby, rancher, and E. J. Lee, state humane officer. The jury was sent out at 7 o'clock last night after a trial which lasted for more than two days. It was understood that the jury stood seven to five for acquittal when the report was made at 11:30 p. m. yesterday that the jury could not agree.

Dr. Ross, on the witness stand yesterday afternoon, refuted statements by other witnesses that books had been sunk into living horses as they were dragged from a crowded corral or that the animals were diseased. He said he had been a veterinarian for many years and knew how to take care of animals.

Glenn Ross gave testimony similar to that given by Dr. Ross.

SUCCESSOR TO JOE SMITH IS RECOMMENDED

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—J. Mortimer Clark of Long Beach has been recommended by the California Real Estate association to succeed Joseph P. Smith, of Santa Ana, as state real estate commissioner. It became known today in an announcement from the office of Robert A. Swink, president of the association.

The action by the realty directors was taken after it became known that Governor Merriam contemplated a change in the state office, to which Smith was appointed upon the election of Governor Rolph. The realty men's choice has been made known to Governor Merriam and Clark's appointment is expected in the near future.

Clark has been identified with the real estate business for many years. He has served as president of the Long Beach Realty board, director and vice president of the state association, and for some time past has been chairman of the state legislative and license law committee.

GROUP TO BE ENTERTAINED

FULLERTON, July 21.—Mrs. Ida Compton of Pasadena will be hostess to members of the Past Noble Grand association of Fullerton Rebekah lodge at the meeting to be held Wednesday, July 25, at her home. The meeting will open with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Sulzer was one of three Negroes arrested on the whiskey charge. D. J. Wallace pleaded guilty and will conclude a 90 day sentence on the charge on August 4. Harry Evans was released when it was shown that he was an employee of Wallace.

CAFE OWNER IS CONVICTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Unable to post a $500 appeal bond following her conviction by a jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of selling whiskey without a license and not in the original containers, Mrs. Julia Sulzer, 40, colored, 1907 West Fifth street, was still in the county jail today.

A jury found Mrs. Sulzer guilty in less than 30 minutes. Judge J. G. Mitchell imposed a sentence of a $300 fine or 150 days in jail and exonerated the $500 bond which she posted at the time of her original arrest in May. Attorney Harry O. Warton of Anaheim then gave oral notice of appeal but had not posted satisfactory bond of $300 before 8:40 p. m., when Mrs. Sulzer was taken to jail.

Warton based his defense for Mrs. Sulzer on her statements that she had never seen the special police investigators, had not served them a meal or whiskey, and had not moved into a house at 1907 West Fifth street at the time of the alleged law violation on April 25, as charged by the investigators. She also claimed that court attendants or "someone" had changed the date on the original complaint from April 17 to 25 during the time she was originally arraigned and appeared with her lawyer.

During the afternoon session yesterday, City Attorney Clyde Downing called Harry Hayes, city water department manager to the stand to testify that although Mrs. Sulzer claimed the house was unoccupied and unfinished from January to May 1, the water department had turned on the water during January and water bills had been paid monthly during that period. Investigator J. N. Hornan was recalled to the stand and pointed out that although the electricity was not turned on at the time the investigation was made, all lamps were being used.

In his closing arguments, Downing claimed that the "preposterous contention" of Mrs. Sulzer that the court papers had been tampered with was enough to cast suspicion on her entire testimony and prove she was not telling the truth.

Mrs. Sulzer was one of three Negroes arrested on the whiskey

Visitor At Beach Dies At Hospital

Funeral arrangements will be made in Pasadena for Miss Joyce Cutler, 15, 2124 Carvey street, Pasadena who passed away Thursday in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, it was learned here today. The girl had been visiting in Newport Beach for her health following an extended illness, and was brought to the hospital only a few hours before her death.

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

Bringing the total of traffic fatalities in Orange county this year to 30, Mrs. Clara Swope, 52, of Los Angeles, passed away at the Orange County hospital last night from injuries received in an automobile accident near Brea on July 10. There were 24 deaths at this time last year.

Mrs. Swope was riding in a car driven by Mrs. Nora Strong, 42, 217 Eighty-eighth street, Los Angeles, when the front wheels locked and the car overturned on the Brea canyon road about two miles north of Brea, according to traffic reports. Mrs. Swope was crushed under the car and her daughter, Mrs. Milla Fuller, 24, also of Los Angeles, was injured. The accident victim has remained in a critical condition in the hospital since the wreck.

The body has been removed to the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, where an inquest will be held Monday at 3:30 p. m. by Coroner Earl Abbey. The victim is survived by two sons, David and Donald Swope; four daughters, Mrs. Milla Fuller, Miss Eleanor and Nellie Swope, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mildred Millock of Victorville; and one brother, Charles Rooney, of Lodi.

charge. D. J. Wallace pleaded guilty and will conclude a 90 day sentence on the charge on August 4. Harry Evans was released when it was shown that he was an employee of Wallace.

CITY NAMED IN DAMAGE SUIT ASKING $55,000

Damages aggregating $55,000 were demanded in two suits filed today in superior court against the City of Santa Ana, as the result of an accident March 30 in which Jackie Pemberton, 6, son of Donald W. Pemberton, was run over by a city water truck and tank.

Roger Dunning, city employee who was driving the truck at the time, was named as a co-defendant with the city in the damage actions, which were filed through the firm of Head, Wellington and Jacobs.

The sum of $50,000 was asked in one suit on behalf of the boy, whose right leg, foot and ankle were crushed under the wheels of the truck, permanently disabling him, it was alleged. In the other suit, Donald Pemberton asked $5000 damages to cover past and expected future medical expenses for his son.

The accident took place in the 1200 block on West Fourth street.

Rob Garage After Entry by Skylight

Skylight thieves broke into the Hogland and Dohn garage at 605 West Fifth street last night and stole $3 in cash from the office desk, it was reported to police today.

It is believed that two men climbed up a billboard to the roof and took out a section of glass from the skylight to gain entrance to the building. Since it is a 20-foot drop to the floor, one of the men would have been forced to hold the rope, police pointed out. After ransacking the office, the thieves left by a rear door, leaving it unlocked, it was found.

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

(Paul Mallon, whose signature usually appears over this dispatch, is on a brief vacation. Durkin's absence the column will be composed of contributions from leading Washington correspondents.)

SOON OVER

When, in the first week of last March, it was announced that Richard Washburn Child had been named special advisor to the Secretary of State, there was considerable mystification over the appointment and speculation as to why it had been made.

As far as any one knew, Mr. Child had no special claims upon the Administration and, in some respects, quite the contrary was true. He had been in the Diplomatic Service before, as Ambassador to Italy, but, previous to being named for this new post, he had been writing articles for the Administration and, in some respects, quite the contrary was true. He had been in the Diplomatic Service before, as Ambassador to Italy, but, previous to being named for this new post, he had been writing articles for the Administration and, in some respects, quite the contrary was true.

As special advisor to the Secretary of State, it was stated that Mr. Child would attend the sessions of the London Economic Conference, that he would travel in Europe to study and report on the present and prospective state of the economic situation there with special reference to the resolutions of the Economic Conference which had been passed or were pending. He was to have the rank of Ambassador and draw the Ambassadorial salary of $17,500.

Mr. Child's appointment was announced on March 5 and now, just about four months later, he is back in this country. And the mystery of his original appointment is only deeper because he is again writing articles for publication which point out faults and fallacies in the program of the Administration in which he has just served. At the State Department, it is said that Mr. Child is no longer connected with the Diplomatic Service. It would be somewhat incongruous if he were because one of his latest articles is devoted to telling the political opponents of the Administration how to embarrass it and hamper its proposals. As to Mr. Child's brief career under the New Deal, it is being asked: "If it was to be so soon done for, what was it begun for?"

DON'T CLICK

A certain incongruity exists in the roles being played at the moment by General Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator. In San Francisco, he is appearing, either by invitation or by intrusion as mediator in the strike. As such, he is expected to maintain an impartial attitude between employers and employed, between Companies and Unions. While this is his status in San Francisco, in Washington he is being publicly denounced as a foe of Unions and Labor. As a result of the Donovan incident, the Department of Commerce building, housing the NRA, is being picketed and, at the lunch hour and closing time, marchers walk around the building bearing placards reading: "Chrysler No. 1 Johnson," "Johnson a Sell-out."

VOICES STILLED

Absence of the president from Washington and the usual summer doldrums have put an end for the time being to what, earlier in the season, was one of the Capital's most flourishing industries. Before this lull set in, an activity with which politically-minded society people were busily occupied was trying to get another well known woman into the diplomatic service. The ice having been broken with the naming of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen as Minister to Denmark, it was thought by promoters of women's rights and privileges that the example should be followed up.

Specifically, the friends of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman believed that

COUNTRY DOCTOR

IS HERO OF FILM

COMING TO STATE

A familiar American type whose record of service to humanity is recognized by all is the role played by Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey," the story of the trials, tribulations and successes of the country doctor.

This screen play comes to Walker's State theater on a double bill including "Devil Tiger" for a two day showing next Wednesday.

Barrymore is seen as the humble, plodding healer who turns down many opportunities for more tangible evidences of success to serve the simple country folk who have come to depend upon him. The climax shows the self-regarded "failure" winning a battle with death where science has failed and receiving the recognition which comes to the outstanding achievement.

Others in the cast are May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee.

"Devil Tiger" is an unusual jungle film, being the record of a production made in the actual Malay jungle after an expedition that spent nearly a year close to the wild beasts in the wilds. Outstanding sequences include a fight between a tiger and a crocodile, a python and a leopard in a struggle to the finish; the conquest of a python by a water buffalo. The climax is the attack upon the intrepid group by a man-eating tiger.

A merry melody cartoon, "Sittin' on the Backyard Fence," is included on the mid-week program.

BY WESTERN AUTO

Of particular interest to automobile owners of the West is the Western Auto Supply company's recent announcement of a new improved Western Giant Super Whiplcord tire at sharply reduced prices, as well as the new all road hazard guarantee certificate which accompanies every Western Auto tire, according to Jack Campbell, local manager of the firm.

"Three years ago, Western Auto saw in the trend of automotive transportation the need for a tire that will withstand greater speed, more revolutions, to smile in smaller diameter wheels, and quicker stopping," the manager asserted. "After months of experiments and tests, we introduced the Western Giant Whiplcord to tire buyers of the West, and it has since proved its merit on highways and speedways, boulevards and mountain roads. This tire was three years ahead of the industry."

"And now Western Auto strides to even greater progress in the new 1934 Super Whiplcord tire. Our tire engineers were instructed to keep ahead of the parade. And they developed a new rubber for the tread and sidewalls, a wider and deeper tread was designed and new carcass improvements were made, producing an entirely new tire."

tion as in the case of air mail contracts—but that wouldn't be a very healthy way to protect their future interests.

Those who should know say that Jim Farley has a deep personal interest in the matter. It's an important part of his strenuous drive to get the Post Office out of the red.

SILVER

The Treasury has quietly slackened its silver-buying campaign. Official purchases in the last two weeks have been very small. New York sharps figure it's a question of conserving silver when a rise in the silver price will mean more politically.

Financial sources say that the Treasury's New York agent for silver purchases isn't sitting so pretty. It carried out the assignment too enthusiastically to suit Mr. Morgenthau.

DELISTED

A number of foreign security issues are due to disappear from the New York Stock Exchange rolls around the first of October.

It appears that many foreign governments and corporations are irked by the idea of having to register with an American commission and will refuse to comply with that provision of the Securities Exchange Act. The Exchange will have to delist the stubborn ones when the act goes into effect.

OPTIMISM

Though they say their worst enemies couldn't have written anything more damaging than the Air Mail Act the airlines can still believe Congress will give them candy. The reason now is a resolution suspending until February the ban on multiple routes—of which all the major companies have plenty. The lines say that proves the next Congress will relent and not take them apart after all.

SIDE LIGHTS

San Francisco's general strike gave United Air Lines an unexpected traffic boost -- of correspondents being rushed to the "war zone" . . . U. S. Smelt-ling's earnings may reach twenty dollars a share this year as against $6.67 in 1933 . . . Some brokers are fostering business in Shanghai bonds . . . They benefit from the rise in silver and profits are not subject to the 60 per cent tax.

JUNE MARKET FOR ORANGES MUCH BETTER

California orange shipments have been heavy and the orange market in June was more satisfactory from every standpoint than in any month for more than two years, according to a story printed in The Sunbelt Courier for August from the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

The article says: "The orange market in June was more satisfactory from every standpoint than in any month for more than two years. California shipments and sales were heavy but well distributed through the operation of the California-Arizona marketing agreement, and returns were very satisfactory."

"More California oranges were shipped in June (6482 cars) than in any preceding June with the sole exception of 1929, and in for more than in any other month for more than two years. Volume of Florida shipments was not sufficiently heavy to affect the market materially. This was in direct contrast to June a year ago, when the supply from Florida was very heavy."

"The month's f. o. b. average per packed box on Exchange fruit was higher than in four of the past five years, being $1.00 per box higher than in May, $1.57 higher than in June, 1933, $1.38 higher than in 1932, $1.13 higher than in 1931."

GOODYEAR FACTORY ON 24 HOUR BASIS

Factories of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company are running night and day, six days a week, with four six-hour shifts, making the new G-3 tire, latest addition to the automobile tire field, according to W. T. Sabelle, Goodyear dealer at First and Spurgeon streets.

Goodyear dealers in all sections report material sales increases since the advent of the new tire. The tire, gives 43 per cent more non-skid mileage, with a flatter and thicker tread, wider riding ribs, more center traction and more no-skid blocks.

The Goodyear company has built 215,000,000 tires since its organization in 1938, millions more than by any other manufacturer, according to Sabelle. Of this enormous output, 56 per cent was built in the last seven years. Laid end to end, these tires would reach more than 100,000 miles, or four times around the equator.

Fruit Practice In Producing Color Not To Be Banned

The ethylene process of treating citrus fruit to remove the green color (chlorophyll) before shipment, does not come under the pure food act regulations regarding the artificial coloring of fruit, and there will be no change in the policy of years' standing by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to a ruling just announced by Secretary H. A. Wallace.

The ruling was made when the question was raised as to the ethylene process constituting artificial coloring, that would require labeling of such fact on the fruit. The ethylene process, Secretary Wallace ruled, "does not add any color not normal to the orange, but constitutes, in effect, a kind of bleaching process, causing the green color to disappear, and unmasking the natural yellow to red pigments already present." It was compared to the bleaching of celery stalks.

TURTLE CAPTURED BY POUNDMASTER

If someone were to define the duties of a poundmaster, it is doubtful if catching turtles would be included. That task came to light yesterday, however, when Poundmaster Harold Pickering was asked by police to go to the home of Mrs. Mildred Anderson, 908 Cypress avenue, and impound a large turtle that was making a nuisance of itself.

The controversy started when a neighbor notified police that a roaming turtle was playing havoc with flower beds and shrubs. When police told Mrs. Anderson that it was against city regulations to keep roving turtles, she replied that the animal, which is 12 inches long, had been found by her house. Besides, she didn't want it, anyway, she told officers. So Pickering went out, picked up the turtle and is probably wondering if it will make good soup.

FULLERTON, July 21.—H. E. Marsh, well-known Orange county avocado grower and nurseryman, this week was selected by Fullerton-Anaheim-Yorba Linda members of the Calavo Growers Exchange to represent them on the directorate of the rapidly growing growers' marketing cooperative.

Mr. Marsh has a nursery and grove at Yorba Linda and resides in La Habra. George B. Hodgkin, manager of the growers' exchange, stated that although growers' marketing costs has been cut in half under those of just a year ago, prospects now appear that next season's costs may even be cut nearly in half of the present low marketing costs. This will be due to the large crop and to increased efficiency, he said. On the other hand, non-cooperative growers' costs will mount, because of the necessity of doing more packing and shipping to eastern markets, he stated. A large sign-up is now taking place throughout Southern California, it was declared.

PYORRHEA

This very unpleasant affliction is just about as bad as its full name, Pyorrhea Alveolaris, literally translated, pus in the tooth socket. It is caused by any irritation of the delicate membrane surrounding the tooth root; fillings or crowns which are not properly fitted at the base or gum-line; teeth which are irregular and receive undue strain from poor articulation with the teeth of the opposite jaw, and from the commonly called tartar, or salivary calculus, a lime-deposit from the saliva which forms around the necks of the teeth. The last named is probably the most common of all causes.

The early stages of Pyorrhea are marked by tender, bleeding gums, evidenced by the so-called "pink-tooth brush." If neglected the teeth become loose, due to the destruction of the periodontal membrane and the surrounding bone, pus is formed and exudes into the mouth.

If taken in the first stages pyorrhea is curable, but even then it requires constant care of the patient and dentist to prevent recurrence.

By HARRY GRAYSON

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane was mightily proud of Cavalcade when that great old added the Arlington Classic Stakes to his mounting chain—one that includes the Kentucky, American, and Detroit Derbies. But there were several "owners" of Cavalcade who were immeasurably more vociferous concerning the matter than Mrs. Sloane.

As Cavalcade swung into the back stretch ahead of no horse save his stablemate, Good Goods, half a dozen stable boys—owners everyone in a horse which was momentarily sick about the gills. And then, as the Derby winner began to move up, the whole group literally exploded in glee. "Hah he come! Hah he come!" they yelled. "Gangway ole Discovery. Brown horse burn up that ole stretch!"

And when the thoroughbreds had crossed the finish line, half a dozen dusky sons of Africa dashed across the track to welcome back the dark brown son of the English Lancelotti.

"COME ON, SARATOGA!"

"What'd he do? What'd he do?" they shouted the crowd, chanted. It back and forth until the crowd caught it up, echoing it back to them. The official time was posted: 1:52 4-5, only a second off Sun Breaux's track record. Last, dark boys and white shouldered the figures proudly, as 30,000 spectators cheered the well-mannered 2-year-old.

"Boy, git ready wid dat sheet!" "Looky old stretch burner nod dat haid. He know he give Discovery another beating." No happier stable boys in America. To them "Brookmeade Stable" means more than a name of course for Mrs. Sloane's string. It means Cavalcade, and the glory of feeding, rubbing, bedding and handling a champion.

Proudly, reverently, they led Cavalcade away, repeating their exultant chant. "Come on, Saratoga! Give ole Discovery another dose of stretch burning!"

DISCOVERY ALSO WAITS And in the stable of Alfred Gwynne Vandebell, a groomer who knows no defeat, even as his dandified Discovery continues to wage a losing fight against the Champion, another group of stable boys, less happy, but undyingly still, also wait for Saratoga.

They remember that the Spa traditionally is the downfall of champions, that Reigh Count and Gallant Fox there met defeat, and that there a maiden bested Mate, a horse fresh from outrunning Twenty Grand in the Classic Stakes. They, too, are waiting for Saratoga, and another chance at the "stretch burner."

But the Arlington Classic also was supposed to be a hoodoo to favorites, with Gallant Fox the only one of them to get there first in past years.

Cavalcade, with $126,965 to his credit, probably would have had a clean sweep this year had Mack Garner urged him a second sooner in the Preakness, in which he was noosed out by his running mate, High Quest.

It takes more than a flax to trim a stayer with the powerful hind legs of Cavalcade.

TERRY WARY OF GIANT HURLERS

Least Signs of Weakness Enough Excuse For Change

CRITICS RESPECT HIS JUDGMENT

BY HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Service Sports Editor) NEW YORK, July 21.—When William Harold Terry shook off his astonishment after being named manager of the New York Giants to succeed the great John J. McGraw in mid-season, 1932, he remarked:

"The trick of managing a ball club is to know when to change pitchers."

Based on his two-year record, no pilot ever excelled Terry in this respect. "Memphis Bill" has been a Houdini in the handling of hurlers. In writing the story of the Giants' rise from sixth place in 1932 to a National-league pennant and world championship in 1933 and their persistency of 1934, one would have to list Terry's uncanny judgment as reason No. 1, yanking bowlers as reason No. 2.

A base on balls and a single for the opposition in a tight spot is a rally to Terry.

He simply ankles over to the bowler in the box, and says, "You'd better get out of here before somebody gets killed."

It makes no difference whether the chucker is the great Hubbell, young Schumacher, Fitzsimmons, Parmelee, the veteran Luque, or the recruit, Bowman.

Out he goes! Terry jerked Hubbell in a late inning and at a time when he enjoyed a seven-run lead against the lowly Phils last season.

"Why, in the name of A. G. Spalding did you use the hook on Carlos?" asked a veteran baseball reporter, when the last shot had been fired.

Terry's reply was classical. It would be well for wishy-washy, hesitating managers to have it printed in 72 point ultra Bodoni caps, and posted in the clubhouse. "The time to win a ball game is when you have it won," replied the New York strategist.

No other club in baseball today is managed quite as well as the Giants. It is the best trained outfit in the game. "Keep trying," Terry tells his athletes at the start of a campaign. "Try not to make mistakes. Baseball is like ping pong. If we stick in there long enough, the other side will kick one. Something will happen, and we'll win—and it does! Day in and day out, it does!"

A Giant seldom does anything wrong. You never see a New York infielder throwing the ball into the dugout.

Terry's admiration for McGraw as a baseball man was reciprocated despite the fact that they disliked each other personally. McGraw always played the game hard. Terry's apparent nonchalance and love of money irked him.

But the beloved John J.'s bigness and discernment again was illustrated when he unhesitatingly recommended the big baritone as his successor. McGraw knew that Terry, a ball player's manager, wherein lies the secret of "Memphis Bill's" success. He's for the ball player first, last and all the while.

With all his ability—George Sisler considers him the finest first baseman in the sport—Terry is not fond of playing baseball. It is strictly a business proposition with him. He has a big executive's complex.

An outstanding player at the late age of 35, Terry is eager to get out of uniform. He longs to order other people around in store clothes, like McGraw. This is not a new whim with him. McGraw had to play with him. McGraw had to play with him. McGraw had to play with him.

Terry has much ability outside of baseball. He is one of the wealthiest of players, having profitable connections in oil, and conducting a string of stations in and around Memphis.

That's the way it usually goes. Those that have it don't care about it.

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(UP)—William Hickman Pickens, 60, nationally known sports promoter, died last night from a heart attack which followed amputation of an infected leg.

Pickens is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lottie Pickens, a daughter, Charlotte, and a son, William Jr.

TRAVEL DISASTROUS FOR EASTERN CLUBS The current regatta of Eastern American league clubs into the West is meeting with about as much success as a Republican political campaign in Mississippi.

The East reached a new low in games lost yesterday. A few club but the Philadelphia Athletics were beaten. Eastern clubs have won only 8 games in 28 starts against the three leading western clubs—Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis—in the current swing through the midland.

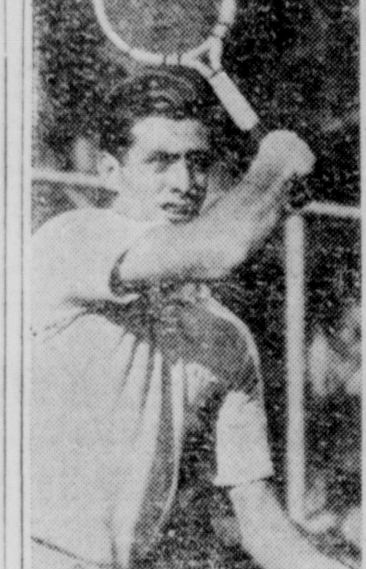

The Giants added a half-game to their lead over the Chicago Cubs, who were routed out in Philadelphia. Cincinnati took an early lead, but the Giants lashed the Redlegs for seven hits and seven runs in one inning winning 11-5.

SHIELDS, WOOD BOTH BEATEN

YANKEE HOPES FOR DAVIS CUP TRIUMPH FALL

LOSER, WINNER

America's hope for a Davis Cup victory were virtually shattered today when Frank Shields, above, lost to Jack Crawford of Australia, below, and Sidney Wood was defeated by Vivian McGrath.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 21.—(UP)—America's chances of reaching the challenge round of the Davis Cup all but evaporated today when Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath of Australia captured the opening singles matches.

Playing the interzone final between Australia and the United States, Crawford defeated Frank Shields of New York, 6-1, 6-2, 12-10, and McGrath downed Sidney B. Wood Jr., also of New York, 7-5, 6-4, 1-6, 9-7.

The outcome of the day's play constituted a cruel disappointment to the American forces led by R. Norris (Dick) Williams, non-playing captain.

While Crawford had been expected to defeat Shields, they hoped (and believed) Wood would prevail over the youthful McGrath.

Now the Americans face a staggering if not impossible assignment. They must win the one doubles match Monday and both of the two remaining singles matches Tuesday. Australia, of course, may win the tie on Monday, for the Aussies need only one victory out of the remaining three matches, to clinch the series and thus gain the right to meet England in the challenge round.

Both Shields and Wood put on rallies in the third sets but neither was wholly successful. Shields staged his in the set which required 22 games for the decision which went to Crawford. Wood played phenomenally in taking the third set from McGrath, 6-1, but in the other sets he was clearly outclassed by the Australian.

Crawford's game throughout constituted a grand exhibition of tennis. His placements were well high perfect.

Play will be omitted tomorrow. On Monday Crawford and Ardian Quist will play George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stofen of Los Angeles in the doubles. On Tuesday Wood will meet Crawford and Shields will play McGrath.

CLIMBING SERAPHS 2 GAMES FROM TOP The Angels are coming! In less than three weeks after their slump the club which won the first-half championship in the Pacific Coast league is driving toward the top again. Today Los Angeles is only two full games away.

The Angels moved into a tie for second place yesterday by scoring their fourth straight win over Portland while Hollywood was dividing a double-header with Oakland. San Francisco's Seals kept ahead of the rest of the pack by handing Seattle its fourth straight setback of the series.

With all his ability—George Sisler considers him the finest first baseman in the sport—Terry is not fond of playing baseball. It is strictly a business proposition with him. He has a big executive's complex.

An outstanding player at the late age of 35, Terry is eager to get out of uniform. He longs to order other people around in store clothes, like McGraw. This is not a new whim with him. McGraw had to play with him. McGraw had to play with him. McGraw had to play with him.

S. A. GIRL TO TEST SHOULDER AT SEABRIGHT

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana's luckless tennis star, will test her shoulder injury in practice at Philadelphia today and tomorrow—and her seasonal future probably depends on what happens.

Advised by specialists that her hurt is not necessarily serious, and certainly not permanent, Miss Cruickshank will engage in a long practice session before deciding whether to resume tournament competition this year. If her shoulder appears to be all right again, the Santa Ana intends to enter the Seabright singles event which starts Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, parents of the internationally ranked player who this year was picked for the U. S. Wightman Cup squad, received an air-mail letter from Miss Cruickshank today. The tennis star suffered the injury while warming up for her first match in the All-England championships at Wimbledon. Her only match abroad was in doubles in the Wightman Cup event.

Matches to be played during the third and final week of the annual Santa Ana round-robin singles championships were announced today.

Lewis Wetherell, virtually assured of his second city title, won a Class A match from Mildred Ward yesterday, 6-0, 6-0. Orris ("Slim") Davis was carried to three hard sets by Kenneth Ramsey, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5. Other results: Class B—Moore d. T. Willis, 6-2, 6-3; R. Willis d. Lewis, 8-6, 6-3; Class C—Dr. Coulson d. LA JOLLA, Calif., July 21.—(UP)—Seeded players went into the semi-finals of the 13th annual La Jolla net championships today with Dolf Muehlhausen of San Diego, defending tennis champion, leading the parade.

The champion downed Frank Westmuth of Hollywood, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, in the quarter-finals. Other victories included: Dr. Gerald Bartosh over Jack Kneemeyer, both of Los Angeles; Charles Oels, Stanford, over Bill Doeg, Santa Monica; Walter Thurman, San Diego, over Walter Blair, Corona.

Melva Roquet of Anaheim, registered an upset by eliminating Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica. In the women's singles, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

MILLER TOO GOOD FOR CLEVER SISON PISMO BEACH, July 21.—(UP)—Freddie Miller, 126, N. B. A. featherweight champion, today held an easy decision over Clever Sison, 128 1-2, in a non-title bout. Miller took eight rounds out of 10 in last night's fight.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE SEATTLE, Wash., July 21.—If you want to make $100—and we warn you it isn't an easy job—to find a pebble on the Longacre horse racing track here, Joe Hunter and Vic Owen of the Long Beach golf professionals except Jimmy Thompson of Lakewood, will participate in pro-amateur sweepstakes at the Huntington Beach municipal course Sunday, according to George Lake, manager.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(UP)—A fifth meeting between Tommy Loughran, veteran Philadelphia heavyweight, and Johnny Risko of Cleveland has been scheduled for the Freeport, L. I. arena August 1. Tommy has won three times and Risko once.

Stars Lose In 14th At Torrance, 6-5; Neva Brothers End Thriller

They almost had to call a night baseball game on account of lightning as Torrance and Santa Ana wrestled and wrangled 3 hours, and 14 long and exciting innings, before the Brothers Neva, Louis and Paul, finally collaborated in the production of a winning run at Torrance last night.

WESTMINSTER H. B. CAPTURE MOUND DUELS

Tuesday's Games Westminster at Santa Ana, Olive at Anaheim, Torrance at Fullerton, Long Beach at Huntington Beach.

Issuing a blanket warning that they are still contenders for the National Night league's second-half championship, Westminster's Aviators upset Anaheim, 3-2, at Anaheim last night.

After pushing around one run in the first inning and another in the third, Westminster made what proved to be its winning rally in the fourth when "Fuzzy" Errington singled to center, Leavitt Daley singled him to third, and "Doc" Smith bunted a hit down the third base line to score Errington.

Anahelm marked in the first and third, and threatened to tie the count in the last of the ninth with two out when Max Moody, a pinch-hitter, delivered a triple. Bushman, another pinch-hitter, lined to Urdine at first base for the third out.

The box score: Westminster Anaheim AB RH O Daley cf 4 1 0 McNabb 2b 4 0 0 Smith 2b 4 0 1 Lemon c 4 1 1 Kohler 3b 5 0 2 Norton cf 4 0 2 Nelson 1b 4 0 1 Ho'n 1b 4 0 0 Monterey lf 4 0 0 Wiseman lf 4 1 2 Hasserot ss 4 0 1 Sauer 3b 3 0 1 Urdine 1b 4 0 2 Cushing rf 3 0 0 Jones c 4 0 2 Bushman xx 1 0 Errington p 4 1 2 McDowell p 3 0 1

Torrance got off in front, scoring twice in the second inning. Forney singled infield, Fabregat beat out a bunt. Vonderhage laid another perfect bunt along the first base line and Forney scored all the way from second when Catcher Wilcox and Pitcher Coates let it roll, believing it would go foul. Fabregat pulled up at third, tailed on Moon's fly to Denney.

Santa Ana got to Neva in the fourth, making four runs, and leaving two more aboard. Forney started the rally with a walk. Daley sacrificed. Seare doubled to score Preble, and Young doubled to tally Sears with the tying run. Wilcox singled to center. Young scoring from second. Coates was safe when Outfielder "Red" Moon muffed his easy fly. Denney singled to left, scoring Wilcox. Coates hit a line drive right into Leonard's glove for a temporary life-saver to Neva, and Ballard grounded out.

Torrance made it 4-3 in the last of the fourth. Forney singled to shortstop, and got an extra base on Conrad's wild throw to first. A passed ball and Vonderhage's bunt brought Forney around.

Tallying all the way, Torrance finally tied it up in the eighth on Leonard's double to right and successive flies by Forney and Alvaro. The Stars thought they had the ball game won when they scored in the first of the ninth. Coates singled, took second on a wild pitch. Denney fanned, but Conrad's out put Coates on third, and the pitcher scored when Ballard crashed a line drive right back at Neva that caromed off his fingers into right field.

But Torrance kept coming up for more. The pesky Vonderhage bunted safely for an opener. Moon's lofty fly to left sent him sliding into second. McClure doubled off Conrad's fingers, and Vonderhage scored. Manager Bill Cole ordered Louie Neva passed purposely, and the strategy worked out when Paul Neva forced McClure at third and Leonard expired on strikes.

Torrance had luck as well as courage in the eleventh, when Wilcox, Coates and Denney hit safely to load the bases, with none out. Conrad forced Wilcox at home. Ballard followed with his shot. Over second, which the inspired Vonderhage pulled down with one hand. Then he stepped on second to double the startled Denney, who was trying for home. Ballard's blow was the hardest hit ball of the game.

Neither side threatened after that until the Brothers Neva got busy in the fourth. This was Santa Ana's second 6-5 defeat in extra innings at Torrance. The first time the clubs met there this term the Stars were noosed out in 13 innings by the same score.

BIG BAT BOOMS

A big bat swung by a mig, bad ball player from Washington is singing a sweet tune in the ears of Joe Cronin, Senators' pilot. The music comes from Heinie Manush, below, now leading all American league sluggers with an average of .398.

Torrance's triumph, scored only after the most courageous kind of an up-hill battle, outplayed the 1933 Southern California champions into first place in the National Night league, and definitely established the club as the one the boys will have to beat for the second-half tag.

Pitcher Louie Neva personally accounted for the deciding run. First up in the last of the fourth, Neva got his fifth hit of the game, a ground ball to center field which by fast legging he converted into a triple. Paul Neva then bounced to Santa Ana's shortstop, Francis Conrad, and Louie Neva beat home Conrad's desperate throw to the plate. Paul's blow was scored as a fielder's choice.

Bluebirds Get Breaks—Torrance got all the breaks—but earned them. The champions were groggy and reeling through much of the struggle, as good as licked three times, but they wouldn't stay down.

Perfectly placed bunts, three by Paul Vonderhage, a second baseman with a batting average of .137 for the season, really caused the Stars more concern than Neva's lousy triple that ended the match. Without them, Santa Ana would have won in regulation.

Vonderhage also saved the Stars from "Fuzzy" Errington, rated just an average fielder. Vonderhage made a brilliant catch of Rod Ballard's terrific line drive over second base and turned into a sparkling double play what appeared to be a cinch two-bagger. The bases were full at the time.

Torrance got off in front, scoring twice in the second inning. Forney singled infield, Fabregat beat out a bunt. Vonderhage laid another perfect bunt along the first base line and Forney scored all the way from second when Catcher Wilcox and Pitcher Coates let it roll, believing it would go foul. Fabregat pulled up at third, tailed on Moon's fly to Denney.

Santa Ana got to Neva in the fourth, making four runs, and leaving two more aboard. Forney started the rally with a walk. Daley sacrificed. Seare doubled to score Preble, and Young doubled to tally Sears with the tying run. Wilcox singled to center. Young scoring from second. Coates was safe when Outfielder "Red" Moon muffed his easy fly. Denney singled to left, scoring Wilcox. Coates hit a line drive right into Leonard's glove for a temporary life-saver to Neva, and Ballard grounded out.

Torrance made it 4-3 in the last of the fourth. Forney singled to shortstop, and got an extra base on Conrad's wild throw to first. A passed ball and Vonderhage's bunt brought Forney around.

Tallying all the way, Torrance finally tied it up in the eighth on Leonard's double to right and successive flies by Forney and Alvaro. The Stars thought they had the ball game won when they scored in the first of the ninth. Coates singled, took second on a wild pitch. Denney fanned, but Conrad's out put Coates on third, and the pitcher scored when Ballard crashed a line drive right back at Neva that caromed off his fingers into right field.

But Torrance kept coming up for more. The pesky Vonderhage bunted safely for an opener. Moon's lofty fly to left sent him sliding into second. McClure doubled off Conrad's fingers, and Vonderhage scored. Manager Bill Cole ordered Louie Neva passed purposely, and the strategy worked out when Paul Neva forced McClure at third and Leonard expired on strikes.

Torrance had luck as well as courage in the eleventh, when Wilcox, Coates and Denney hit safely to load the bases, with none out. Conrad forced Wilcox at home. Ballard followed with his shot. Over second, which the inspired Vonderhage pulled down with one hand. Then he stepped on second to double the startled Denney, who was trying for home. Ballard's blow was the hardest hit ball of the game.

Neither side threatened after that until the Brothers Neva got busy in the fourth. This was Santa Ana's second 6-5 defeat in extra innings at Torrance. The first time the clubs met there this term the Stars were noosed out in 13 innings by the same score.

LOVELOCK WINS OVER BONTHRON IN 4:15.4 MILE

WHITE CITY STADIUM, LONDON, July 21.—(UP)—Jack Lovelock, of Oxford university, former world's record holder for the mile run, today captured his specialty in the seventh meeting of the Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell track teams.

Lovelock's principal victim was his arch rival, Bill Bonthron of Princeton, who dogged Jack's steps to the finish line when the Oxonian set a world mark of 4:06.7 at Princeton in June, 1933.

Bonthron, who recently set a new world mark of 3:48.3 for the 1500 meters, was second today to Lovelock, who was timed at 4:15.4. The time was creditable because of the rough condition of the track.

Lovelock jogged along in fourth place until the final lap, with A. B. Leach, Lovelock's teammate, setting the pace. Just as they started the final lap Lovelock came up alongside Bonthron, who had been running second. One hundred yards from the finish Lovelock put on a finish spurt the Princetonian could not match, and the Oxonian won by two full yards. Leach took third place.

Bob Kane of Cornell captured the 440-yard event, setting a new White City stadium record of 48.8. D. L. Rathbone of Cambridge was second, and J. C. Horsfall, also of Cambridge, third. Kane won by one yard.

CITY COUNCIL WILL TRY TO BETTER BEACH

SEAL BEACH, July 21.—Councilman Ernest R. Muse called the attention of the council, at its regular meeting last night, to the terms of the four-party agreement entered into by the city of Long Beach, Los Angeles County, Orange County, and the city of Seal Beach in regard to the construction of the jeties along the entrance to Alamitos Bay.

The terms of the agreement, according to Muse, have not been followed, much to the detriment of the ocean front of Seal Beach. Muse reminded the council that the city has never taken.

The main bone of contention is the outlet stream of water from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company's plant, which, it is claimed, prevents the sand from accumulating on the beach. The matter has heretofore been taken up with the Gas company but no results have been obtained. The council instructed City attorney Burr A. Brown to confer with special counsel Frank Jaques and arrange a meeting with Mr. Thatcher of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors at which members of the council and the city engineer would be present to attempt a suitable arrangement of the matter.

A communication was received from State Fire Marshall Jay W. Stevens reporting on an examination of the Jewel City Inn for conditions which might present fire hazards. The examination which was made at the request of the local fire chief, Sperry Knighton, disclosed conditions which would create serious life hazards in case of fire. The matter was referred to the fire committee, fire chief, and building inspector for investigation as to the means which might be employed to eliminate the hazard.

A request was received from the Seal Beach Volunteer Fire Department for permission to hold a street dance the night of August 24 at Ocean Avenue and Main Street. The street dance is to take the place of the annual Fireman's Ball. Permit to hold the dance was granted also the right to rope off the necessary area in the thoroughfares during the time of the dance.

The council approved the re-election of Sperry Knighton by the members of the Volunteer Fire Department as their chief for the following year. The election was held at the last regular meeting of that body on July 3.

Samuel Lackman, local tango operator addressed the council calling attention to unfair business tactics employed by other tango operators in the city. Lackman claimed their methods were not in accord with the principles of the National Recovery Act and that the practice should be eliminated and the business regulated as it is done in other lines of business. He also reminded the council of their right to regulate such games. The police committee was instructed to investigate the practices of other cities in this regard.

The annual weed-cleaning program reached its conclusion with the passage by the council of Resolution 230 confirming the report of the street superintendent of the cost of abating the weed nuisance.

About 10,000 tons of kapok fiber are used annually in manufacture of American mattresses.

HUMANE GROUP STAGES NOVEL CANINE SHOW

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—A practical demonstration of the type of work carried on by the Laguna Beach Humane Society was a miniature dog and cat show staged yesterday afternoon in front of the Community club on Ocean Avenue, an exhibition devoted exclusively to the showing of pets which, picked up years ago on the streets had been given to the present owners.

The collection included canines and felines of various breeds—some for obvious reasons all of obscure genealogy.

The show preceded a benefit card party held in the afternoon, the proceeds of which will be used for defraying expenses incidental to the operation of the society's animal shelter.

"Laddie," a beautiful collie, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hammond, was awarded the first prize. "Ginger," a dog belonging to a little girl, Helen Pritch, won the second prize. Receiving honorable mention were "Scotty," owned by Mrs. Marian Moore, and "Spitz," belonging to Day Carman. A special prize was given to "Sport" for having saved the life of his little master, Frederick Perry. Sharing honors with the rest of the winners was "Bozo," six years ago a starving little pup on the streets, the first dog to be rescued by the society. He is now owned by Miss Maude Peek. Special mention was made of "Sandy," the first entry in the newly inaugurated "Children's Pet Show," to be held each year in connection with benefit parties given by the society. Prizes were awarded two cats, "Big Boy Blue," owned by Mrs. Ralph Frost, and "Michael" belonging to Junior Watkins.

Mrs. Helen Carter Tiffany, president of the society, presided over the event, assisted by the other officers of the organization. They are Mrs. E. W. Seaman, vice president; Mrs. C. W. Gordon, secretary; Mrs. May Foster, treasurer; and Miss Edith Loop, director. Assisting the officers in entertaining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frost, and Miss Donna Foster.

In a brief announcement, setting forth the main features of the society's activities, Mrs. Tiffany took occasion to thank the business men of the community for the splendid support given the society, both in cash contributions as well as in donations of valuable prizes for the card party. She also gave praise to the fine work of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Martin, in charge of the animal shelter.

After a pleasant afternoon of bridge, first prize was awarded to Mrs. Charles Ver Jones, consolation to Mrs. George Lynch, and the guest prize to Mrs. Barnes. The island fleet will leave its moorings near the Balboa Yacht club at 7:30 p. m. July 28, and proceed west along Balboa Island, meeting the main fleet at the east end of Lido Isle, and proceeding around the five and a half mile course as a part of the entire parade past Newport and Balboa. It is estimated that the entrance will leave Lido Isle at 8:30, and that the entire parade will end at approximately 10:45.

The Corinthian fleet, captained by Joe Beck, will be headed by the giant swan and cygnets which were the main attraction of the Santa Barbara Fourth of July celebration. Beck said today. Entries for the island fleet include a flotilla of twenty kayaks from the Fullerton Kayak club, which will be assembled as a part of an arctic display, representing a huge iceberg, and floats from the Balboa Yacht Club, the Newport Harbor Service Club, the Balboa Island Water Carnival association and other entries numbering nearly a hundred.

CHAMPION SPEAKER AT LIONS MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—Mayor Frank Champion of Laguna Beach was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions club held Thursday night at the White House cafe, the program being in charge of Maurice Guyer of the high school faculty. Robert Lindley, first vice president, was in the chair in place of John Gibson, who had relinquished the honor of the evening.

Speaking of a recent visit to Polson prison, the mayor told the audience of his observations while going through the large penal institution. He was impressed with the fact that it had been necessary to build new cell blocks to accommodate the growing number of offenders, which fact, he said, necessarily left the visitor in a reflective mood.

"Places like Polson prison, while operated in an orderly and humane manner, serve their purpose of being correctional and are good places to stay away from," the speaker remarked, expressing the belief that undoubtedly a large number of young men have become criminals for lack of home training and because of other unfavorable circumstances.

DARLING FOOL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Monnie O'Dare, whose family has seen better days, works in Vernon's drug store and helps to support the family. She is in love with Dan Cardigan, son of wealthy parents. Sandra Lawrence, pretending to be Monnie's friend, tries to win him from her. Monnie is a friendly to Monnie but she thinks he is interested in Kay, her younger sister. Monnie's older brother, plans to marry Angie Gilly as soon as her divorce is final. Hetty, a maid at Sandra Lawrence's home, suspects her of "vamping" Jimmy, the chauffeur.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI

Angie Gilly, yellow-haired, petite and windblown, put her hand on Bill O'Dare's shoulder. "Be nice," Bill begged. "Don't be that way!"

He frowned at her. A tall young man with the dark eyes of the O'Dares, the crest of dark brown hair, he was good to look upon. He had discarded the blue jeans of his daytime calling for a neat dark gray suit. His white shirt and polka-dotted tie were correct even if he had not been able to eradicate the traces of grime from his fingernails.

"You said," Bill reminded Angie, "it was all off between you and Stan. That he was going to see about the divorce when he went up to Cleveland."

Angie made her ready little voice sound plaintive. "I know I did," she lisped. "I meant it, too. But Stan hasn't got the money. It costs money to get a divorce."

Bill scowled, pushing the white china saltcellar back and forth across the shiny white table-top. Angie lifted a thick white cup and drank her coffee, without interest. It was hot. It was very hot. Files buzzed annoyingly around the restaurant door. The heat of a June afternoon shimmered all about. Heat brooded over the street outside where one or two shabby cars were parked.

"Let's get out of this dump," Bill muttered. "Let's get going."

Angie stared at him, affronted. "You were the one who wanted a bite to eat," she reminded him. "I didn't pick the place."

"I know, I know," Gruffly Bill demanded his check from the limp waitress. His strong jaw looked set as he paid it. The set of his shoulders was sullen. Angie, rounding her pouting mouth, pretended not to see.

They got into the rattlerap car she had driven into Belvedere the day of Bill's arrest a month ago. Dan's car was a ridiculously small foot on the starter. There was a clash of gears and the absurd vehicle chugged away in a cloud of dust.

"We should've taken a lunch and gone in swimming," Angie regretted, tooling her chariot along the road by the river. "We were saps not to think of it."

They passed the country club where two or three men in white linen with caps were huddled in the foreground. Beyond lay the pool, red and blue caps bobbing on the surface. A tall girl in a pale green suit did a swan dive. Angie stopped the car. "Swell," she observed. "Wish I could do that!" She peered across through the heat haze. "That's the Lawrence girl," she observed with a relish. "Bet she brought that suit from Paris. She sure has swell clothes!" Angie sounded envious. Bill wriggled uncomfortably.

"What's the matter? Don't you like it here?" Angie lifted an eyebrow in his direction. "It's nice and cool. Best place I've been to day."

Bill was plainly out of sorts. He grunted. "Can't hang around here staring like kids outside a candy. People'll think we're crazy."

"Guess you don't like any of your friends to see you with me, that's what!" the girl said with a laugh, starting the engine. Bill's laugh sounded faintly disagreeable. "My friends! At the country club? There's a laugh!" Angie said. "My Aunt Mollie told me the other day your father ran with all the big bugs when he was young. Said by rights your family belonged with that crowd who you don't have the money. It's true, isn't it? Doesn't everybody think your sister's going to marry Dan Cardigan? And aren't the Cardigans just like John D. Rockefeller, pretty near?"

"Everybody round here's crazy," Bill barked. "Just because Monnie and Dan went to high school together—" He left the sentence hanging.

Foran Sells Newspaper To Minister

WESTMINSTER, July 21.—The Westminster Gazette, local newspaper, has changed hands, Pat Foran, owner and editor having sold to Milton Holt, former newspaper man, who has already taken over the plant and will issue the next edition.

He comes highly recommended and is direct from a C. C. camp in northern California where he has acted as chaplain. Mr. Holt has a wife and two children and they are to locate in Midway City.

Mr. and Mrs. Foran who have edited the Gazette together the eight months they have owned it, having purchased the paper at the time of the death of the former editor, Henry Schmidt, contemplate locating in Orange County and will in all probability purchase another county paper as they are now considering the purchase of one of two weekly periodicals. ## YACHT CONCERN MAY LOCATE AT NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 21.—Possibility of a huge yacht plant and boat works for Newport Harbor was seen here today with the lease of the Crandall Boat company property by Capt. William J. Brown, manager of Brown's Boat Service, a Wilmington concern. Extensive repairs to the old plant are already under way and as additional water-front acreage is secured, a yacht basin will be provided in the upper bay, it was said.

The Crandall plant was built at a cost of $60,000 and has been operated in the past by C. H. McAlary. It is planned to retain McAlary in charge of all construction work by the yacht basin, it was said today, using the quarters formerly occupied by the C. and M. Boat Builders.

Slips will be built, according to plans, to accommodate at least 50 yachts in the basin anchorage, and so laid out that more can be added as necessary. Features of the site will mean that yachts up to 175 feet in length, and drawing 15 feet of water will be accommodated. No other spot in the bay is practicable for such a purpose, as the depth of the basins vary from 10 to 15 feet, according to government plans, under the harbor improvement.

SEEK INCREASE OF FUNDS FOR LIBRARY

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—More than 300 signatures have been attached to a petition now on file at the Laguna branch of the county library, asking the county board of supervisors to increase the library appropriation from two to two and one-half cents on the $100 during the next fiscal year, this to enable the county library to more adequately meet its needs.

Inquiries at the library revealed that in addition to a substantial increase in requests for fiction the reference resources of the library is being more and more drawn upon by persons engaged in the preparation of manuscripts for different purposes.

DARLING FOOL

"It's nothing to me," Bill asserted, shrugging. "It's none of my doggone business."

"Well, she's a funny kid," Angie pursued. "She's got a case on the Lawrence's chauffeur, Jim Hewitt—guess you know him. She goes to the movies a lot and tries a Garbo on Jim. Jim doesn't know she's on earth, hardly. Now she's got some nutty idea that the girl friend is trying to vamp Jim and she's all hot and bothered about it."

"You mean Sandra?" Bill asked incredulously.

Angie nodded.

"Might not be far off," she said. "Jimmy's pretty swell looking in that trick suit with the brass buttons. Anyhow Hetty thinks he is and that makes it so. She's a one-idea girl. If Miss Lawrence is smart, she'll lay off. Hetty might go funny on him and it wouldn't be so good."

"She interrupted herself to say swiftly, 'Look, Bill, you better let me drop you by the station. Stan's coming over tonight to talk about things. Maybe we'll get something settled.'"

"You've known that all afternoon and you only just sprang it on me now," Bill accused, black as a thunder cloud. "Angie, slow ed the car, he jumped out and stood beside her, very tall and grim and angry, above her white beret and flying yellow curls."

"Sure I did but you had such a grouch I didn't dare," she informed him with insolence. She was pretty in a candy-box way, this girl with the stary eyes and posterously plucked eyebrows. She had a gamine, sly appeal in spite of the cheap gaiety of her outfit.

"All right," Bill growled. "If that's the way you feel about it, Nobody's going to twotime me and get away with it."

He lifted his hat. Without another word he strode away in the direction of the station. The afternoon train was just pulling in. As Angie watched he jumped casually aboard.

Sly sat there, a small, ingenuous looking creature in summer white, staring after him. Angie swallowed hard. Once. Twice.

"Oh, Bill," she whispered under her breath. "Why did you do that?"

BOOK REVIEWS

England, Their England, by A. J. MacDonell, published by the MacMillan Co.

"England, Their England," is a book which has had considerable popularity in England, where they must be as broad minded, as Americans are to ridicule and burlesque of themselves. It is written by a Scotsman, Christopher Morley, who writes the introduction, says that we can imagine the author associating with the English for 15 years and observing and putting up with their foibles and then bursting into a loud cufaw, and while he was laughing at them finding that he loved them.

Donald, the character who had the experiences which comprise the book, returned from the war as his father in Scotland where the father at that time had a farm. The son was recovering from shell shock and desirous of spending as long a time in the north country as possible. In the north country he met a young man, the father of a young man, who was away from there in the world. That he might come back there to die but not to live. The fact that the son had had enough of the world was only an indication to the father that he had not wholly recovered. So the son and the father worked together on the farm for three or four years until the father "discovered the partnership" by dying, and he left the son a bit of money with the provision that he should go south. So he went to London, made contacts with literary people and had the other experiences which are described in the book as typical of the English peculiarities. He had two rather typical week ends, he went to the League of Nations, he went to a hunt, he even tried, and it is during enough, to have a bit of fun over cricket.

One of the funniest sections of the book is the story of his packing and arrival at his first week-end party. A friend came in while he was packing and was asked for advice on what clothes to take. The friend assumes a man makes depends on the number of suitcases he has. When he finds that Donald has only two more and puts in them everything Donald possesses, labeling them impressively with paint. The funny part of it was that it impressed the staff at the seat of the house party and a still funnier part is the way in which the friend prepared the staff so that Donald wouldn't have to play a Mr. Milquetoast role.

Donald takes part in a political campaign and listens to the speeches of two candidates. It seemed to him that for such "tripe" the people must read them to pieces, but when the questions were just as silly and futile as the speeches he was surprised indeed.

This author's description of the League of Nations' methods is not as amusing as Beverly Nichols in "Cry Havoc," but there are some portions of the book which are amusing and none of it is in poor taste, unless the English might consider the section on cricket so, but most Americans will find that a bore.

Out Went the Taper, by R. C. Ashby, published by the MacMillan company. Timely enough is this mystery story which comes to us during these lazy summer months. Such a book is about all some of us want for reading these days. But if I were to "do" the book over again, knowing what I do about it, I would save it up for one of those very hot days such as we had last week, for it would make one forget the heat. But one never has "hindsight" in the reading of books.

The setting is a gloomy and immense rectory, under the foreboding shadow of the crumbling ruins of an ancient Welsh monastery. The place is suggestive of ghosts and ghouls. Mrs. Cory had invited gay guests there to offset the gloom but naturally enough, in such a place, the guests got to talking of ghosts, ghosts who cannot rest in peace because of some wrong which has been done them, and present themselves to individuals who can right the wrong. Of course, no writer of full blooded mystery stories is so foolish as to tantalize his sophisticated readers with "goings-on" in a spirit world, but the mental attitude of the people at the rectory, brought on by their surroundings, plays into the hands of some people who are paying off old scores, could hardly be imagined by man.

Anything more exciting than Tal's experience in the horrible caverns of the old monastery could hardly be imagined by man.

Boy and Girl Tramps of America, by Thomas Minehan, published by Farrar and Rinehart. Professor Minehan stood in breadlines and talked with his neighbors to learn the psychology of the hobo. He was surprised to find that so many of the "bums" were just youngsters. He investigated further. He traveled with them, slept with them in box cars, lived in jungles with them, did his share toward providing food, was accepted by them, learned their code of camaraderie.

That was in the fall of 1933. In the introduction he says: "I had a thick dossier full of notes and impressions, 500 life histories of boys and girls I had met on the bum, 1000 samples of conversations, and over 2500 opinions, ideas and attitudes expressed by all classes of transients under all conditions. In conventional sociological form I drew up my tables, analyzed the data statistically, worked a few correlations. . . . I was following approved technique. Yet the analysis was unsatisfactory. It seemed totally inadequate to say that 324 youths left home because the father was his family, one with the firm foundation of carefully garnered facts but imbued with a spirit."

Professor Minehan tells us of the causes which drive the boys and girls into the road, which is tersely summed up by one of them who answers a lady who has put the question: "Hard Times, lady, hard times," and the author adds "plus the difficulties and desires of adolescence and the lure of the open road."

He tells us how they travel, how they get food and clothing, their philosophy, the religious outlook, their background, their route of travel. Few farm boys, he says, are traveling on the road.

In conclusion, the author makes some helpful suggestions and certainly none could read the book without wanting something done to meet this problem of the boy and girl tramps. We used to read about them as a menace in Russia, according to those who have most recently returned, has taken them into homes and institutions and is re-educating them. In this country we cannot be indifferent to this problem.

"Vagabondage is as old as time and as universal as the air," says this author. "The child tramps of America differ in degree but not in kind from the wild boys of Russia and the free youth in Germany after the war, the child tramps of Italy during the Austrian invasions a hundred years ago, or the present bands of Chinese boys turned pirate. Wherever there is social chaos there are homeless wanderers."

Modern Poets

By MISS BEULAH MAY

A poem for a summer's day by a forgotten author.

And we will find some coral cave Where you shall doff your linen fair,

By the foam-tipped up-running wave And free the marvel of your hair,

And match your whiteness with the spray, And match your strange eyes with the sea,

And like a mermaid, you shall sway Cradled in lapis-lazuli;

Then turn and like a dolphin glide Through hollow halls of glimmering jade,

Where solemn gleaming fish abide For ever in a twilight glade; And I shall watch you sink and pass,

Then dive, and mid-way we shall meet To dreams within a magic glass

LATE ROGERS RUGGLES FILM AT WEST COAST FRIDAY ON THURSDAY

Will Rogers is unobscuredly funny in his newest picture, "Hardy Andy," which will open at the West Coast theater next Friday for a full week's engagement at the West Coast theater, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Situations which provoke hearty laughter come fast after Charles Ruggles, who is starred with Ann Dvorak in the film, decides to shake off the dominating influence of his employer and to think for himself.

The picture holds the audience in suspense throughout because of the fact that Ruggles, without knowing it, had held some valuable information about a politician who wanted to run for governor. The scenes in a night club showing Ruggles and his pal Eugene Pallette slightly inebriated and rather reckless provoke many laughs. The most exciting scenes are those at the end, when Ruggles walks into a trap set by gangsters.

Others in the cast include Dorothy Tree, Harry Beresford, William Davidson, Dorothy Burgess and others. It was directed by Edward Ludwig.

Starring the most famous youthful star of the movies, Shirley Temple, will be seen on the same program in a new comedy, "Pardon My Pups." Other selected short subjects include a popular Chic Sale novelty, "Little Feller," a travelogue, "East Indies," a comedy thriller, "Air Maniacs," and Register World News events.

"Doctor Monica," a soul-stirring picture of human emotions in which two girls who are friends find themselves in the position where each tries to sacrifice herself for the other because of love for the same man, plays for the last times at the Broadway theater tonight.

Kay Francis, one of the most popular stars of the screen, has the leading role in "Doctor Monica." The all-star cast includes such favorites as Warren William, Jean Muir and Verna Teasdale. Miss Francis plays the title role in the production, a role said to be the most dramatic and realistic she has ever taken.

"George White's Scandals" and "Dark Hazard" are the feature films on the double bill which opens a three day run at Walker's State theater tomorrow.

"Scandals" is a lavish production featuring music, dancing and pretty girls, with a romantic story concerning the leading characters in the play. A scheming debutante threatens to steer the romances on the rocks and ruin the show, but the proper saves both by a clever plan. Among the many stage, screen and radio stars who have parts are Rudy Vallee, Jimmy Durante, Alice Faye, Cliff Edwards, Adrienne Ames and Gregory Ratoff.

"Dark Hazard" brings Edward G. Robinson in the role of a gambler and follower of dog races. It tells the story of a man whose passion for gambling wrecks love, home and the worthwhile things of life. Genevieve Tobin plays the wife and Glenda Farrell saves him by a clever plan.

The third film on the week's opening program is "Little Boy Blue," a Terrytown cartoon.

A vaccine for treatment of rheumatism was discovered by Dr. Benjamin J. Clawson of the University of Minnesota medical school.

That join dim lips with sea-salt sweet.

Then shall we hoist a snowy sail, And in a boat with crystal floor Gaze down on shapes in rainbow mail.

Star fish and branching madre-pore, And peacock fans and fairy flowers

That in a mystic garden dream Of moon-white sands and coral bowers Tranced deep in the pellucid stream.

—House and Garden.

Solid entertainment is offered in the new picture, "Friends of Mr. Sycamore," which opens at the Broadway theater for three days starting Thursday, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

"DOCTOR MONICA" ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"Doctor Monica," a soul-stirring picture of human emotions in which two girls who are friends find themselves in the position where each tries to sacrifice herself for the other because of love for the same man, plays for the last times at the Broadway theater tonight.

Kay Francis, one of the most popular stars of the screen, has the leading role in "Doctor Monica." The all-star cast includes such favorites as Warren William, Jean Muir and Verna Teasdale. ## LOCAL MAN IN FILM SHOWING AT STATE

George Gerwing, former Santa Ana and brother of Bob Gerwing, local business man, is a member of the cast of "Gun Justice," the western thriller starring Ken Maynard, which closes its run at Walker's State theater tonight.

The story tells of Maynard's fight against two gangs of plains hoodlums to protect ranch property left to him and Cecilia Parker by his murdered uncle.

Other films on the program include a news reel; a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline," a cartoon, "Mickey's Steeplechase," and a comedy, "Blue Blackbirds."

George O'Brien In Frontier Thriller

George O'Brien playing the role of Wyatt Earp, the fearless peace officer of frontier days, comes to Walker's State screen next Friday and Saturday in "Frontier Marshal." In this story he solves the murder of the father of his sweetheart and brings law and order to an outlaw-infested frontier town.

Other subjects booked on the program are "Frozen Assets" and Andy Clyde comedy, a Silly Symphony in color, "Old King Cole," a chapter of "The Perils of Pauline," and a news reel.

AT BROADWAY SUNDAY

CHARLIE CHAN FILM HERE

An artist's conception of that enigmatic oriental detective, Charlie Chan, as impersonated by Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan's Courage," which is now playing at the West Coast theater and which ends tomorrow, is shown below. A second feature on the program is "Elmer and Elsie," featuring George Bancroft, Frances Fuller, Roscoe Karns and George Barbier.

Original Cast To Be Present When Play Presented

PASADENA, July 21.—An exceptional incident, with few parallels in the western theater, will give added interest to the revival of "Fals in Full" at the Pasadena Playhouse next Tuesday, July 24. At this reproduction of a great American hit, the author, Eugene Walter, and probably every living member of the original New York cast will be present.

They are Lillian Albertson, Frank Sheridan, Oza Waldrop (Mrs. Edgar MacGregor), Tully Marshall and Johnny Arthur. Two others of the New York cast have passed away.

"Fals in Full" will run one week. It will mark one of the unusual appearances of Gilmor Brown, and the cast will also contain Morgan Conway, Josephine Rice, Murray Yeats and Phyllis Cooper.

The town of Kohlshunden, Germany, recently experienced the first birth of male children in a decade, when a villager gave birth to male twins. Only girls have been born in the German hamlet since 1924.

Out of 378 important waterfalls in Brazil, a minimum of 60,000,000 horsepower could be derived through hydro-electric plants.

CHARLIE CHAN STRANGE LOVE FILM ON WEST COAST SCREEN AT BROADWAY

Warner Oland, known to moviegoers all over the world as the impersonator of that bland Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, once again assumes the role he so intelligently interprets in "Charlie Chan's Courage," which will show for the last times at the West Coast theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Elmer and Elsie," which features George Bancroft.

"Charlie Chan's Courage" is adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' "The Chinese Parrot." The film version abounds in thrills, chills, mystery and drama and is so thoroughly baffling that it has been proclaimed one of the greatest mystery films of the season, according to advance reports.

Chan is entrusted with a string of valuable pearls to deliver at El Dorado. He is accompanied by Donald Woods. A series of mysterious events begin to take place with their arrival. A Chinese parrot screams "Help! Murder!" then dies from poison in his food. That gives Chan an important clue to the mystery's solution. Bloodstains are found, indicating a murder, but Chan can't find the body.

Woods, with Drue Leyton, New York stage actress, supplies the romantic interest. Others in the supporting cast include Murray Kinnell, Reginald Mason, Virginia Hammond, Si Jenks and Harvey Clark.

Frances Fuller plays the feminine lead in "Elmer and Elsie," a story of how cleverly a tiny woman can manage not only a big man, but a big situation, too, when opportunity requires. Besides Bancroft, other important parts are taken by the popular player, Roscoe Karns and George Barbier.

Famous Ballet To Be Given In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Lester Horton's spectacular modern ballet of Oscar Wilde's "Salome," featuring Joy Montoya in the title role, and an ensemble of 100 dancers, will be presented at the Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles, Wednesday night, July 25, as the second attraction on the summer series.

A brilliant bacchanale at Herod's court will precede Salome's historic "Dance of the Seven Veils." Incidental music has been composed by Constance Boynton. The Shrine Ballet Orchestra, Leonard Walker conducting, will provide the musical accompaniment.

Horton recently won the annual award of the Los Angeles County Drama association for his presentation of "Salome" at the Verdugo theater, Glendale. He was formerly director of the Indianapolis Theater Guild and also staged ballets and pageants in New York and Chicago.

Other ballets on the Shrine auditorium summer series will be "The Painted Desert," mammoth American Indian pageant with music by Homer Grunn, August 8; and Ethel Merkle's elaborate fantasy, "Three Little Pigs," featuring 500 Meglin Kiddies.

Love's strange domination which holds a cultured student to a selfish, beautiful, unworthy waitress is the theme of "Of Human Bondage," powerful film version of the Somerset Maugham novel of the same name which opens a four-day run at the Broadway theater tomorrow.

Leslie Howard is starred in the role of the sensitive medical student, while Bette Davis plays the part of the waitress who holds his soul in "human bondage." Even the love of a woman of his own class fails to free him from the bondage and only death is able to break the spell of her powerful and mysterious hold.

The colorful backgrounds of Paris and London pass behind the dramatic romance, in which Kay Johnson, Frances Dee, Reginald Denny, Alan Hale and Reginald Owen and others are cast. John Cromwell directed.

The latest Laurel and Hardy comedy, "In Them Thar Hills," is included in the special selection of short subjects. Other short subjects include "Wise Little Hen," new Silly Symphony in Technicolor, and Register World News events.

DOUBLE BILL ON WEST COAST SCREEN MONDAY

The screen version of Daniel Kussell's delightful Broadway comedy hit, "The Party's Over," will make its local bow at the West Coast theater when it opens for a four-day engagement with a second feature, "The Notorious Sophie Lang," a light, breezy, swift paced offering.

"The Party's Over" features comic Stuart Erwin and lovely Ann Southern in the leading roles. The film play concerns the ludicrous events in the domestic relations of a typical American family. The remainder of the large cast includes Arline Judge, William Bakewell, Esther Muir, Catherine Doucet, Henry Travers, Chick Chandler and Patsy Kelly.

"The Notorious Sophie Lang" is a picture based on the professional rivalry between Gertrude Michael, in the title role, and Paul Cavanagh, as an equally slippery international crook. A string of peach test their respective purloining abilities, and the adventures which result from theft and counterfeits shackle them romantically.

Pre-nuptial Parties Are Climaxed With Afternoon Tea

There was a special interest attached to the formal tea at which Mrs. John Tessmann, Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Agnes Todd Miller entertained yesterday afternoon in the Tessmann home, 309 East Seventeenth street, for it was the final pre-nuptial courtesy paid Miss Nancy Elder, who today is to wed Theron Clark of Los Angeles.

Invitations issued to the function designated hours for receiving of friends calling to offer their good wishes to Miss Elder, and to enjoy the hospitality of her hostesses.

Miss Jean Mulbar received guests at the door, and other members of Wrycende Maedgen and Y. W. C. A. branches, assisted throughout the afternoon. All were charming in their dainty afternoon gowns of pastel crepes and filmy organdies. In the formal receiving line were Mrs. Tessmann wearing sheer crepe in a pastel tone of sage green; Miss Humiston in white net and Valenciennes lace; Miss Miller in bisque lace; and Miss Elder in delicate pale green crepe with cut steel beaded design.

Baskets of flowers repeated the endless pattern of soft pastel hues, but in the dining room where guests repaired for the tea menu, azure blue and white were the colors maintained. Delphiniums and asters in this exquisite combination of colors were massed on the buffet and centered the candle-lit table, spread with handsome cloth of embroidered grass linen and fillet lace. Miss Geraldine Gilbert presented to each guest a tiny corsage of blue delphinium and white sweet peas, and even the petti coats, ices and bonbons of the menu repeated the color motif.

Presiding at the silver tea and coffee urns during the earlier afternoon hours were Mrs. Lewis Smith of Whittier, a sister of Miss Elder, and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin. Later in the afternoon they surrendered their places to Mrs. Charles F. Smith and Mrs. Horace J. Howard. Mrs. E. C. Gilbert and Miss Dorothy Decker assisted in the dining room, and Miss Lena Thomas in the living room. Serving was accomplished by the Misses Helen Lasby and Marjorie Lindsay, nieces of Mrs. Tessmann, and Miss Miriam Smith, niece of Miss Elder.

Approximately a hundred guests were greeted, and in turn proffered their good wishes to Miss Elder, and expressed interest in her future plans.

Party Guests Shower
Miss Drake With Linens

Since announcing her engagement to Dr. John Ferte of Los Angeles little more than a month ago, Miss Helen Drake has been complimented at several lovely affairs, the latest of which took place last night when Mrs. John D. Strahle was hostess. She received her guests at Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe.

"Scrambled Lovers" was an amusing contest enjoyed, with the prize for scoring high going to Miss Ruth Ann Walker. Decorated with a variety of floral designs, tables which were to have still further significance later in the evening, were distributed for auction bridge play. Guests played at tables representing various honeymoon spots, such as Grand Canyon, Yosemite, etc. Prizes went to those holding first and second high scores, Mrs. Horace Leeding and Miss Ruth Ann Walker.

Invited to the large dining room for refreshments, guests found their places by matching the flowers designed on their tallies with the blooms forming corsage bouquets at each place. Miss Drake's corsage was of orange blossoms. A long table used for the occasion was outlined with festoons of greenery and centered with a complete miniature bridal party standing on a pathway of rose petals. By the glow of pink and white tapers an appetizing strawberry mousses was served with cookies and coffee.

The ring of an alarm clock gave Miss Drake the signal that she was to open the packages piled high in a large basket. The gifts were all lovely linens.

Invited to share the affair with the hostess, Mrs. Strahle, were her mother, Mrs. William Hoffman, Miss Drake and her mother, Mrs. F. D. Drake, and Mesdames R. C. Harris, Norman Hoke, Victor Hup, H. W. Leeding, E. F. Bruning, Lyle C. Forman, J. Friends to Evening
Open House

Recently returned from a honeymoon trip north of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Ray O. Stapp extended a delightful hospitality to more than 100 friends this week in their home, 1421 North Main street.

They presided as hosts at an open house affair, welcoming friends throughout the evening. Dancing was enjoyed, and light refreshments were served. Sweet peas and gladioli in vivid tints were arranged artistically about the home.

All guests signed their names, with best wishes and appropriate sentiments in a book provided for the occasion.

Mrs. Stapp was Miss Jane Pariss, daughter of Dr. Sophie Pariss, 811 East Washington avenue, preceding her marriage early this month.

Duck Dinner Prepared Over New Outdoor Fireplace

Employees of Van Dien-Young company were brought together for a pleasant social affair Thursday night on the grounds of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hiday, 1205 Cypress avenue. The party was occasioned by the recent completion of an outdoor fireplace, a handsome addition to the attractive gardens of the home.

George W. Young acted as chef, making good use of the fireplace as he roasted ducks over the open fire. The fowls, provided by Altha Maddox, were served with other inviting foods contributed by various participants in the dinner.

Colorful lanterns lent light for the dinner, served at a long table brightened by pompon zinnias and dahlias in large bowls. Guests went indoors for the remainder of the evening, when conversation and music were enjoyed.

Company employees present were Mr. and Mrs. Hiday and their daughter, Miss Dixie Lee Hiday, and Mesdames E. M. Young, Altha Maddox, L. H. Babcock and small son, Rex Mason, Ralph Van De Walker, P. C. Lidy, Miss Anne Tiemann and Benton Van Dien. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Sorenson and sons, Kenneth, Walter and Soren in this city; Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Atkinson and son, Morris, Long Beach.

Hostess Adds Another Pleasant Affair to Party Series

Continuing the series of delightfully intimate parties which she has been giving from time to time during the summer, Mrs. Howard Rapp yesterday received a dozen of her friends at a contract luncheon in her home, 1912 Greenleaf street.

Bright hues of summer flowers added charm to the friendly atmosphere of the home, and guests found special attraction in the dining room where they were grouped around a single large table for the lunch hour. A swan motif was effectively employed in the large container for pompon dahlias in mauve and maize tones, and in the smaller figures which held mauve and yellow tapers.

Contract games of the afternoon were tallied on artistic cards to harmonize with the dominant color scheme, and Mrs. Rapp awarded the daintiest of organdy tea aprons to the three contestants with special scores, Mrs. Loyall K. King, Mrs. Mortimer Plum and Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer.

At a similar charming affair of a week ago, Mrs. Rapp entertained another dozen friends, planning contract as a sequel to the luncheon. On this occasion, Mrs. Lyle Anderson with high score, and Mrs. Byron V. Curry, second high, were presented with pretty prize rewards.

Interesting Guest
Will Leave for North

The brief week-end visit in this city of Dr. Louise Morrow, psychologist at University of California, inspired an informal little luncheon today at which her hostess, Mrs. Blanche Small Brown, entertained in Laguna Beach.

Dr. Morrow stopped in Santa Ana on her return from a summer trip back to her former home state, Kansas, where she experienced the extreme heat of the middle west, and was happy to have the cooler weather of the coast. She and Mrs. Brown were college friends at University of Kansas.

Comprising the little party enjoying the day at Laguna and lunching in the hotel there, were Mrs. Brown, Dr. Morrow, Mrs. James A. Small and Mrs. Harry M. Smith. Dr. Morrow will conclude her visit tomorrow and return to San Francisco.

ANN MEREDITH'S

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM.

Dinner
Chilled cantaloupe
1 medium sized slice corned beef
4 Tbsp. string beans
1 ear of corn
1 section of boiled cabbage
1 small boiled potato
Black coffee or clear tea
Calory total—500

A corned beef dinner is a good excuse to have corned beef hash for the next dinner, but do not eat out enough to serve with a crisp green salad for luncheon.

The best buy in corned beef is the piece called the "plate." This is solid meat. Parboil, change to fresh water to which add 2 bay leaves, a clove of garlic, 1/2 cup vinegar and 2 tbsps. brown sugar. Simmer gently until a fork will pierce the meat easily. The vegetables are best if cooked separately in fresh water, drain after cooking, and rinse quickly with a little of the hot corned broth—that gives them the required flavor.

Always serve prepared mustard and grated horse radish with corned beef.

Add dessert and rolls to the menu and the family dinner is ready, too.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Cold Pickle Relish
1 peck ripe tomatoes
4 Green peppers
5 Onions
2 cups chopped celery
1/2 Tsp. ground cloves
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup salt
Mustard seed to taste
1/2 cup salt
5 cups brown sugar
4 cups cold vinegar

Chop the peeled tomatoes in small pieces, cover with the salt and let stand all night. In the morning add the remaining diced vegetables, stir well to mix the salt, pepper and mustard seed. Fill hot sterile jars with the vegetable, allowing the filling to come to the jar shoulder. Heat vinegar, sugar and other spices, cool, and fill the jars to overflowing. Seal and invert for a few days. Delicious with meats.

BERMUDA ONIONS STUFFED WITH LIVER
6 Large onions, parboiled
1 Pound cooked liver, ground
1 Cup boiled rice
1/4 Cup melted butter mixed with
1/2 Cup liver broth
1 Can mush-room sauce
2 Tsp. chopped parsley
Salt and pepper
Butter crumbs for top

Peel and cook the onions 30 minutes. Cut a slice off the end and steam out pulp to leave a shell. Run cooked liver through the grinder with a bit of onion for seasoning. Combine with the cooked rice, melted butter, broth, salt and pepper. Fill the onion cups with this mixture, place in a casserole, cover tops with buttered crumbs, and use the mush-room sauce and parsley to taste the baking onions. An hour in a rather slow oven will bake them nicely.

These stuffed onions may be served as the main dish. The leftover pulp may be fried for another meal, or may be cooked.

BUENA PARK

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Elijah Hears God's Voice

Text: 1 Kings 19:9-18.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 22.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

It is a strange and paradoxical fact, but oftentimes the hour of victory is an hour of danger. Apparent triumph frequently carries a sting. Remember the warning of St. Paul that those who were standing take heed lest they fall.

Elijah, in his zeal for the cause of what he believed to be true and pure religion, had achieved a great victory over Jezebel and the prophets of Baal. His victory could hardly have been more complete, and yet we find him broken-spirited and discouraged, seeking refuge from the elements and from his fellow men in a cave.

There was no moral collapse, such as comes to men at times when they have worn themselves out with their zeal even in a moral cause. The depression that Elijah suffered was spiritual, and it did not, apparently, affect his own relationship to God.

He was still strong in his own faith and in his own determination to follow the right, but in the intense reaction, when probably his physical strength had been spent, he was unable to set the proper value upon things.

He thought of himself as the only true prophet of God left, and he saw his own life betrayed and endangered.

It was under these circumstances that the voice of the Lord came to him in the cave, telling him to go forth and stand upon the mountain before the Lord. If there is any vision that can come to strengthen and hearten a man, he is more likely to get it standing upon a mountain than hiding in a cave.

It was not long before Elijah had a tremendous vision. A great windstorm rent the mountains and broke the rocks, and after the wind there came a great earthquake, after the earthquake there was a fire; but not in wind, earthquake, or fire did Elijah hear the voice of the Lord, though he felt the presence.

But after all these manifestations, came a still small voice inquiring concerning Elijah's condition and trouble, giving him a commission to fulfill, that he should anoint new kings over Syria and Israel, and Elisha as a prophet in his place.

Then came, also the mild rebuke of the still small voice, reminding Elijah that there were still 7000 in Israel who had not bowed the knee to Baal.

Elijah might have saved this gloomy and desperate experience if he had been only able to see these 7000 faithful saints. How often we make similar misappraisals of the forces of right that surround us!

Either when evil triumphs, or when in victory over wrong and we are weakened by the struggle, it is the tempter's way to whisper to us that we are alone and unsupported, that the cause of truth and right is not as strong as we had supposed it to be.

What is the cure for these moods of depression? There are two cures. One is to get out of the cave, to get out of the cave of one's own depressed spirit. This was the way of the psalmist who communed with his soul, saying, "Why art thou cast down? Why art thou disquieted within me?" The other way is to get to the mountain vision, where God can reveal Himself to us and where we can find new hope in him.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Meanies were sights to see, as funny as wee men could be. Each one had tied upon his head a little high top hat. As Scouty wondered what to do, one of the Meanies shouted, "You must pardon us for laughing, but that's how we always keep fat."

"You see, we're always pulling tricks, and that's why you are in a fix. You've joined the Cheerful Chaps and they are mad at us, we know."

"Now that you're caught, it's our intent to see that you get punishment. 'Course, when the war is over, we will gladly let you go."

Another then said, "Why stay here? We're running quite a risk. I fear. Let's take our prisoner to camp and then decide his fate."

"The big guns of our enemy may blaze away, and then we'll be in trouble. Come, let's hike along before it is too late."

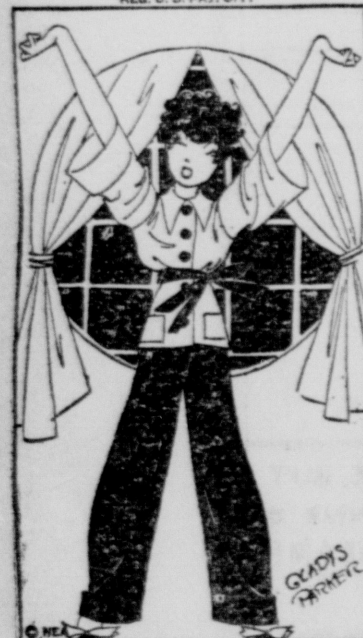

They shortly reached their camp and then one of the funny little men exclaimed, "All right, bring forth a chair on which this lad can sit."

"When he is tied up good and tight, we'll try with all our main and might to give him proper punishment, and see how he likes it."

It wasn't very long until they said to Scouty, "Now, sit still. The more you squirm around, the worse your punishment will be."

While one small Meanie Man

tied him, a rope was thrown up over a limb, and one end tied to Scouty's foot. "What's coming next?" said he.

"Ah, you'll find out," came the reply. One of the Meanies then said, "I have here a little feather. Now, you'll find out what it's for."

Then, right to Scouty's foot he went, exclaiming, "Here's your punishment!" Poor Scouty's foot was tickled till it made the wee lad roar.

GENERAL JOHNSON INDICATES THE "SAVIOR" AMONG "SAVIORS"

Two leaders of the national administration have visited Los Angeles this week. Two more unlike men could hardly be conceived than Postmaster-General Farley and the NRA chairman, General Johnson.

Farley is quiet, shrewd, careful, considerate, politic. General Johnson is impulsive, fiery, emphatic and radical in respect to his utterances.

Mr. Farley came and went with hardly a ripple of excitement. What he thought concerning the gubernatorial situation he concealed within his own mind and gave not an inkling of his attitude. Johnson comes out and most oracularly declares himself as favoring George Creel for governor, and says: "I am not in favor of Sinclair."

Politically speaking, he created a furor and yet it was distinctly Johnsonese. While to be sure he declared that he was not speaking for the administration (and he hardly need to have added that, as in his impetuous way he so frequently does not speak for the administration), yet as a national and outstanding leader, he did place his finger upon one candidate in the lot upon whom the Democrats might be able to unite.

In regard to Mr. Creel, he said: "I have known him since the World war, when we both served on President Wilson's staff. He was in charge of public relations. He is a faithful and efficient public servant. He has proved himself under the weight of great national responsibility. You all know that it is far better to take a proven tool than a political experiment. He has every good wish that I can ask."

In making this declaration, Mr. Johnson probably came as close to selecting a man upon whom those men in the party, who do not favor Mr. Sinclair, could unite, as is likely to be done during this campaign. It gives the group an opportunity for union.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Creel will run strongly in sections of the state. There is no doubt of Mr. Creel's ability, or his loyalty to the Roosevelt program and to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Nearly all of the candidates have been declaring the need of uniting upon one candidate, or Mr. Sinclair would surely be nominated. Surely if the expressed fear of Mr. Sinclair's nomination in the Democratic primaries springs from the high and holy patriotic motives of "saving the state," as these candidates would have the public believe, they will surely take advantage of this opportunity to unite upon a candidate who has been selected by a responsible national leader of the Democratic party.

We have no doubt but that this will affect thousands of votes and tend to place Mr. Creel as the outstanding candidate of the progressive-conservative group, if two such words can be hyphenated properly.

We are afraid that the ardor of each one of the candidates to have the state "saved," will be found to have been greatly dampened, when he discovers that he has not been selected as a "savior" to perform this great sacrifice. We may be doing them an injustice. The next few days will tell.

If they should get in behind Mr. Creel now, and say: "Let's put him over," it would probably encourage thousands of people who would like to see it done, into a belief that it can be done.

But if they persist in the "dog-eat-dog" program, as heretofore carried on, even though pointing to themselves when urging that the "state must be saved," there will be a serious question raised as to their good faith, when they are trying to make the people believe that there is such a calamity ahead of them from which the state needs "saving."

Let them now "show their faith by their works."

In any case, regardless of the candidates, it at least affords an opportunity to the rank and file of the Democrats who are not for Mr. Sinclair, to unite upon a responsible and able man as candidate, who has unquestioned ability and who, under no conception of language, could be classed as a reactionary.

The wife of Leo Klaw, of Cleveland, bobbed up after nine years' absence, and then disappeared again—having realized the mistake she made. She thought he was Santa.

THE FRAZIER-LEMKE MORTGAGE ACT

There is tremendous interest in the Frazier-Lemke Farm Mortgage act. Meetings are being held to discuss it and to explain to the farmers how to take advantage of it.

There are many explanations of it. The complete text of the law will be published in The Register on Monday. It is not long, can be read in probably 10 minutes, though it takes longer than that to understand it.

In a statement in the United States News describing the act, as to what it would do, it says:

"It would enable an indebted farmer to go into court, with the approval of his creditors and ask to be adjudged bankrupt. Then an appraiser would be appointed to determine 'a fair and reasonable, though not necessarily the market, value' of his farm. Once that appraisal was made the farmer could pay, during the first year, one per cent interest on the appraised value with the rate rising gradually to the sixth year.

"It would enable an indebted farmer, when his creditors refused to accept adjustments, to go into court and get a judgment permitting him to retain his farm for six years at a 'reasonable' rental. Then at the end of this six years he could buy back the farm at a 'reasonable' price. What constitutes 'reasonable' is uncertain."

This is probably as succinct a statement as can be given of the act. It is possibly too early to discuss the effect of this law on the farmers and upon creditors. But we are afraid that it will not enhance the value of farm mortgages as investments.

It unquestionably will save thousands of farmers from dispossession. It appears to do away entirely with the constitutional provisions of preserving the sacredness of a contract, but it does it in a perfectly constitutional way by changing the bankruptcy law.

We are deeply impressed that with the many changes in our legislation affecting relationships and contracts, it is high time that greater emphasis was being placed upon personal integrity in performing a contract, because, in the last analysis, a contract is made in the light of existing conditions and existing law, and an honest man will carry out his obligations regardless.

This is well illustrated in the story of a man who sought to collect a note through his bank. The banker pointed out to him that the statute of limitations had begun to run against the note and he could not collect it, as nothing on either interest or principal had been paid for many years.

The man replied: "I loaned this money to my friend, who told me he would pay it when I wanted it." He said: "I now want it. He is a gentleman. The statute of limitations doesn't run against a gentleman."

The banker sent on the note and it was paid. It is well that we have laws to enable men to start over again when helplessly and hopelessly in debt, but finally the spirit of the story should dominate.

Honest men will not take advantage of laws, to avoid the payment of obligations which it is possible for them to meet under any circumstances. The statute of limitations doesn't run against notes owed by gentlemen.

Gun Smugglers Under Fire

Christian Science Monitor

In promulgating the embargo against the shipment of munitions to Cuba, the American State Department called special attention to the need for action against the smuggling of guns and bombs to Cuban rebels through Florida ports. Enforcement of this embargo puts squarely upon customs men and coast guard crews the task of wiping out a traffic which has run intermittently since the Cuban War for Independence in the nineties.

Cuban exiles from one regime after another have set up shop on the American side of the Florida Straits, to plot the overthrow of their enemies. For three years prior to the Spanish-American War they kept the Cuban waters alive with their filibustering schooners, loaded with guns and powder for the patriots organizing their forces in the hills of Camagney and Oriente provinces. Workmen in Tampa and Key West doled out 10 per cent of their wages to pay for the revolution, and American sympathy generally was with them. In those days customs men also were under orders to stop this flow of guns and ammunition, but their attempts were half-hearted.

That admiration for the gun-runner is not so evident today, and federal men should have no public or personal sentimental objections to hurdle in checking the smuggling business. It probably is not extensive, but it is important even if it provides only a few guns and bombs to agitators. The move to stop it fits into the Roosevelt program dedicated to outlawry of the infamous traffic in arms.

Code For Catch Words

San Francisco Chronicle

A code of fair practice for the use of the English language is urged by the Christian Science Monitor. For instance, when words and phrases like "intrigue," "glamorous," "simply precious" and "absolutely poisonous" get a run there would be a limit to their use. They might be put on a no-hour day and no-day week. Besides becoming insufferably tiresome, like slang, they destroy all discriminating sense in language.

That is a matter of taste, which is important. But there is another practical trend in language which often results in confusion. The Anglo-Saxonizing of the automobile and its accessories has been responsible for a good deal of language mixup. Instead of specific words for separate things the tendency has been to run to generic words. For gasoline we have "gas," often confusing with the illuminating and heating product. Likewise "car," "machine" and, even worse, "boat," are too broad in their application for precision. Chauffeur has pronunciation variations in popular use and a foreign air that the language has not been able to assimilate, but still it is preferable for preciseness of speech to the general word "driver."

But the codes have troubles enough of their own and perhaps speech had better be left to the not very successful regimentation of the schools.

Protecting Depositors

Detroit News

A bank went bust in East Peoria, Ill., recently, thereby passing into history as the first bank to fail under the National Act insuring deposits. Its liabilities to depositors were $241,000. There were 1789 depositors; all but about a score will receive their deposits in full, and each of the others will get $2500. The first to be paid was a widow whose entire savings of $1250 were in the bank.

Who loses? The Federal Insurance Corporation pays out $7-100,000 of its guaranty fund. In return it takes over the assets of the bank, on which it will realize what it can. Result: The small depositors get $2500 each, plus a division of what is left after liquidation and reimbursement of the Insurance Corporation; and the loss, if any, is spread over the banking strength of the Nation.

This seems a far better arrangement, in the national economy, than the old one which left the depositors holding the bag and taking what they might get after a long receivership.

A SIGH OF REGRET

I see a sleek gasoline engine
Careering along to a blaze;
It's efficient, no doubt,
But no steam does it spout
As it speeds on its glorious ways.
It lacks the old bright shining boiler
And the smoke that shoots out of the stack,
And it doesn't careen
Like the good old machine
That was here half a dozen years back.

Ah! That was the grand age of fires;
The whistle would splutter and scream.
While the folks of that day
Fled madly away
From the fountains of cinders and steam.
The galloping clang of the horses,
The beat of their feet as they sped,
And the volume of sound
That was broadcast around
Might almost awaken the dead.

A total of $103,000 was the sum announced by the Orange school board as necessary to finance Orange Union High school during the year. The budget was to be submitted to the county supervisors in August. Of the sum, $65,000 would be raised in the high school district and $38,000 would be from state and county funds.

The Orange County Anniversary club met in Fullerton for dinner at the Blue Bird cafe. The meeting was to honor J. C. Sam Jernigan talked on the Shriners' convention in Portland, and entertaining short talks were made by various others in the party.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE MASS MOOD IN EUROPE

The mass mood of the rest of the Western world has relevance to our domestic problem.

We are part of Western civilization, and despite the distinctiveness we seek to maintain, are not of necessity immune to the distempers that have raced through the minds of peoples elsewhere in the West. The winds of doctrine that have shaken ancient traditions of government and economic organization in Europe blow across our judgments as well. The waves of popular desire that have been lashed up there beat against our shores also.

Apart from the fact that reactions of the mass mind elsewhere may, by contagion, set up like reactions here, the mass mood of the other Western peoples affects the political and economic policies which limit or liberate world trade. And the direction world trade takes for the quarter century ahead is likely to loom larger as a factor affecting our national fortunes than many, in the half-hysterical thinking of the moment, are inclined to admit.

Forgetting ourselves for the moment, the rest of the Western world is passing through a phase of profound disillusionment.

Traditions and folkways that have long served as the stabilizer and scaffolding of men's lives are subjected to a sweeping skepticism that has gone beyond the critical confines of the intellectualists to give direction to the uncritical reactions of the mass mind.

Where once great binding beliefs held peoples together in a saving sense of solidarity they now disintegrate into a sordid scramble of individual and class interests.

Where once men's minds were certain they are now cynical.

Where once men were animated by a buoyant confidence that human genius was equal to the conquest and control of nature, human nature and social organization, despair now darkens their outlook.

Where once men but criticized the functioning of their major social institutions they now challenge their foundations.

Where once men went for guidance to the sober assessments of philosophy they now lend a ready ear to the theatrical screams of passion.

In the face of the manifest possibility of plenty in this age of science, technology and power production, a heightened resentment of wide differentials of wealth arises. We witness a resurgence throughout Europe of the gospel of equality. And hitherto docile masses everywhere seem set to take affairs into their own hands or lodge them in the hands of leaders who speak their language of urgency.

BIG BROTHER

When a big brother is kind to the younger ones he is a great help to them, more than ever he dreams. Children learn from each other faster and easier than they learn from grownup people. There seems to be some sort of spiritual communion between them that makes words unnecessary, or when words are used, to render them highly intelligible.

When Small Brother is struggling with his arithmetic and the tears begin to smudge the paper Big Brother comes along and says cheerfully, "What's the matter, kid? Let me see. O, those nice little examples in dry measure. Here. I'll show you. Write them like this. And put these little numbers over the tops like this. So. How many quarts in a peck? Sure. Now you're all right. You know how. That's fine. Now the next one. What do you do first? Write down all the names in a row, like that. Now you're getting it. Next the little numbers again. You can do it now? Sure thing. Do the next one. I'll stick around until you get them done."

That isn't much for Big Brother to do but my, how much it is to Little Brother. Pride and affection and gratitude swell his heart to bursting. His love and pride shine in his eyes, speak in his voice as he says, "Thanks. I can get along now." The bare words don't begin to express his feeling for that Big Brotherly action but the light in his eyes speaks for him.

Little Brother gets into trouble with his playmates. He has a fight and comes home weeping. Big Brother listens to his story and then he says, "Well, kid, I tell you. You may be right. I guess you are. But fighting isn't going to help you much. Lay off the fighting business. Don't get into a scrap if you can help it. O, if he took your ball and wouldn't give it back, that's different, but give him a chance. Go slow on the fight stuff. Now wash your face so Ma won't know and I'll have a throw with you before supper."

Such a Big Brother has his own more for his brothers and sisters than his father and mother can do. Father and mother are a long way from their childhood and sometimes they forget. Big Brother is very near to it yet and he has the entree to the world

Here and There

France's shipping has increased more than a million tons since the World War.

There are more than 6000 mines in 30 states of the Union, producing an average of 500,000,000 tons of coal annually.
